OFFER CLEMENCY TO CHINA RULERS

Red Armies Put Pressure Upon Reeling Nationalist Armies After Invitation

ATTEMPT TO BLOCK DRIVE OR SURRENDER CHOICE

By Seymour Topping

NANKING, April 9.—(P)—The Communists tonight offered the reeling Chinese government "clemency" in return for quick surrender.

Red armies put pressure on the invitation by smashing with new intensity at the government's slender bulwarks along 500 miles of the Yangtze river.

Nationalist leaders confronted the alternatives of throwing themselves on the Communists' mercy or trying to block a major military drive into south China.

The deadline for a decision already has been set by the Reds as next Tuesday, April 12.

The clemency offer was contained in a message from Mao Tse-tung, Communist chairman, to Li Tsung-jen, acting president.

It was broadcast by the Peiping radio in reply to Li's statement of Thursday that he was willing to be "burned in oil or dismembered" if that would bring peace to suffering China.

Mao repeated his frequent demand that the government speedily accept the eight Red "terms" proclaimed last January 14. These eight points amount to unconditional surrender of the government. The first and foremost of them calls for punishment of the scores of Nationalist leaders whom the Reds have called "war criminals."

"Since you agree to the eight-point terms as the basis for negotiations," Mao stated, "then by concretely realizing them on the basis of these

GROMYKO STARTS ANNUAL BLASTING

INDIRECTLY ATTACKS PACT WITH FIRST BIG ADDRESS

By Robert Hewett

LAKE SUCCESS, April 9.—(P)—Russia's Andrei A. Gromyko accused the western powers today of developing Italy's former north African colonies as bases for aggression against the Soviet Union. American and British spokesmen denied the charge.

Gromyko told the U. N. assembly's 38-nation political committee that Latin, on north Africa's Mediterranean coast, is "riddled with a network of Anglo-American air and naval bases."

Making his first major public speech since his appointment as Russia's chief deputy foreign minister, Gromyko indirectly attacked the recently signed North Atlantic treaty.

"The United Kingdom, United States and France," he declared, "seek to keep their hold on the former Italian colonies at all costs with a view to using the territory for bases for aggression and as a springboard for aggression in forming military blocs whose spear point is directed against the Soviet Union."

MRS. K. HESS DIES YESTERDAY IN CITY

Mrs. K. Hess, widow of the late Edwin Hess and one of Monroe's oldest residents, died yesterday afternoon at 1:35 o'clock at her home, 502 Hal street. Mrs. Hess was 80 years old.

A resident of Monroe for 45 years, Mrs. Hess came here with her husband in 1903, and for many years they operated a bakery on South Grand street. Her husband was also director of the old Monroe band, an organization of townsmen.

Mrs. Hess was well-known throughout this section of the state, particularly among the older residents and for many years was active in charitable organizations, civic and church work. She was a native of Bavaria, Germany, but came to the United States as a child.

Her only survivors are a cousin, Joe Fiedler, Monroe; and Mr. Fiedler's four daughters, Mrs. Agnes Morgan, Monroe; Mrs. John Meyer, Long Island, N. Y.; Mrs. Walter Henemann, Coopersburg, Pa.; and Mrs. Margaret Goodyear, Long Island, N. Y.

Funeral services will be held this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the residence with Monsignor J. C. Marsh, St. Matthew's Catholic Church, officiating. Interment will follow in Riverview Burial Park under the direction of Hall Funeral Home.

pallbearers will be: H. Hatten, Dr. Baur, Judge David I. Garrett, Louis Monroe, Clyde Fulton, Frank Patterson, A. L. Cornett, and A. J. Gonzales.

World's Jitters Reflected In Boost Given Armed Forces Funds In Committee

By William F. Arbogast

WASHINGTON, April 9.—(P)—Reflecting the world's jitters, the house appropriations committee today raised the armed forces budget to a peacetime record $15,939,116,800. This was more than half a billion dollars above President Truman's request.

Nobody said in testimony on the bill made public today that war is near. Indeed there were signs of easing fears. But the danger of a chance event setting off a conflict was brought out.

The bill's accent was on aerial might. The navy and army trailed the air force in sharing the gigantic appropriation.

Representative Mahon (D-Tex.), chairman of the subcommittee that conducted hearings on the defense budget, summed up his conclusions this way:

"There seems to be no road for us to follow except the road of anxiety and sacrifice."

"We have no other course open to us with so many ominous signs on the horizon of our world. We would be faithless to our trust if we failed to prepare for trouble and thereby seek to avoid it."

"If war comes soon, we are appropriating too little."

"If we have miscalculated the dangers, if the threat of war is just a deceptive mirage on the horizon, we are appropriating too much."

The committee itself subscribed to the statement that in the light of the world situation the increase was justified. General Omar Bradley eased fears when he told the committee he does not expect war to break out within the year for which the appropriation is made. That year begins next July 1 and ends June 30, 1950.

"Last year I was more worried than I am at the present time," Bradley told the congressmen.

And Air Secretary Symington said he did not think a "possible aggressor" will have the atomic bomb before 1952.

The bill combines, for the first time since enactment of the armed services unification act, funds to finance all three services.

It totals $12,980,100 in cash and $77,755,000 in contract authority more than President Truman requested in his budget. Just about all the increase was earmarked for the air force in

DRIVERS TRAINED, TWO OWNERS SAY

Veasey Statement On Red Cross Lessons Hit By Ambulance Companies

Owners of ambulance firms in the city last night denounced Mrs. W. J. Veasey's insistence that their drivers were not adequately trained in the application of first aid.

Mrs. Veasey is in charge of the Red Cross chapter here.

At a meeting of the Monroe State Council last Monday night she pointed out that "she had mailed each local ambulance driver a letter requesting that they apply for first aid classes."

"We have not received a single reply," Mrs. Veasey told safety council members.

"And I'm certain," she said, "that by far a large majority of ambulance drivers in Monroe do not possess up-to-date, first aid cards."

Funeral Home Director C. H. Hall, of the Hall Funeral Home, said last night in reply to the Red Cross head's statement that his ambulance drivers "had acquired a good first aid education."

FARMER HURT WHEN RUNAWAY OCCURS

R. M. Malone, 25, Oak Ridge farmer, was being treated last night at the Conway Memorial Hospital for cuts and bruises received when he fell into the blades of a cotton stalk cutter during a runaway.

The accident occurred at 2:30 p. m., Malone said, when his team, a horse and mule, were frightened by a clatter in the machine caused when a stalk became hung.

The animals began to run, Malone said, and he stood up to leap off the cutter. He stepped onto a hood covering the blades which gave way beneath his weight, allowing his left leg to run down into the whirling edges.

"I would have been hurt much worse," Malone said, "if I hadn't forced my right leg in beside the other, jamming the blades. When the noise stopped, the horses stopped."

Malone was brought into the hospital following preliminary treatment in Oak Ridge. The hospital physician said he was suffering lacerations, contusions and abrasions from the hip to the calf, with a large cut in the bend of the knee.

Girl, Youth Injured; 8 Accidents Occur

Five-Year-Old Carolyn Panzico Run Down By Bus When She Darts From Behind Parked Truck; Another Boy Is Hurt In Cycle Wreck

A five-year-old girl was seriously injured early yesterday afternoon in one of eight traffic accidents which occurred over the city in a seven-hour period beginning at eight o'clock yesterday morning.

A fourteen-year-old boy was also injured when his motorcycle rammed into the rear of automobile.

The young girl, Carolyn Sue Panzico, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Panzico, 124 Vernon street, was taken to the St. Francis Sanitarium in a Mulhearn ambulance. Her condition was termed as serious.

The attending physician listed injuries as severe bruises on her legs, arms and general bruises over her body. "There was a possibility of internal injuries," the physician said.

Late last night, hospital attendants said the young girl was "doing good."

According to Monroe traffic officers, who investigated the incident, the girl was injured when she ran from behind a parked ice truck into the path of a city bus operated by Charles Dalton, 37, of 314 Seventh street. The bus, traffic officers said, was traveling west on the two hundred block of Vernon street when the incident occurred. Time of the accident was set by police at approximately 1:30 p. m.

Dalton explained to police that he "was traveling at a safe speed and didn't see the child until after she had darted out in front of his moving bus from behind the parked truck."

"I immediately applied the brakes to the bus and swerved the vehicle attempting to avoid hitting the child," Dalton said.

Traffic officers said that "had it not been for quick thinking and action on Dalton's part, the child would probably have been instantly killed."

Five Thousand Stand Grim Watch Around Water Well

By Gene Handsaker

SAN MARINO, Calif., April 9.—(P)—Five thousand stand people, by police estimate, stand clustered around the 14-inch pipe where three-and-one-half-year-old Kathy Fiscus lies trapped, somewhere more than 75 feet below the surface.

A gaping hole, 25 feet across at the top, runs down 75 feet along-side the pipe. Into the pipe two daring workmen bored with an electric drill and electric rotary hand saw.

She had been in her trap since she fell in while at play shortly before 5 p. m., yesterday.

A grim-faced civil engineer bawling rescue operations, Raymond A. Hill, estimates it will be 6 or 7 o'clock (Pacific Coast Time) tonight before they can reach the girl.

Grouped around the hole at the top are 100 tons of heavy equipment—three bulldozers, three clam shell cranes, two with cables running down into the cavern; two rotary well-drilling rigs and about 15 trucks.

"It's dangerous as hell for every-

RESCUE SHAFT IS PAST SPOT CHILD LODGED IN WELL

No Signs From Tiny Victim Wedged In Pipe Have Been Received In Hours

WILL ATTEMPT TO TUNNEL INTO TRAP BELOW KATHY

By Gene Handsaker

SAN MARINO, Calif., April 9.—(AP)—Desperate rescuers tonight pushed a shaft down more than 100 feet and prepared to dig through the wall of an abandoned well in which three-year-old Kathy Fiscus lies trapped.

A huge rotary drill pushed its way down a 30-inch shaft to about 104 feet. Raymond Hill, who is supervising operations, gave the order to miner Whitey Blickensderfer to be lowered into the narrow rescue pit. Minutes later the first 20-foot section of a 24-inch pipe was lowered into place in the rescue chamber.

Several other workmen stood by to follow Blickensderfer in relays. Once down at the bottom the workers will SAN MARINO, Calif., April 9.—(P)—David H. Fiscus, father of 3-year-old Kathy, who is imprisoned in an old water well, has been seeking state legislation to provide for cementing these abandoned shafts.

He had just returned from this mission to Sacramento, the state capital, a few hours before Kathy fell down an old well in a yard here yesterday.

Fiscus is chairman of the pollution committee of the California section, American Water Works Association. He is employed as manager of the San Gabriel Valley System of the California Water and Telephone Co.

Loren E. Blakeley, a civil and sanitary engineer of Orange, Calif., who has appeared before a legislative committee and urged a law which would require registration and survey of all water sources, including all abandoned wells, as a prevention measure against their pollution.

Blakeley said the proposed law would require old wells would be cemented up completely, not just capped.

The 220-foot well into which Kathy fell was unprotected and obscured by weeds.

pick and shovel a tunnel through to the 14-inch well pipe in which the child lies at least 94 feet down.

There were no signs of life from the well 30 hours after little Kathy slipped into its weed-covered mouth in a vacant lot near her home.

Although the rescue shaft is only three feet from the well opening at the surface, Hill estimated the curving pipe might lay as far as eight feet from the bottom of the shaft.

Machinist O. A. Kelly, working feverishly in one of two rescue shafts sunk on either side of the well pipe, reported he saw a motionless arm and a dress about 37 feet below him after cutting a "window" in the pipe at about the 37-foot level.

Kelly used mirrors to shine the sun's rays down the pipe.

Hope was still held out for the child by the Fiscus family physician and by the mother, Mrs. Alice Fiscus. Mrs. Fiscus told reporters: "Our physician has been so hopeful that I

TITO WILL TRADE WITH CAPITALIST

Defiant Leader Of Yugoslavia Hits Former Comrades In Soviet Union

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, April 9.—(P)—Marshal Tito declared in a major speech today it would be a "crime against our Socialist country" not to trade with western nations—on a business basis.

But westerners would be mistaken, he said, to count on his help in "their war plans," despite attacks upon him by Soviet Russia and other communist nations.

"If our critics and international reactionaries expect that we, under the influence of all those lies and slanders, are going to lose our nerve and make any irresponsible steps—something that would be contrary to our revolutionary past and to our revolutionary principles—they are wrong," he said.

"All those war-mongers in capitalist countries will be mistaken if they think, because of the difficult situation in which our country now finds itself as a result of the eastern countries' attitude, that they can

Rivers Congress Backs 8 Projects In Nation

Quachita River Nine-Foot Channel One Of Top Classification; Stepped Up Soil Conservation, Water Pollution Control Urged

By Harry Snyder

AP Special Washington Service

WASHINGTON, April 9.—(AP)—Eight public works projects, involving a total cost of $665,704,100, were endorsed today by the rivers and harbors congress as "sound in conception, needful and sufficiently advanced" to merit top classification for construction.

The congress is an organization which advises congress on expenditures for flood control and waterways projects but has no authority to authorize them.

It concluded its 39th annual meeting with project recommendations and adoption of a number of resolutions on issues related to land and water resources.

The eight projects which won top classification are:

The Green river flood control project in Washington; Passaic Valley flood control project in New Jersey; Central Valley project in California; the Tennessee-Tombigbee inland waterway in Mississippi; Okeechobee waterway from Stuart, Fla., to Fort Myers, Fla.; Intracoastal waterways from Miami to Key West, Fla.; Ouachita river in Arkansas and Louisiana; and the Overton lateral Red river canal in Louisiana.

The projects were reported by a committee headed by Representative Simpson (R-Ill.). The group also listed five proposals described as not advanced sufficiently to warrant endorsement for construction, 16 which merit further study and nine which require engineering and economic surveys.

The congress adopted resolutions calling for a stepping-up in soil conservation work, adequate funds for irrigation development, funds for water pollution control and continuance of the federal barge lines.

It endorsed also active support of a merchant marine.

Republicans Half-Hearted On Dixie Coalition Plans

By Jack Bell

WASHINGTON, April 9.—(P)—Republicans today gave only a half-way welcome to a new bid from the South to form a working states' rights coalition with Democrats aroused by proposals of President Truman.

Senator Brewster of Maine, head of the Republican senatorial campaign committee, told a reporter the G. O. P. is glad to work with southern Democrats who "want to return to constitutional government."

But Brewster said that if the Dixie Democrats want help in blocking civil rights legislation they will have to look for it outside the Republican party.

"Our record on civil rights is clear," the Maine senator said. "We are in Conditions At L. T. I.

Several days ago the Ouachita parish grand jury, in its formal report to the Fourth district court, termed conditions at Louisiana Training Institute "generally unsatisfactory." The next day L. C. Gresham, superintendent at L. T. I., denied the charge and added that even if there were some deficiencies at the school, he should not be held entirely responsible because he had been in charge for only nine months. Mr. Gresham invited the public to visit the institution and "see for themselves."

The grand jury is entirely correct in its criticism and Mr. Gresham, in our opinion, is half right and half wrong in his rebuttal.

We accepted the superintendent's invitation to inspect the buildings and other facilities at the school, and a World reporter made a two-hour trip through the installations with out any interference by L. T. I. officials.

The floors of the dormitories were found to be scrubbed clean; the dairy barn was spotless and apparently sanitary, as was the kitchen; the lawns and flower beds were properly landscaped and well kept, and the boys interviewed apparently had no serious "gripes."

On the negative side, more than a hundred window panes had been broken out in the various buildings and birds fly in and out of some of the rooms; most of the toilet facilities are old, many of the commodes do not have seats, the plumbing is not kept in repair and some systematic scrubbing certainly is in order; the showers are not kept in proper working order and water is permitted to collect in pools on the floor long after the showers are used; there is approximately $50,000 worth of equipment and materials which has been received by the school and has been permitted to remain stored, apparently for several months, in its original crates and boxes.

Mr. Gresham is correct in his contention that unsatisfactory conditions at the school should not be blamed entirely upon his administration. Such conditions have existed for many years. Certainly they could not have accumulated in a mere nine months. However, there is no reason why steps should not be taken to correct the physical shortcomings of the institution. For instance, replacing window panes should not be a major task. Some months ago we were told that there were almost as many employees at L. T. I. as there were boys in school. That may or may not have been true, but there at least is enough manpower available to make minor repairs.

These "unsatisfactory conditions" should have been reported by previous grand juries. Most of our investigative bodies consider inspection of public buildings a sort of necessary waste of time, and make only a cursory examination of properties which are paid for and maintained by the taxpayers, with the resultant stereotyped report of approval. The present grand jury is to be commended upon its thorough inspection of these facilities, and its action in bringing its findings before the public in such a forceful manner.

The public too often is unconcerned over conditions at our correctional institutions. It should be readily apparent that a school of this kind for impressionable boys should be maintained at its highest degree of efficiency.

Holy Week

This is the seventh week of Lent, the climax known as Holy Week. The week begins with Palm Sunday, the day on which Jesus rode into the city amidst the cheers of the multitude. It will conclude with the joyous feast of Easter.

During the Last Week, Jesus carried on against those by whom his death was sought. He scourged the money changers from the temple. He lamented the failures which he saw all about him. He went at eventide into the peace of the countryside, and there he spent Wednesday. The trial day came, the betrayal, the surrender, the crucifixion, the darkness before dawn as despair seized the hearts of the disciples, and then the resurrection.

Men of good will the world over will observe Holy Week in deep meditation upon the ways of God in manifesting His love for the children of earth. They will seek again and find the way in the example of Jesus.

It would be well if during this week all the people could submit their cares to the test of faith which the events of the first Holy Week laid upon the followers of Jesus. It would be a crowning experience of the 40 days of Lent and a fitting approach to the radiance of Easter.

Farm Literature

Louisiana literature on farming and homemaking gets into many homes in the 64 parishes of the state through the county and home agents. In 1948 there were 515,000 copies of Louisiana bulletins, circulars, leaflets and 4-H publications distributed and used as text books by those allied with Extension programs. Individuals requesting such information were also supplied with timely farm and home hints.

A recent study of farm publications by a research foundation has revealed some interesting trends among rural readers.

First, farm readers are thirsty for localized advice and information, and, second, farm women share the interests of their husbands far more than city women share those of their spouses. For the farm wife often keeps the books and closely follows her husband's problems with stock, feed, and implements. Farming seems to be the only business that holds a daily board meeting—around the supper table.

Farm people rarely skip about in their reading of farm magazines. They don't pass up the news section of a farm paper to find the women's section, or vice-versa. Farm men are better readers of advertisements than farm women are, but more women read the men's news than men read the women's.

It's hard to believe, but the research foundation found that male farm readers were more interested in a picture of a bunch of hogs standing near a tractor than in a photo of a glamorous girl.

The Human Race

Trifles, it has been said, make up the sum of human things.

America's miserable traffic accident record is, in a sense, the sum of all our trifling human frailties. Monroe is no exception. Most of us know how to drive and walk with safety, but it is so human to let our absurd little personal foibles botch our better judgment.

In their 1949 book of street and highway accident data the Travelers Insurance Companies have recognized this fact. The grim record of traffic deaths and injuries is all there, in tabular form, but the booklet is lightened by a pictorial presentation of the probable cause of many of the accidents. There is the fellow who breaks every ordinance in the book to get home in 28½ minutes flat, only to read a comic book during the minute and a half he saves. There is the teenager who knows every rule in the baseball book but none of the laws on the traffic books. And the woman who can spot a nylon stocking sale from four aisles away but can't see a red traffic light right in front of her nose.

We're all there, mirrored in at least one of the cartoons! Let us hope this sly satire will succeed in personalizing the lessons of safety where sterner warnings have failed.

"The General"

Chicago, Ill.

To the Editor:
"Truth is stranger than fiction," so the old adage goes. At least so in the case of the "General"—most famous locomotive in history.

It happened on April 12, 1862, during the Civil War, in the heart of the Confederacy, when a score of northern soldiers in disguise, known as Andrews' Raiders, at Big Shanty (now Kennesaw), Georgia, captured that locomotive and sped away with it for about 100 miles, pursued by no less than three other locomotives in an unusually thrilling and exciting chase. Their purpose was mainly to destroy all 15 bridges between that point and Chattanooga, Tennessee.

You will perform a real service to your readers, and they will thank you for it, if you will let them know how to learn the details. It is done without cost or obligation to them, merely by writing for the 28-page free booklet, "The Story of the 'General'—1862," to Mr. J. F. Gaffney, Jr., General passenger agent, The Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis Railway, Nashville 2, Tennessee.

Mr. Gaffney has informed me that he will be more than pleased to send to any of your readers who write him for it that most interesting booklet on this fascinating story.

This adventure has so thrilled me, as well as all to whom it has been told, that it gives me great pleasure to be able to let your readers know, through your kindness, of this generous offer.

Sincerely yours,

BRITAIN DESERVES BETTER

LONDON, England.—My first week in England convinced me that Great Britain is in a bad way, politically and economically. They are living under a system of government that cannot possibly bring Great Britain back to a position of major power in the world, and a system that of necessity deprives the individual of his freedom. This same political system is strangling the economy of the country through rationing and price control, and through the wastefulness and inefficiency of the nationalization of certain key industries.

I do not think I am prejudiced in any way when I say that I think Great Britain deserves better than she is getting. I would like to say that I think the British people deserve better than they are getting. I could well say it of some of them—but I cannot help but remember that the majority of the people are responsible for what ever position they are in, that they put the present government in power and are responsible for keeping it there. Whatever sympathy I have for Great Britain comes from a knowledge of the long and honorable history of the English people, the fact that they wrested the Magna Carta from a tyrannical king, that they developed the principle of law that "a man's home is his castle," that they passed in their parliament a Bill of Rights for the individual. It comes from the knowledge that they endured during this last and most terrible of all wars more in "blood, sweat, and tears" than most any nation has ever been called upon to endure. It comes from a great admiration for their courage and their patience during this war, and their almost superhuman determination to see it through and to make sure that history could say of them, again in Mr. Churchill's words, "This was their finest hour."

But neither a nation nor a people can gain much comfort, and certainly can gain very little nourishment, from reflecting upon their "fine hours" in past history. People must live in the present, and the present of Great Britain is nothing to "write home about." Now, after almost four years of peace, nearly everything is still under price control in Great Britain. Even so, prices are higher and quality is poorer than in the United States. Many things are still being rationed even, such as meat and eggs and sugar.

The greatest fallacy I see in the thinking of the big majority of the British people at the present time is that they apparently believe they can continue to have a large measure of private enterprise and individualism, and at the same time have a government, of course, by its very nature, requires complete control by the government of all production, distribution, and exchange. This control, in turn, requires control of the individual, where he in the food line. And here again, there is practically no meat (16c worth per person per week) and eggs are as scarce as gold. The teeth and sugar is doled out in measly little amounts. There is black marketing in abundance. But these things always happen when the government exercises all control and gives private enterprise no chance, as we all learned in the United States under O. P. A.; it always happens when the flow of goods is made subject to political expediency rather than to that time-honored old law which will not be downed—supply and demand.

The present socialist government in Great Britain, the Labor Government, came into power through promises to the people. The people were weary from war and years of deprivation, and they accepted these promises of a higher standard of living for the masses, of "free" health service for all, of a more equitable distribution of wealth, and many other things. They cannot be blamed, perhaps, for not looking too deeply into these promises at the time. They can be blamed if they do not reexamine them now. The socialists proposed to take away from the top and give to the bottom. They have taken away from the top right—so much so that a man who lives from investment income often pays more in income tax than his investments yield—but the trouble is they have given the bottom a great deal more than they have taken from the top. They are living beyond their income. Socialized medicine is costing four times the government's estimate, and nine-tenths of the cost must be paid from general taxes. Under the first year of nationalization, the government lost $92,000,000 operating the coal mines and $120,000,000 operating the railroads. The government has lost not less than $100,000,000 operating civil aviation. It is the old, old story of the inefficiency of bureaucracy.

The thinking of the big majority of the British people at the present time is that they apparently believe they can continue to have a large measure of private enterprise and individualism, and at the same time have a government, of course, by its very nature, requires complete control by the government of all production, distribution, and exchange. This control, in turn, requires control of the individual, where he shall work, what he shall earn. When the British people once realize these things, perhaps their traditional love for freedom will show them the error of their ways. Let's hope they don't realize it too late!

81st Congress Looks As Bad As Predecessor

By Peter Edson

(NEA Washington Correspondent)
WASHINGTON — (NEA) — First three months' operations by the first session of the Eighty-first Congress gives a fair basis for comparison with the first three months of the Eightieth Congress—to see which was worse.

It's a close race. On public bills enacted into law, the 81st seems to have a slightly better record. This year the senate passed 18 bills while the house passed 17. Two years ago the senate had passed only 14 bills while the house had passed 16.

In the 80th Congress the senate was tied up by Sen. Kenneth McKellar's effort to prevent confirmation of David Lilienthal as chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission and Gordon Clapp as chairman of the Tennessee Valley Authority. This year it has been the filibuster over changing senate rules which snarled things.

On appropriation bills the 81st Congress also has a slight edge. In the 80th Congress only 12 urgent deficiency bills were passed in the first three months. This year only two disaster relief bills have been passed. In the house, however, where all money bills must originate, six appropriation measures have been passed. In the first three months of the 80th Congress, only three had been passed.

Committee work of the 81st Congress is well ahead of the 80th. Two years ago senate committees had reported out only 131 measures while the house committees had approved 203. This year senate committees have reported out 233 measures, house committees 351.

In measures introduced, the 81st Congress is way ahead. This year 5443 bills and 625 resolutions have been introduced. As of April 1, 1947, 3,908 bills and 573 resolutions have been introduced.

But these figures serve to indicate how great a backlog of work the 81st Congress has to clean up.

On confirmation of appointments for officers of the armed services, postmasters and other civilian agency administrators, the 81st Congress likewise has a better record. This year 33,295 nominations have been received and 31,794 confirmed. Two years ago only 14,659 nominations had been received and only 12,837 confirmed.

On talk, the 81st Congress has nearly 50 per cent more words to its credit than the 80th. Congressional Record debate and remarks in the 80th Congress filled only 4,430 pages.

NEW RENT CONTROL

Editors appear to divide about evenly on whether the "home rule" option in the new rent control bill will lead to orderly decontrol, according to local housing situations, or to injustices resulting from local political pressures. Majority opinion doubts that any generally workable formula can be devised to implement the idea of giving landlords a "fair net operating income in so far as practicable." However, the majority opinion is that the trend of public opinion will result in more equitable rent increases in more hardship cases.

Baltimore (Md.) Sun (Ind.-Dem.): "The 'home rule' plan . . . is about as complicated as the politicians could have made it. An individual state can remove rent controls throughout a state, or in parts of a state, if the legislature passes a bill to that effect. . . . A city, county or other political entity . . . can also decontrol itself, but it must obtain the consent first of the governor of its state . . . Furthermore, the (federal) housing expediter can decontrol an area . . . and restore controls if his decontrol works a hardship."

Tulsa (Okla.) World (Ind.): "Inevitably, there will be conflicting actions . . . in some communities the pressure may be such as to raise rents on a large scale and . . . in other areas the actions will be in opposition of owners. It is difficult to foresee any general unity of action or any common satisfaction with the proposed new process."

Grand Rapids (Mich.) Herald (Ind.): "The law . . . holds out the promise of gradual decontrol by permitting each local unit to initiate the step . . . In 15 months, when the new law is due to expire, it should be possible to abandon all federal controls, leaving to the states and subordinate units the whole responsibility for continuing local controls if they are needed anywhere."

Norfolk (Va.) Ledger-Dispatch (Ind.-Dem.): "Without the so-called 'home rule' provision, the new law would be stronger in many respects than the legislation it replaces. It broadens the powers of the housing expediter to enforce rent ceilings, and restores the powers he had in the war years to control evictions. It provides for the return of controls over some classes of property . . . It takes a more positive position . . . in dealing with landlord hardships. . . . Fort Wayne (Ind.) News-Sentinel (Ind.-Rep.): "The crux of the new . . . law hinges on whether or not the 'fair net operating income' guaranteed to landlords is to be taken literally. . . . the rent administrator, the law says, is required to fix rents at such levels as to assure a fair net operating income, but as a qualifier the words 'so far as practicable' are tossed in. What do they mean? Who decides what is practicable?"

Boston (Mass.) Herald (Ind.): "There appears to be no one in Washington, or anywhere else in the country, who knows what that (fair net operating income in so far as practicable) means, including the senate-house conferees who phrased it . . . Either rents must be fixed on some historic but still arbitrary basis, or they must be adjusted individually. The first is packed with injustices, and the latter is unworkable."

Milwaukee (Wis.) Journal (Ind.): "The power given the expediter to fix rent maximums at a level which will yield a fair operating return is disappointingly vague. But it is no vaguer than the . . . powers given by congress to many administrative agencies. A formula will eventually be adopted to implement this provision. It may or may not give the landlord or the tenant all he desires. It cannot well give both what they want."

Sioux City (Iowa) Journal (Ind.): "Indications are that the rent bill won't change the present situation, to any great extent. Although it provides for a 'fair net operating income' for landlords, it leaves the decision up to the rent administrator. Obviously he will continue to rule in favor of the tenant, leaving landlords with rents frozen below the profit level."

Kansas City (Mo.) Star (Ind.): "This general expression of sentiment goes into the law at the time the housing expediter has already become aware of the danger of injustices . . . The new law will set up no new formula. It will add no new power to increase rents. The changed attitude is in the persuasive power of an explosive situation. We suspect there will be many increases for people who were caught with unreasonably low rents when the O. P. A. applied controls."

MACKENZIE'S COLUMN

(Associated Press Foreign Affairs Analyst)

Agreement among America, Britain and France for the establishment of a German federal republic—comprising their three zones—is a notable move towards peace and rehabilitation for western Europe.

This momentous development contemplates the removal of allied military control over western Germany as soon as the proposed republic is established. Allied civilian authority will be substituted and will become mainly supervisory.

A defeated, war-torn reich has constituted a growing menace to European recovery. Only a decade ago Germany was the keystone of continental economy. Europe cannot be put on its feet until that keystone is restored economically.

Unfortunately the Soviet occupied zone of Germany remains outside the proposed republic because of the failure of the four powers to agree. However, the three-power agreement leaves the way open for Russian participation.

Should Russia not see fit to untie the eastern zone with its sister states, the new government would lack a rich area which includes Berlin—hub of communications for the whole continent.

Still the three western zones could be constructed into a prosperous and important republic. They contain great resources, including the iron and steel of the Ruhr—one of the world's most important industrial areas.

The three powers had been in disagreement for a long time over the issues of what sort of government should be established. Paris had been particularly insistent that no action should be taken which would permit Germany to acquire fresh strength—an understandable attitude, since France was trampled under the hob-nails of German military machine.

An announcement in Washington regarding the allied agreement said the aim is to permit the German people to exercise democratic self government. Under the proposal the German government will negotiate its own European recovery agreement with the United States, and "should participate as a full member in the organization for European economic cooperation."

The aim of the three allies hasn't been to hamstring Germany economically but only to prevent a revival of military power and to make sure there is no recrudescence of Hitlerism.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

NEW YORK—Some people are just naturally keepers. Mr. C. H. Roseberry, Stella, Mo., has been keeping scrapbooks for a half century. He pastes in anything he sees unbound that's in his estimation, valuable or worth keeping.

Recently Mr. Roseberry ran across some writing of mine that stirred a memory. He went directly to one of his scrapbooks and turned to a clipping from Capper's Weekly of more than 20 years ago. It was an editorial, quoting me as having written my selection of "The World's Greatest." My correspondent quotes the piece entire, but I'll just repeat the selections:

Greatest American heroes: John Paul Jones and Charles Lindbergh.
Greatest American artist: William Jennings Bryan.

Greatest president: Abraham Lincoln

Greatest scientist: Charles Steinmetz.

Greatest American scene: Niagara Falls.

Greatest harbor of the future: New Orleans.

Greatest city: New York today; Chicago in the distant future.

Mechanical wonder: the adding machine.

Greatest book: the Bible.

Greatest language ever spoken: classical Greek.

Outstanding genius of history: Leonardo da Vinci.

Greatest martyr: Joan of Arc.

My Missouri friend wants to know how my views today compare with those expressed in this column of two decades and more ago. I'll use the proffereed sign: stet. It means "Let it stand."

I wouldn't change a line today, though I had completely forgotten ever having written the piece.

Naturally, I don't expect every reader to agree with every selection. And if I were to weaken on one selection, it would be merely to substitute the name of George Washington for Lincoln. I have come to appreciate the patriotism and farsighted wisdom of our first president more and more as years have passed and his predictions have been fulfilled.

"Did you ever use bootjack?" asks Bob Hopkins, of Radford, Va. I never did, because I never wore boots until a few years ago, when I was obliged by the Junior Chamber of Commerce to dress up in frontier clothes for a celebration in my home town, and was given a magnificent pair of cow-boy boots.

I couldn't put them on or off without help of some strong man, and understood why my dad and eldest brother, who wore boots about the farm and corals, always used boot-jacks. My father made most of the jacks out of solid oak planks, and had them well scattered in bedroom, barn, and several outbuildings where boots might be changed to clean shoes before entering the house.

Fred Gipson, Mason, Texas, about whose attractive novel, "Hound-dog Man," I wrote recently in high praise, tells me that his manuscript was sent to 12 publishers before it was accepted. I should think that eleven publishers might be blushing and pulling nervously at their whiskers as they witness the rapid ascent of the book they so jauntily turned down.

A great number of the citizens of Lakeland, Fla., combined to buy a whole page of space in their paper, the Ledger, in which space they expressed their appreciation of the good citizenship and generosity of Mr. Albert I. Lovelock, airplane man, who has not hesitated to finance interesting town beautification projects out of his own pocket. A fine gesture of esteem for a man while he's still living. Sunday School Lesson

"If a man die, shall he live again?" was the age-old question asked by Job (Job 14:14). Successive generations of men have asked it, and it has been answered in various ways, and with varying convictions.

Prophets . . . have answered it. The beautiful Twenty-third Psalm answered it by implication, for there could be no fearless and comfort in the valley of death unless there were hope of life beyond. And a modern poet, Wordsworth, wrote of it in his famous "Ode on the Intimations of Immortality."

Spiritualists think they have found the answer in the demonstrable proof of communications from the spiritual world, the evidence that some who have lived and died are still living and speaking.

It is my personal belief that immortality is a matter of faith and hope, rather than of scientific proof, but it is impressive that scientists like Sir Oliver Lodge and Sir William Crookes believed strongly in the validity of spiritualistic phenomena, and that the high priest of spiritualism, Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, came to such a similarly strong faith after years of agnosticism, without faith either in God or in human survival.

The strongest ground of hope and faith in immortality is found in the New Testament, with its message of, and concerning Christ. The message concerning Christ is as much the ground of our faith as the message of Christ Himself, for the one is intensively associated with the other. The Resurrection was the evidence of the deathless life of Jesus Himself, and it became to the disciples the clearest evidence of the immortality that He promised, "Because I live, ye shall live also."

An eminent British churchman, the late Professor Agar Beet, wrote a book in defense of the Christian religion, centering and reaching its climax, in the contention that "the Resurrection is the best attested fact in history." Materialistic historians, or

George E. Sokolsky: THESE DAYS

ELECTING THE PRESIDENT

Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., has been stirring action or his bill to alter the system of electing presidents of the United States. Two theories control our present system of electing the president and the vice-president.

One is that this is a union of sovereign states; that the people are not citizens of the United States but of the particular state in which the person legally resides; that the election is a state function to be managed according to the laws of the state; and that in the Union all states are equal.

The other theory is that the people are incapable of directly electing the highest officers of the land; therefore, the justices of the United States supreme court and judges of other federal courts, the president and United States senators were removed by popular decision. The federal justices and judges are appointed by the president and confirmed by the senate; the president is elected by the electoral college in each state; U. S. senators were elected by state legislatures. By the 17th amendment, U. S. senators are now elected directly by the people. It is doubtful whether this has, in any way, improved the personnel of the senate.

The electoral college system often produces too great a disparity between the popular vote and the electoral vote. Senator Lodge calls attention to the following:

"In 1912 Woodrow Wilson, with 42 per cent of the popular vote, received 82 per cent of the electoral vote. In 1936 Roosevelt, with 60 per cent of the popular vote, received 88 per cent of the electoral vote. In 1940 he received 54 per cent of the popular vote and 84 per cent of the electoral vote. In 1924 John W. Davis received 6,000,000 popular votes which brought him no electoral votes, while from 2,000,000 other popular votes he received 136 electoral votes. In 1932 Hoover received 15,800,000 popular votes, and over 13,600,000 of them brought him no electoral votes. In 1912 Wilson received one electoral vote for each 14,500 popular votes, while Taft received only one electoral vote for each 435,000 popular votes."

The real point, however, is not this disparity as much as the fact that campaign methods have changed and the attitude of the people has changed. The candidate for the presidency, by use of a far-flung press, radio and television, appeals directly to the people. In fact, the last three or four campaigns have been on an extraordinarily low level, the candidates recognizing group power rather than the capacity of the individual to decide public questions for himself. At no stage were important issues debated, the candidates wallowing in verbiage, but skirting fundamentals as dangerous. Harry Truman's attacks on the Taft-Hartley law displayed an inability or unwillingness to offer an intellectual basis for public discussion; he limited himself to vituperation. Candidate Dewey dodged the issue altogether.

In a word, the candidates, Roosevelt, Willkie, Dewey, Truman, ran on personalities much as Milton Egle and Mae West do in their chosen professions. The president is elected, actually, by popular vote. And what a howl there would have been if the electoral college did not follow the popular vote!

In some states, Ohio, for instance, where the vote was narrow, the electoral vote exceeded the proportion of the popular vote. That is why Candidate Truman thought he enjoyed a mandate which, as president, he must now know he never received. Secondly, neither candidate, no matter how large the popular vote, might have been elected and then the house of representatives would have had to choose a president. That is wasteful of time and money and it might even have produced a catastrophe.

This country was founded as a representative republic. It has been moving rapidly in the direction of a democracy. The theory that the voice of the majority is the voice of God is historically untenable, but it is so generally held that it has come to be believed. Senator Lodge's proposals need to be considered from the standpoint of theory as well as practice.

And this needs to be noted: the

Hal Boyle's NOTEBOOK

NEW YORK, April 9.—(P)—The last thing I would want to be in this town is a pigeon.

This is because the last living thing in New York City will probably be a pigeon. So a man who wants to be the final creature alive will probably have to grow feathers.

Is that hard? Why should it worry a man? It has never troubled a pigeon.

As a simple matter of survival, I don't see how people really can afford much longer to meet the stress and strains of Manhattan life without planting a few feathers here and there east and west of their armpits.

It isn't that wings will make them angels. It is just that they need feathers now to get around.

A broken electric circuit halts the subway. Street stops the buses. A labor dispute ties up the taxis. In emergencies like these how can New Yorkers go to business except by growing feathers and flapping their arms?

Anybody who can't grow feathers will just have to fall by the way. Sooner or later a man without feathers will be as rare here as a sparrow with fur.

And it will be all to the good. A sporting motorist would certainly rather aim at a feathery pedestrian than the present type, uneasy in a springy wool suit.

The big problem is that if people electoral college has become an effete, obsolete institution, as useless as the big front wheel on an ancient bicycle. It might just as well disappear.

are forced to live like pigeons to survive, what can the pigeons do? Live like people? Will they learn to peck out a steak and throw it on the pavement for humans just as people now toss out popcorn for pigeons?

Certainly no pigeon with a sense of dignity is going to stoop to competing with human beings. If humans grow feathers and fly, the pigeons are going to douse themselves with hair tonic and learn how to walk—people-toed, as the Broadway joke goes.

But pigeons don't look on life as all feathers and fun. They are here to stay, though the concrete skyscrapers fall, and the steel bowers of Wall Street bend to earth. Pigeons are more sensible than people.

People may lack housing. Pigeons never do. The more chaotic the human race becomes, the more war destroys its fine buildings, well—the more rubble crannies there are for a fastidious pigeon to lay her eggs in.

You can hire a lady to fight a bull. You can bully a bear into fighting a man. You can pay, bribe or annoy practically anybody into trying to muscle down anybody else. But there isn't enough popcorn in the world to hire one flock of pigeons to exterminate another flock.

In the tumult of their wings beats a pattern of peace. And thoughtful people are still trying to catch up with the pigeons.

The Nation Today JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, April 9.—(P)—Here's an ABC on the agreement to set up a new German government, which will split Germany in half.

The agreement, announced yesterday, was made by the United States, Britain and France. This is how it came about:

When Germany collapsed in 1945, the U. S., Britain, France and Russia agreed to divide Germany into four parts, or zones.

Each of the four powers would occupy one zone with its troops. And each of the four would run its own zone absolutely.

The four were supposed to work together to get Germany back on its feet economically and politically. This is how:

By getting trade, business and jobs going again and, eventually, letting the Germans set up their own government for all Germany.

It didn't work out. Instead of working together economically, the zones were working separately, with trade barriers between them.

But this couldn't go on if Germany was ever to get back to anything like normal.

The U. S. and Britain decided to treat their two zones as one, economically. France finally joined them. Russia wouldn't take part at all.

But the political bust-up was worse, for Russia and the three western powers couldn't agree on the kind of government Germany should have.

The Russians wanted a strong, highly centralized government. Such a government could hold all Germany in a tight grip, controlling education and information and even have a secret police.

There are 16 states in Germany: 11 of them are in three western zones, five in the Russian zone. There are 47,000,000 Germans in the three western zones, 17,000,000 in the Russian zone.

Since the western allies are setting up a government run by Germans in their part of Germany, the Russians probably will set up another government run by other Germans in their part of Germany.

Thus Germany would be split in two, with the Russians making sure they dominated the Germans in their zone of Germany, the western allies making sure their Germans were tied in with them.

Under that kind of government the Communists one day might be able to grab control of the whole country.

The western powers wanted a not-to-centralized government for all Germany, made up of 16 separate states, each with its own legislature and keeping strong powers, although there's to be one congress, or parliament, for all.

That kind of government would be something like the United States. Communists would have a tougher time getting control of that.

The Russians and the western powers couldn't agree. So early last year the western powers set in motion the machinery for creating—in their zones of Germany—the kind of government they wanted.

They let the Germans in their zones elect representatives to a constituent assembly. It's the job of that assembly to draw up a constitution for a government covering the three western zones.

But there were a number of details on which the U. S., Britain and France couldn't agree. They've been trying to reach agreement for many months.

This week they've agreed. They'll let the new German government be created. Each of the three, for some time, at least, will keep troops in its own zone of Germany.

They'll be able to stop the new government from doing anything the three western allies don't want done. But, generally, the idea is to let the Germans run themselves as much as possible.

There are 16 states in Germany: 11 of them are in three western zones, five in the Russian zone. There are 47,000,000 Germans in the three western zones, 17,000,000 in the Russian zone.

Since the western allies are setting up a government run by Germans in their part of Germany, the Russians probably will set up another govern-

Homing Pigeon In Trouble

NATCHITOCHE, La., April 8.—(P)—A homing pigeon with his radar hopelessly jammed has taken up his abode in the third grade classroom of the elementary training school on the Northwestern State College campus. Although pushed out the window a number of times, he returns to the classroom.

Miss Estelle Cockfield, supervising teacher of the third graders, admitted that she had increased the class roll last week by one pigeon. While the students sing or go through their daily lessons, the pigeon struts up and down the aisles in the manner of a former W. P. A. foreman.

Although the pigeon receives excellent treatment, continued flights in and out of the wastepaper basket, and attempts to fly into the bookcase despite the glass may result in minor injuries to the new third grader.

Naturally the teacher and class are of the opinion that "Radar Jammed Joe" is AWOL from the air force while enroute from Barksdale Army Air Field to Randolph Field, Texas, or during some other flight. The pigeon carries a yellow rubber band on his left leg with "P134," which could mean flight 134. On his right leg is an aluminum band with "HLC 159" and "Au' 48."

The owner might claim the bird but it probably will be over the objections of some twenty or more third graders.

Angelo Patri: OUR CHILDREN

THE COMICS

We are concerned about some of the comic books our children are reading. Maybe we should not say "reading," for reading is not what these books require. They are picture books. They would not be so bad if the pictures were ones that were likely to set good taste, good manners and good morals as standards for the reader. Many do not—in fact, quite the opposite.

I understand that children, beginning to read, rather stuffed with textbook study, turn with relief to a picture book that requires no thought, no study and does offer entertainment. That is all to the good provided the pictures do not picture crime, immorality and grossly improper behavior. Some do.

Murder is not funny. It should not be classed as entertainment. It should not be presented to children in such a form as to appear entertaining, amusing or even permissible. It should be presented as what it is—a sin against God and man, an unthinkable crime to be mentioned in hushed tones, if ever. Yet murder is one of the most prominent, because most dramatic, presentations in some of these books.

Revenge—wicked scheming to hurt someone—thief, deception are ugly in every aspect. They are devastating to character and mental health. They should be shunned as plagues, which they are; but they can be found pictured for the enjoyment of school children who buy them and swap them with enthusiasm.

I believe that every experience that touches a child's life affects his thinking and behavior, so I am on guard whenever possible to see that no harmful experience touches him. A bad book, a bad screen picture, a bad play are sharp experiences. They must leave their traces on the minds and, therefore, the behavior of all who see them and discuss them. We have laws to protect children from such experiences, but they seem difficult to enforce. No law that does not

'LABOR LEADER' IS DISTRIBUTED

"The Labor Leader," annual publication of the Monroe Central Trades and Labor Council, has just been printed and is being distributed to advertisers and members of the trades unions members, an officer of the council announced yesterday.

The publication contains 86 pages, is printed on enameled book paper, with a two-color cover. The format of the "Leader" has been changed from previous issues, presenting a much neater typographical appearance. Over 30 articles under the bylines of state and local labor officials and members, and others, add reader appeal to the magazine.

JR. STAMP CLUB TO HAVE EXHIBIT

The Ouachita Junior Stamp Club will hold its first exhibit in the Monroe Recreation rooms, April 24, from 2 to 7 p.m.

All adult collectors are invited to participate even when not club members. April 16 has been set as deadline for entering exhibits. Further details can be had by calling 6720. Valuable prizes will be given.

scientists, might question that claim, but from a spiritual standpoint the evidence is incontrovertible.

A group of disciples in the depth of gloom and despair because of the death of a Master upon whom they had set their faith, their hope, and their ambition, were suddenly aroused to new life, and hope, and vision, by the conviction that their Lord was living, and that they had seen Him, and received His message.

In that vision, faith, and conviction they not only went forth to the spiritual conquest of the world, but they went forth with their characters and outlook transformed. There was no more bickering about who should be greatest. They had found the eternal life of which Jesus spoke. For eternal life is a present possession. We should think of immortality, not in terms of mere continuance, but in terms of the quality of the life.

I shall never forget the dominant challenge of an Easter sermon by Professor Goslin that I heard some years ago. The preacher asked, pointedly, and I pass the question on to you, "What is in your life that is worth preserving, or that deserves immortality?"

It was also decided that schools in the flooded areas which were forced to close may make up for lost time when they re-open by attending school on Saturday and by lengthening the school day.

COLUMBUS KNIGHTS SEEK NEW QUARTERS

A new home site for the Knights of Columbus is being considered and plans were discussed in a general way at the last meeting held. The building committee comprises: George Tonore, state district deputy, general chairman; Harold Shanas, Thomas H. Mulhearn, Merton Abington and Eugene D. Gossage.

William K. Kim, state director of activity, New Orleans, was a visitor at the meeting held here Thursday and he outlined the five-point program for the year. Also he told details of the state convention to be held in May in Alexandria.

Frank Campbell, chairman of Catholic activity, has arranged for the attendance of knights at St. Matthew's Church on Holy Thursday, and on Good Friday. Also attending the Adoration of the Blessed Sacrament.

All Knights will attend in a body on Good Friday the Station of the Cross at 7:30 p.m., in St. Matthew's.

Around Washington With BASCOM N. TIMMONS

As impressive as is Washington's skyline, the Atlantic pact will have to be signed in an auditorium that fails to measure up to the true proportions of this great international event.

The site selected is the department auditorium in the labor department. This is a good enough place for labor meetings or staff gatherings. But it hardly measures up to the chandeliers and polished floors of some of Europe's great conference halls.

The honest-to-goodness fact is that Washington hasn't got what it takes to put on a first-class diplomatic show.

It has the Washington Monument and Lincoln Memorial and Pentagon building. It has the Capitol building and the White House. But it hasn't got a spit-and-polish spot where diplomats can strut—which diplomats intend to do in coming here for the Atlantic charter ceremony.

The departmental auditorium, as a matter of fact, is one of only three public auditoriums, all of them owned by the government in Washington. The department of interior has one, in use every day of the year; the department of commerce has one for business conferences, and the rest of the departments use the cooperative facility in the labor department's building.

Not a few cities in the United States have high schools with auditoriums larger and better equipped than that which will be used for the pact signing.

When international conferences do come to Washington, they are generally housed in hotel ballrooms, like visiting conventions, or in other borrowed facilities. For instance, when UNRRA was in full bloom, two of its big international gatherings were held at the hotel. And when the United Nations food and agriculture organization (F. A. O.) had a big world meeting, the auditorium of the United States Chamber of Commerce building was borrowed.

The state department building itself has no facilities for conferences but the department has converted the "attic" of an office building on Pennsylvania avenue, occupied by the federal power commission, into a series of paneled conference rooms which most recently have housed the conferees preparing the international wheat agreement.

Washington has no stadium other than the Washington Senators' American League ballpark, and no indoor arena other than the National Guard Armory where such functions as the Inaugural Ball can be held.

The only auditorium in the city where symphony concerts and similar programs can be held is Constitution Hall, owned by the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Numerous bills have been offered in congress to build a giant outdoor stadium or authorize the construction of a large civic auditorium, but they always floundered on the rock of economy or indifference.

Perhaps the rather ignominious surroundings in which the Atlantic pact will be signed will serve to highlight the need.

The house appropriations committee doubts whether the interior department should continue classifying geographical names.

The committee said so in reporting out the interior department appropriation bill, carrying a small $14,200 item, for the board on geographic names.

This is an obscure activity of government which doesn't attract such attention. But in time of war, it looms large in actual combat operations.

The trouble is that in most of Europe and Asia, the map is dotted with communities of identical name. More than one troop commander was baffled in the last war by orders to take a certain town—of which there were two or even three on his map, all with the same name. The board has gotten itself into somewhat of a budgetary pickle, which is the reason why the com-

In Hollywood With JIMMIE FIDLER

HOLLYWOOD, April 9.—(P)—If Rosalind Russell has her way, her co-star in a forthcoming independent (a comedy, of course) will be Cary Grant.

Craig Rice, the famous authoress of mystery tomes, is reconciling with her estranged spouse, Henry DuMott. Looks like Ann Sheridan and her long-time boyfriend, Ad-man, Steve Hannagan, have piff for keeps this time. . . . Isn't the quarrel between June Haver and her mama much more serious than studio spokesmen will admit? . . . J. Carrol Nash's 17-year-old daughter, Pamela, is embarked on an acting career at the Pasadena Playhouse.

Bob Hope, who's defying doctors' advice in order to undertake his current P. A. tour, has them groggy with still other plans; now he wants to spend the summer doing camp shows in Japan! . . . Wotzis about Annabella, Tyrone Power's ex, secretly acquiring a new spouse in Paris, last January? . . . Don't take those columned predictions that Martha Vickers and Fickles Rooney are on the verge of an elopement too seriously; she's promised her parents that she won't swap "I do's" with Rooney until October, when her divorce from A. C. Lyles will be final.

Los Angeles police, concerned about the number of burglaries in stars' homes, are urging screen notables to soft-pedal publicity about vacation trips. . . . On the stork list for October: The Alan Youngs. . . . Sorry to report that Rex Lease, once a tofflight cowboy star, is seriously ill.

PREVIEW NIGHTS: Pic of the week: 20th Century-Fox's "Mr. Belvedere Goes to College" (Clifton Webb-Shirley Temple-Tom Drake-Alan Young).

The star of "Sitting Pretty" scores again in one of the funniest comedies of the year. . . . GOOD: Paramount's "Bride of Vengeance" (Paulette Goddard-John Lund-MacDonald Carey). Swashbuckling romance with a much higher center of interest than its title title indicates. . . . Columbia's "The Undercover Men" (Glenn Ford-Nina Foch-James Whitmore). Mile-a-minute melodrama based on the F. B. I.'s campaign to trap Al Capone, and exciting enough to rate a place on your "should-see" list. . . . Film Classics: "Daughter of the West" (Martha Vickers-Phil Reed-Donald Woods). Class "B" in budget, Class "A" in appeal for fans of all ages. . . . SO-SO: Republic's "Hideout" (Adrian Booth-Lloyd Bridge-Roy Collins-Sheila Ryan). Crime drama in slow motion.

BEST PERFORMANCE: Clifton Webb in "Mr. Belvedere Goes to College."

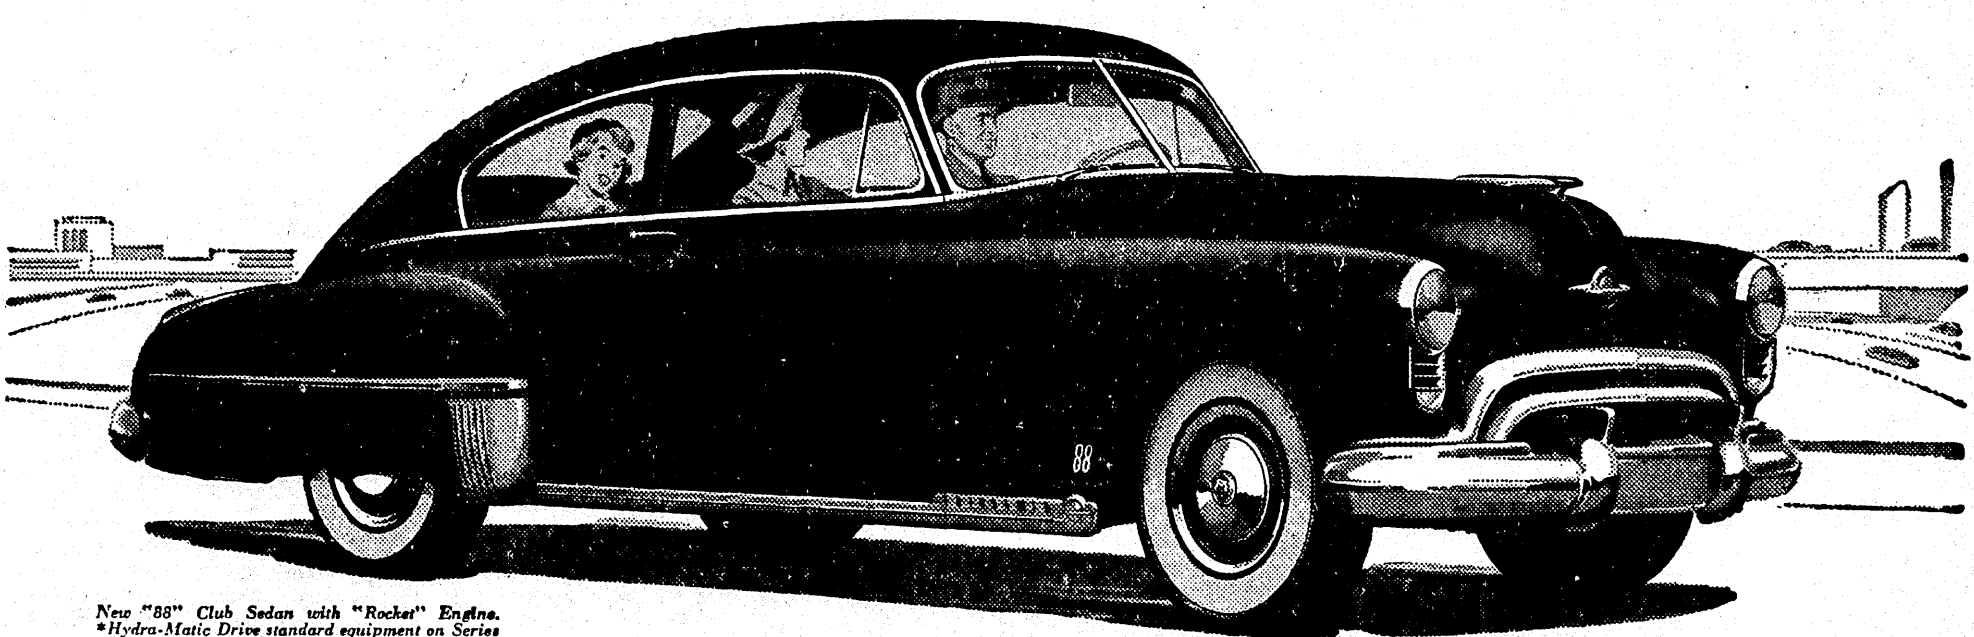

Some weeks ago, I broadcast, on my radio program, a report that Orson Welles and Lia Padavani, the Italian actress with whom he has been romancing for the past year, were secretly married during the holidays. Now, at long last, one of my fellow columnists has got around to questioning my story. "I doubt this very much," she says, since Orson's romance with Lia Padavani has been gradually cooling. . . . Well, I presented the report in the first place as unsubstantiated rumor, and I still can't vouch for its truth, but I fail to see why anyone should doubt the Welles-Padavani nuptials simply because the romance is cooling. From all I've seen of love in the high places of showbusiness, the marriage is almost always followed by the "cooling of the romance."

During the past years, I've heard dozens of studio executives complain about the lack of loyalty displayed by their employees—and the complaint, boiled down to its essentials, usually hinged on the employees' unwillingness to accept some annoying facet of the much-publicized "economy drive." Somehow, I can't blame the employees—not when I pick up a trade paper and read a story announcing that Louis B. Mayer, already the recipient of one of the most enormous salaries ever paid a corporation executive in the history of American business, has been given "a substantial pay increase" on signing a new five-year contract with M. G. M. Stories of that kind don't jibe very well with "economy drives."

The other evening I was privileged to see a collection of the amazing news photos shot by Weegee, New York's most famous newspaper photographer. Nine out of ten were close-ups of human beings, taken without the subject's realization, as he or she is reacting to tremendous emotion. I'll never forget those photographs, for they make the emoting of even the greatest actors seem phony and unconvincing. Hollywood has recruited the services of Weegee, but he's been wasted as a technical adviser on films made against a New York background. He should be using his experience as a life-time analyst of human emotion to coach actors. If he could teach them to put on the screen the emotion that he's recorded in some of his stills, audiences would learn what "realism" really is.

NEED ATTENDANTS FOR CHILDREN'S DRIVE BOOTH

Several persons are needed to man street booths for the crippled children's drive next week, according to an announcement last night by Chairman of the Local Chapter Fran J. Brennan. The booths in the Twin Cities will be unoccupied two days unless volunteers come forth to fill these vacancies, Brennan stated.

Governor And New Orleans Mayor In Conflict Again

Some Say Mayoralty Race Launched On Big Pile Of Garbage

By Edmond Le Breton

BATON ROUGE, La., April 9.—(AP)—There are those in the capital who say that the New Orleans mayoralty campaign really began this week, though the election is nine months off and no candidates have announced.

There are even some who say the campaign was launched from a pile of uncollected garbage.

The city garbage workers' "holiday" dramatizes New Orleans' lack of funds, which Mayor de Lesseps S. Morrison blames on the state administration and its supporters in the legislature.

Gov. Earl K. Long found occasion this week, without directly addressing Mayor Morrison, in effect to challenge the New Orleans administration to go to the voters with its complaint against a sales tax cut.

So the long-standing quarrel between the incumbent factions in the state and in its highest city is out in the open again. The chances are it will stay out in the open as the New Orleans election—the next big election in Louisiana—draws near.

A New Orleans election almost automatically is state politics. New Orleans, in the last gubernatorial election, cast nearly a quarter of the state's votes. Whoever holds the New Orleans city hall has a bastion of great strategic importance in Louisiana's political wars.

New Orleans contributed to Governor Long's record-breaking majority when he was elected last year. But the Long program, including increased state taxes and bills which the opposition described as punitive measures aimed at the city, was apparently dwindled in New Orleans.

In the test vote on constitutional amendments last November, New Orleans was decidedly in the opposition column.

The issue that brought governor and mayor openly into opposition this week was the New Orleans sales tax. The city formerly had a two per cent levy in addition to the state tax, one per cent.

The 1948 legislature cut the city tax to one per cent. At the same time the general sales tax, applying all over Louisiana, was raised to two per cent.

New Orleans took a substantial loss in revenue. Reduction in the sanitation force—which led to the "holidays" taken by all the garbage workers—was explained as one result.

A state representative from New Orleans who supported the governor's program in the 1948 legislature, James L. Earhart, wrote the governor that loss of revenue was "hurting the city and its people."

He asked Governor Long "to consider the possibility of calling a special session of the legislature."

6 TEEN AGE BURGLARS HELD IN BATON ROUGE

BATON ROUGE, La., April 9.—(AP)—Six teen-age boys were arrested in connection with a score of thefts here today after two of them were wounded by a sheriff's deputy.

Sheriff Byran Clommons of East Baton Rouge said the youngsters ranging in ages from 13 to 17, were booked with 18 burglaries and two thefts. He said they were paroled to their parents and will be arraigned Monday in juvenile court.

Chief Criminal Deputy Shirley Arrighi said the tipoff came last night when two of the youths were shot by Deputy Ernest Smith, one was 13, the other 16, he said.

Arrighi said Smith lay in ambush at an often-burglarized school. He "several figures" entered the building. One of them was carrying a flashlight, he said, and the beam struck Smith in the face, the deputy yelled, "Stop," and fired four times as they fled.

The two boys who were hit, Arrighi said, suffered only flesh wounds and escaped, but were picked up later.

When deputies tried to reach the parents of one of the boys, he said the youth told them, "don't bother," and added:

"They're out. They never get home before morning."

On the list of places burglarized, deputies reported, were service stations, grocery stores, a bar, a barber shop and a drug store.

EFFINGHAM CITIZENS SEEK NEW HOSPITAL

EFFINGHAM, Ill., April 9.—(AP)—Effingham citizens are in the midst of a nation-wide campaign to rebuild St. Anthony's Hospital—with a tentative goal of $600,000 to be raised by subscription.

Organized drives already are under way in several communities. They are headed by radio stations or newspapers in many cases, with civic groups cooperating.

Hawley Everhart, public relations man for the drive, said the tentative goal is $600,000 and that the plan is for a $2,400,000 150-bed hospital. It will replace the 125-bed institution destroyed early Tuesday by fire, with 74 persons dead or missing.

Members of the Effingham Civic Foundation Hospital Fund—in charge of the drive—said they hoped the federal government would contribute a third, or $800,000, of the $2,400,000. Another $800,000, they hope, will come from the state of Illinois. These would be under the joint state-federal hospital aid program.

A spokesman for the fund committee said that of the remaining $800,000, at least $200,000 would be contributed by the Hospital Sisters of St. Francis, who are in charge of St. Anthony's hospital aid program.

Everhart was unable to estimate how much money has been contributed thus far. He said appeals have gone to newspapers and to between 60 and 70 radio stations throughout the country.

cial session of the legislature for the purpose of rectifying this obvious injustice."

The governor replied by repeating the statement he has made several times—that he does not plan to convene the legislature before the next regular session unless an emergency arises. And he added a counter-proposal directed at the city officials.

They have a right under a special session act, he said, "to submit to the people for their approval or rejection the privilege of levying this additional one per cent sales tax."

And the governor suggested that it might be submitted at the very same election, the January primary, at which city officials are to be named.

In effect, the governor invited Mayor Morrison, or whoever represents his faction as candidate for New Orleans' top post, to run on a platform of higher taxation. The invitation comes from a political leader who has had plenty of opportunity in the eleven months he has held office to gauge the political effect of high taxes.

Deaths

1ST LT. LEON A. COON, JR. The remains of First Lt. Leon A. Coon, Jr., arrived in Monroe Saturday morning, and were carried to the Mulhearn Funeral Home where they will remain until 1:30 p. m. Sunday. He will then be taken to the Antioch Church for funeral services at 2 p. m. Sunday with Rev. Filer J. Seal pastor of the Trinity Baptist Church officiating. Burial will be in the Antioch Cemetery with the West Monroe Downs-Lehigh post V. F. W. in charge of the military rites at the grave.

Funeral services will be held at the Harmony Church at 1 p. m. today, Sunday, with Rev. J. A. Arender officiating. Burial will be in the Delhi Masonic Cemetery with the V. F. W. furnishing the military rites at the grave.

He is survived by his wife and daughter and his mother, Mrs. Myrtle Garley, of Delhi, and a brother, J. P. Morgan, with the United States army stationed in Shreveport. Mulhearn Funeral Home of Delhi will be in charge of arrangements.

ALBERT J. POWERS The body of Albert J. Powers, 55, former manager of the Monroe traffic bureau, who died in a Monroe hospital Friday, was sent on a night train to St. Louis for burial.

When deputies tried to reach the parents of one of the boys, he said the youth told them, "don't bother," and added:

"They're out. They never get home before morning."

On the list of places burglarized, deputies reported, were service stations, grocery stores, a bar, a barber shop and a drug store.

EDWARD E. WALLACE TALLULAH, La., April 9.—(Special)—Edward Eugene Wallace, 66-year-old retired farmer, Tallulah, died Saturday morning in his automobile following a heart attack. He was stricken at a cafe a few minutes before his death which occurred in front of his home.

He had been a resident of this section of the country for the past 27 years where he was a highly regarded farmer and citizen.

Funeral services which are incomplete, will be held Monday in Tallulah with the Rev. D. L. O'Neal, of Ruston, officiating. Interment, under the direction of Crothers Funeral Home, will follow in the Lakewood Cemetery in Jackson, Miss.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Lillian Wallage, five daughters, Mrs. Florence Hargan, Mrs. Pauline Bellott and Mrs. Virginia Vanderhoof, all of Tallulah; Mrs. Ruth Rafferty, of Memphis, Tenn.; two brothers, Fred Wallace, Maulden, Mo., and L. G. Wallace, of Charleston, Miss.; two sisters, Mrs. Annie Morgan, Jackson, Miss., and Mrs. Clyde Crenshaw, of Grenada, Miss., and nine grandchildren.

MRS. GLADYS GRIFFIN Funeral services for Mrs. Gladys Griffin, 42-year-old Baucumville woman, who was found dead Thursday afternoon as a result of a self-inflicted gunshot wound, will be held

HEADS INTERCOUNCIL

Mrs. Taunton Veazey, president of the Intercouncil of Service Clubs for executive and professional women, directs plans for the organization's initial project, the selection of the "Woman of the Year," to be nominated by citizens in the Twin Cities on the basis of leadership and community participation. The winner will be named at a banquet on the Virginia Hotel roof, May 7.

Intercouncil of Clubs Will Select Woman Of Year Here

Every Adult In Twin Cities May Nominate Person Considered Most Worthy

Factors to be considered in selecting the "Woman of the Year" in the Twin Cities were announced Saturday by Mrs. Taunton Veazey, president of the Intercouncil of Service Clubs for executive and professional women.

The group, comprising representatives from three clubs, Pilot, Altrusa and Quola, is inaugurating the intercouncil program through the choice of the woman who has made the most valuable contribution to community life.

Every adult in the Twin Cities has the opportunity to nominate the person whom he or she considers most worthy to receive the honor of "Woman of the Year." Announcements of the plan are to be made to organizations and through the press with a view toward making the project a community affair.

Recommendations should be sent in letter form to: Intercouncil of Service Clubs, Box 789, Monroe, not later than May 1. The nominee and reasons for selection should be given.

Nominations are to be made on the basis of leadership and community participation evidenced by persons being considered for this honor. Mrs. Veazey explained. Factors of leadership designated by the international include work in civic organizations and projects and church development and guidance.

Community participation includes three phases: Altruistic, materialistic and educational. The first considers the unselfish attitude in attempting to improve conditions and people. The second deals with the recognition of material needs in the community and the devotion of time and energy in seeing these things obtained. The educational form of participation includes cultural contribution and interpretation of community needs that require educational means to secure them.

Nominees will be judged by a committee of five outstanding women in the two cities who do not belong to the intercouncil. Their selection will be announced and an award to the winner will be made at a banquet on the Hotel Virginia roof on May 7 at 8 p. m. Other features of the program for the special occasion are to be announced at an early date.

Clubs and their representatives on the intercouncil comprise: Pilot—Miss Nona Martin, Dr. I. m. a Jones, Mrs. Arline Newsom and Mrs. Lillie Mae Carroll; Altrusa—Mrs. Adrienne Carr, Miss Emma Lee Short, Mrs. Eunice Forman and Mrs. Helen Luckett; Quola—Mrs. Veazey, Mrs. Bess James and Miss Mamie McNeill.

MRS. MARY MADDEN WOODS JONESBORO, La., April 8.—(Special)—Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Madden Woods, 84, who died Saturday morning at the home of her son, Browder Woods, of Ansley, will be held Sunday at 1:30 p. m. at the Ansley Church. Interment, under the direction of the Southern Funeral Home, of Jonesboro, will follow in the Palestine Cemetery, near Columbia.

Survivors include five sons, Browder and Freeman Woods, both of Ansley; John and Carl Woods, both of Ruston, and Wallace Woods, of Wyatt; 41 grandchildren and 25 great grandchildren.

STEPHEN H. HUEY Funeral services for Steven H. Huey, 81, of West Monroe, who died Saturday morning, will be held Monday at 2 p. m., at the Salem Church, in the early afternoon. Interment, under the direction of the Southern Funeral Home, of Jonesboro, will follow in the Salem Cemetery.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Mattie Huey; one son, Clyde Huey, West Monroe; one daughter, Mrs. Effie Lee Edwards, of Chatham; one foster daughter, Betty Marie Walker; one nephew and one niece.

S. F. MAXEY FARMERVILLE, La., April 9.—(Special)—Funeral services for S. F. Maxey, 68, who died suddenly late this afternoon at his Downsville, La. residence following a heart attack, will be held at 3:30 p. m. Sunday at the Mt. Ararat Baptist Church with the Rev. B. C. Smith assisted by the Rev. W. C. King and Horace Rockett, officiating.

Interment, under the direction of the Kilpatrick Funeral Home of Farmerville, will follow in the Mt. Ararat Cemetery.

Besides his wife, he is survived by two sons, Burrell and Harry Maxey, both of Monroe; two daughters, Mrs. D. L. Williams, of Monroe, and Miss Barbara Maxey, of Farmerville, and two sisters, Mrs. Annie Wells, of Downsville, and Mrs. Sally Hudson, of Farmerville.

POLICE SCHOOL GOES INTO SECOND PERIOD

A Police Identification School, being conducted here for northeast Louisiana law enforcement officers, will go into its second and final week tomorrow morning.

Monroe Police Chief H. T. Ward, whose department is sponsoring the school, said last night that officers attending the classes were making satisfactory progress.

"I believe that all officers, some of whom have never been exposed to fingerprinting during their careers as protectors of the people, are really learning a lot, most of which, no doubt will prove of great value to them in future investigations," the police chief said.

Chief Ward also praised the school's instructor, Martin W. Clift, a former instructor at the National Police Academy at Washington, D. C., as "winning the friendship of all his students and of having perfected a simple, yet efficient means of explaining the art of classifying, lifting and identifying fingerprints."

The school is being conducted through the courtesy of Post Office II, in charge of the F. B. I. bureau in New Orleans, Harry Roberts, local federal agent, and J. Edgar Hoover, who is presently in charge of the nation's Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Approximately thirty officers from police and sheriff departments in this area, started their schooling last Monday.

OFFER CLEMENCY

eight principles, it will not be difficult to reach a correct settlement.

"This applies also to the question of war criminals. The criteria for all these are whether the advancement of the cause of the Chinese people and the settlement of the domestic question through peaceful means are expedited.

"Under such a criterion, we are prepared to adopt a policy of clemency."

Mao finished by urging that "you and we should early conclude the peace agreement," and expressing Communist willingness "to cooperate hand in hand with all patriotic elements."

The Communist armies meanwhile were rapidly setting the stage for crossings to the south bank of the Yangtze. For more than four months that broad stream has been an informal boundary between Communist and Nationalist China.

Today, the government admitted loss of Ichang, north-bank ferry port 27 miles northeast of Nanking. (The Reds said they captured it Thursday.)

The commander of the Nanking-Shanghai sector, Gen. Tang En-po, was reported directing the defense of another vital north-bank point opposite Chinkiang, 35 miles east of Nanking.

New Red attacks also were reported at opposite Wuhu, upstream, 50 miles southwest of Nanking.

Neutral military observers said Wuhu might well be of the chosen spot for the first Communist crossing. It is the end of a south-bank railroad leading to Nanking.

The official military news agency said a Communist bomber raided Anking, on the north bank 150 miles southwest of Nanking. If correct, this is the first Red use of captured or deserted government planes.

The Communists recently have been making a strong radio propaganda appeal to government soldiers. Military observers said that the Reds might throw whatever planes they had into a river crossing attempt. The Nationalist air force, weak but unopposed in the sky, throughout the civil war, has been "junte" on as one of the government's most effective weapons against a crossing.

Further up the river, government troops still were falling back southward at points about 30 miles north of Nanking. That big military center is 375 miles southwest of Nanking, and farther as the river winds. Red troops on that front were reported to be Gen. Lin Piao's veterans of last winter's Manchurian conquest. They are the cream of the Communist army.

Gen. Pai Chung-Hsi, loyal friend of acting President Li and commander at Hankow, was conferring urgently in Nanking during the day.

Also conferring in Nanking was Gen. Hu Tsung-nan, commander of the government's almost-forgotten Shensi province front. Ma Hung-Kwei, the Moslem military governor of Ninghsia province in the northwest, was expected in Nanking shortly. (While paying only lip service to the government, Mao is no friend of the Communists. He has his own well-disciplined army corps, but it is too far away to help Nanking.)

FEUD OVER COMIC BOOK DISASTROUS

One Negro Boy Shoots Another In Leg After Quarrel Over 'Literature'

A year-old grudge, originating in an argument over comic books, climaxed in West Monroe shortly before 12 p.m., Friday night when one Negro boy shot another in the leg with a pistol. The injured boy is receiving treatment in the Conway Memorial Hospital while his assailant is being investigated by juvenile authorities.

The misunderstanding surrounding the comic books began a year ago when one of the boys refused to loan the other his books. At that time they had an argument and held the grudge without violence until Friday night.

They met on the street Friday afternoon and renewed the feud. Later Friday night, the boy now in the hospital, called at his assailant's home and told him, "I'm going to get some funny books."

Immediately, they started an argument which ended in the boy's being shot in the leg.

During investigation by the West Monroe police, all witnesses, including the gun-wielder, reported that the entire incident had been an accident. Police carried their investigation further by questioning the boy at the hospital. There they became suspicious of what they had been told at the scene of the shooting, and went back to further question the boy who did the shooting.

He then admitted he intentionally shot the boy and also told police they had agreed afterwards that they would claim it was accidental. "I meant to shoot him, but I didn't shoot to kill him," he told investigating officers. He was later turned over to the Ouachita parish juvenile officer.

GROMYKO

he African empire that Mussolini lost in the war was referred to the assembly after the United States, Britain, Russia and France failed to reach an agreement on the subject among themselves. The Italian peace treaty had given the Big Four a year to settle the matter.

British Minister of State Hector McNeil denounced Gromyko's attack as a "stream of sneers." He added: "I don't want to indulge in a propaganda war, but I can."

Gromyko renewed Russia's proposal that the colonies of Libya, Eritrea and Italian Somaliland be placed under control of the U. N. trusteeship council, except for a "territorial concession" giving Ethiopia an outlet to the Red sea through the small Eritrean port of Assab.

Britain and the United States favor giving Britain control of Girenaica, in eastern Libya, under a J. N. trusteeship, and allowing Ethiopia to annex outright all of eastern Eritrea on the Red sea, including the big port of Massawa.

France favors restoring Italian control over all the colonies, except for a strip of Eritrea to be given to Ethiopia.

Gromyko claimed Britain and the United States had reached "some sort of bargain" to keep control of strategic Libya. He accused the three western powers of "stubbornly" deadlocking the Big Four talks so the problem could be passed to the U. N. assembly, "where they have an insured majority of the votes in their pockets."

American Delegate John Foster Dulles told newsmen after the committee session that Gromyko's charges of aggressive plans were "wholly without foundation" as far as the United States was concerned. He indicated he would reply directly to Gromyko later.

"I understand there are airfields in the area," Dulles said. "I hope there are, because air transport has taken the place of railroads and ships in this age and it needs airfields."

Dulles recalled that Russia's proposal for a "multiple trusteeship" over the colonies was the same as that advanced in 1945 by the United States. At that time former Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov turned it down.

Declaring that the situation has changed very markedly since 1945, Dulles said: "At that time there did not exist the present degree of tension between the east and west. Europe was not divided by the iron curtain. The economic dependence of western Europe on sources outside Europe was not as clear and imperative as it is now. There was then no Marshall plan and no proposal for a program of aid to Europe. President Truman's 'fourth point,' to pool technological resources to help underdeveloped areas.

In another vehicle crash, fourteen-year-old Richard Dean, of 2702 Dick Taylor street, suffered a sprained wrist and bruises when his motorcycle was rammed into the rear of an automobile driven by Mrs. Ella Patrick Nolan, 33, of Rt. 1, West Monroe, at the intersection of Catapa and Wood streets late yesterday morning.

The youth was treated by a local physician. He was not hospitalized, police said.

Six other minor accidents in the city, which caused no personal injuries and little vehicular damage, occurred between eight o'clock yesterday morning and three o'clock yesterday afternoon, traffic officers said. The officers listed the accidents as having occurred at the following locations:

At the intersections of Harrison and St. John streets, Texas and Jackson streets, St. John and Grammont streets, Riverside and Pine streets, North Fourth and Washington streets, and on the two hundred block of North Third street.

Eight accidents were recorded in the city last Saturday, police said.

spread hope to many other patients who were naturally depressed and became extremely popular with his nurses and physicians. His leaving the hospital was almost regretfully received by attendants for they will miss his wonderful cheery nature and ever ready smile. He was the first one here to be recipient of the services offered by the Monroe Public Library book; objector, which while away many otherwise weary hospital hours. His family were so appreciative that they purchased a projector and donated it to the library.

Clark Aylsworth, 29 year old veteran, was driving along the highway near Ruston en route to Shreveport Friday when he heard over KNOE an appeal for O RH negative blood. He immediately returned to the Red Cross Blood Bank to donate blood. Mr. Aylsworth said, "I know Rh negative blood is scarce and I couldn't have gone on to Shreveport knowing someone in Monroe needed my blood. This is a gift I'm glad to make to my fellow man."

"It's just such cooperation as this that makes a successful blood bank in Ouachita parish," Judge W. M. Harper stated when he heard of the incident.

Roy Barr of the Barr Typewriter Company doesn't know if he accidentally rubbed Albert's lamp or if a good fairy visited him the other day but he came into ownership of 25 nice pream. He discovered the fish in a bucket outside of his door on South Grand street and try as he would he could not find the owner. For several hours he kept the fish in the ice box and then transferred them to the frying pan. He would like to let the owner know that the fish are now past redemption.

When there was placed on display recently in Barksdill Faulk School art work collected for brief exhibit here from the five continents, pupils noted the exceptional paintings with interest. A little later a young hopeful declared: "We don't have to go away from home to have good paintings. Barksdill Faulk has drawers as good as any others anywhere!"

ASK RECORD

build it up to a strength of 58 full groups.

New cash in the bill amounts to $13,272,815,800, an increase of almost $3,000,000,000 over what the services were given this year.

In addition there is $2,636,301,000 in new contract authority against which future appropriations may be made. The committee offered no figures on current year contract authorizations.

Here's how the figures fared in the big bill:

The army: $4,481,834,200 in cash, including $200,000,000 to liquidate previous contract authorization. The president asked for a total of $4,695,875,700.

The navy: $5,018,873,600, including $3,584,327,600 cash, $643,546,000 in contract authority and $791,000,000 cash to liquidate previous contract. The president requested a total of $5,138,352,000.

The air force: $6,215,709,000 consisting of $3,247,954,000 cash, $1,992,755,000 in contract authority and $975,000,000 cash to liquidate previous contracts. The president wanted a total of $5,428,837,000.

In addition, the bill carries $3,700,000 for the national security resources board and $189,000,000 in retirement pay for all the services.

The biggest increase over the president's figure was for the air force fund for buying planes and training the men to man them. The total boost in funds for this purpose was $209,000,000 in cash and $642,000,000 in contract authority. There were slight cuts in some air force items.

The new air force money is supposed to provide 58 full-strength air groups instead of the 48 contemplated by the president. This would include 20 bombardment groups, 24 fighter groups, seven reconnaissance groups and seven troop carrying groups.

Indirectly, the committee shifted to the air force fund an $800,000,000 item the president had included in his overall budget for universal military training.

From a manpower standpoint, the bill provides for 4,753,100 officers and men of whom 1,644,300 would be in regular service, 399,500 in national guard units and 2,709,300 in reserve outfits. There would be 677,000 army regulars, 527,300 navy and marine regulars and 440,000 air corps regulars.

Navy funds in the bill contemplate maintenance of a fleet of 731 ships including the battleship Missouri, 8 heavy carriers, 11 escort and light carriers, 18 cruisers, 170 destroyers and destroyer escorts, 80 submarines, 99 mine craft and patrol craft, 84 amphibious craft and 260 auxiliary vessels.

Included in the bill is $43,000,000 for next year's payment of the construction costs of a super aircraft carrier expected to cost $189,000,000.

Story Of Man Caught In Cave Retold

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 9.—(P)—The plight of little Kathy Fiscus trapped in a San Marino, Calif., well, brought back memories today of Floyd Collins, who was trapped and died in a Kentucky cave 24 years ago.

The heart of a nation went out to Collins during the two weeks he remained alive inside sand cave. Frantic workers reached him, talked to him and fed him but could not rescue him.

The Floyd Collins story kept the nation in suspense for days. He was trapped at the bottom of a 70-foot shaft Jan. 30, 1925, while exploring inside a cavern near Mammoth cave.

A 17-year-old neighbor, Jewell Estes, reached the doomed man the next day with food. Collins' foot was trapped by a huge boulder.

Other neighbors tried to help and within a day or two rescue workers from other points of Kentucky reached the scene. A reporter for the Louisville Courier-Journal, W. B. (Skeets) Miller, reached Collins Feb. 2 and carried word to him.

Miller, later an executive with the National Broadcasting Company, was small and could penetrate further into the small cavern than the others.

State troops under the lieutenant governor were dispatched to the scene. Experienced engineers were called in to help. Crowds poured to the scene and scores of newspaper reporters rushed in to carry the latest news to the waiting nation.

All efforts failed. Rescue workers talked to Collins six days after he was trapped. Another worker heard the doomed man cough two weeks after that fateful Jan. 30. A rock slide barricaded efforts to reach Collins through the tunnel.

Engineers drilled parallel tunnels but time ran out. Rescue work was halted temporarily when it was determined Collins was dead. Finally, the body was reached and removed from the cavern on April 23, 1925, nearly three months after Collins was trapped.

He was buried on a hill overlooking the cave.

Local admirers of Dr. Alfred Leland Crabbs, professor of education at George Peabody College, Nashville, Tenn., will be interested in hearing a dramatization of his first novel, "Dinner at Belmont," during the Cavalcade of America radio program, a feature of the National Broadcasting Company, Monday at 7 p.m. (C.S.T.). The same program recently gave a dramatization of his most recent novel, "Home to the Hermitage." Soon to come off the press will be another book by Dr. Crabbs, a novel with an historical background, "A Mocking Bird Sings at Chickamauga."

Dr. Crabbs, well-known educator, addressed many friends to his list when he appeared here last spring as a guest speaker whose coming was sponsored by the Review Club.

TITO WILL

make any plans for our country's contribution to the Yugoslavians.

Boldly declared the Yugoslavians, premised former comrades in Soviet Russia and the cominform of trying to liquidate him by stirring up "civil war." He said their propaganda against him was "anti-Marxist and anti-Leninist" defamation.

(The Yugoslav News Agency, Tanjug, in a broadcast recorded in London, quoted Tito as warning western nations not to count on him in their "war plans." Neither the official nor the Associated Press translations in Belgrade contained the quotation.

There was no immediate explanation of the Tanjug statement.

(The news agency's quotation said: "Wrong are all those war-mongering, reactionary elements in capitalist countries who imagine they can count on us in their plans to bring to the first situation today.")

Tito spoke for two hours and 12 minutes to 2,500 delegates and spectators at the third congress of the people's front in suburban Topchidar. Resplendent in a braided blue uniform, he was greeted by chants of "Tito here," "Tito here."

A complete departure from the past was the cominform features of Tito, Joseph Stalin and Lenin among the stage decorations. Stalin's pictures have been disappearing since he failed to support Yugoslavia in the dispute with the cominform (Communist international information bureau).

The absence of Tito's picture may have been to counter the charge that the cominform that the Yugoslav Communist party was building up a cult of "Titoism."

Also unprecedented was the permission given foreign correspondents to attend the congress.

It was Tito's first big policy speech since New Year's Eve and one of the few he has made since last June when the cominform expelled him and his party on charges of pursuing anti-Soviet policies.

He swiftly launched into his dispute with the other Communist nations, and declared there was "more truth than gossip" to their stories of western trade with Yugoslavia.

"Are we going to trade—that is, to buy everything we need, and sell everything we can in order to pay for our needed machines?" He asked. "Of course we will! It would be a crime against our Socialist country if we failed to do so. They will give us machines and plants and we shall give them what we have and what we can give, money for goods and vice versa."

"If they are willing to trade with us on that basis, it is all right. If not, they cannot expect anything from us. Everybody should bear this in mind."

Pursuing the strongly independent note, he said Yugoslavia "is not sailing in imperialist waters," however, and socialism is being built with assurance and much success in our country."

Tito, accused by the cominform of being a "Socialist and Trotskyite," needed Bulgaria for allegedly having harbored such elements in its own Communist ranks. He referred to the dismissal last week of Traicho Kostov from the Bulgarian politburo and vice-premiership. The Communist party accused him of Nationalist intrigues within the party and against Russia.

"Today we have proof in our hands that in several Communist parties there are agents of certain capitalist states among the higher, and even highest, leaders," said Tito.

Meanwhile at Dubrovnik a district court sentenced nine persons to prison terms of six to 15 years on charges of attempting to flee Yugoslavia to join the cominform opposition.

MISSING MONEY IS FOUND IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, April 9.—(P)—The $50,000 missing from an airline's airport office was found in a buried cache early today and one of the line's clerks was arrested for the theft.

Police said the clerk, Robert T. Murphy, admitted taking the five hundred $100 bills and burying them in a vacant lot a mile from the main entrance of New York International Airport.

Murphy, 25-year-old former army paratrooper, was arraigned on a grand larceny charge in Ridgewood, a felony court and held in $10,000 bail.

The bills, contained in a manila envelope, were reported missing yesterday from the offices of K. L. M. Royal Dutch Airlines. The money was being sent by an investment banking firm to an investment house in Zurich, Switzerland.

Police said Murphy took the money when he quit work Thursday night, carried it with him during an early-morning outing with an unidentified young woman, and then buried it early yesterday.

RE-ELECTED

After the election of West Monroe, re-elected vice-president of the Louisiana State Federation of Labor at its convention in Shreveport last week. White was chairman of the convention's press and publicity, a member of education committee, and was named chairman of a special committee which included Mayor Clyde Fant, of Shreveport, and others, who welcomed Assistant Secretary of Labor Ralph Wright of Washington, when he arrived in Shreveport to address the convention. White also sponsored a change in the federation's constitution which sets up a department of research and education within the federation and creates an official publication of the state labor group. The proposition was adopted by the convention with a small increase in the federation's per capita tax to finance the new department.

The directors re-elected all congress officers, including Senator McClellan (D-Ark.) as president, Senator Wherry (R-Nebr.), Representative Whitington (D-Miss.) and Representative Case (R-S. Del.) as vice-presidents, and Burke as secretary-treasurer.

NEW YORK, April 9.—(P)—The $50,000 missing from an airline's airport office was found in a buried cache early today and one of the line's clerks was arrested for the theft.

Police said the clerk, Robert T. Murphy, admitted taking the five hundred $100 bills and burying them in a vacant lot a mile from the main entrance of New York International Airport.

Murphy, 25-year-old former army paratrooper, was arraigned on a grand larceny charge in Ridgewood, a felony court and held in $10,000 bail.

The bills, contained in a manila envelope, were reported missing yesterday from the offices of K. L. M. Royal Dutch Airlines. The money was being sent by an investment banking firm to an investment house in Zurich, Switzerland.

Police said Murphy took the money when he quit work Thursday night, carried it with him during an early-morning outing with an unidentified young woman, and then buried it early yesterday.

to appropriation requests from the agencies handling water resources, the organization said:

"At a time when our people are being called upon to support large scale foreign improvements they are justified in expecting that their improvements are home should continue at the maximum practical rate."

Touching on the subject of hydro-electric power development at federal dams, the congress said:

"Our position is and has been that such development should be confined to projects located in shortage areas and then only when feasible and as a supplement to existing private supply."

"Supplemental power from steam plants," it went on, "is questioned as being inconsistent with the policy adhered to by this congress as is the construction and operation by the government of transmission and distribution systems."

"Unrestricted and unwarranted competition with private power facilities will continue to be opposed."

Opposition was also expressed "to legislation creating federal regional or valley authorities."

"We urge the extension of comprehensive basin-wide research and planning similar to the Pick-Sloan plan now operating in the Missouri basin to other major basins which present similar problems and opportunities," it said.

The congress also went on record against the Hoover commission recommendation for the consolidation of the work of the army engineers, regarding civil functions, with the department of interior.

A resolution dealing with tidelands, saying they "should be vested in the states through adequate legislation" was passed over the opposition of Frank X. Martell of Detroit.

The congress elected five new members to the 9-man board of directors at large.

They are Maj. Gen. R. W. Crawford of Memphis, executive vice-president of the Mississippi Valley Flood Control Association; Francis A. Pitchkin, state director of planning for Pennsylvania; Representative Brooks (D-La.), Representative Simpson (R-Ill.) and J. G. Burke of Helena, Ark.

TULANE ATHLETES 'WINNINGEST' IN NATION

WAVE BALANCED BY STEADY CAGE, GRIDIRON TEAMS

Football Power Michigan Second; Cage Titan, Kentucky, Ranks Eighth

By Ben Phlegar
NEW YORK, April 9.—(AP)—The No. 1 collegiate basketball team in the country during the past season was Kentucky.

In football it was Michigan, the only major undefeated and untied team.

But what about the best combined showing? What major school had the best overall record through the two big college sport seasons?

The answer probably will come as somewhat of a surprise unless you happen to live in New Orleans.

The winningest school in the nation was Tulane.

Here's the Green Wave's record: Nine football victories in 10 games, an average of .900; 24 basketball victories in 28 games, an average of .857. That's an aggregate winning percentage of .879.

This percentage counts the two sports as equal. To arrive at the overall winning figure you add the football percentage to the basketball percentage and divide by two.

The idea comes from the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau, which spends its time collecting statistics on college football and basketball. The bureau has kept the aggregate figures for the past three years, mostly out of curiosity. It released them today for the first time.

The N. C. A. A. includes basketball tournaments in its records, but classes football bowl games as post-season exhibitions. Therefore, the football records used in determining these percentages include regular season games only.

Notre Dame topped the list in 1946-47. A year ago it was Michigan.

Even the bureau admitted that Tulane was a surprise winner this year. The Greenies were overshadowed in their own Southeastern Conference all the way around. Georgia was the football powerhouse and Kentucky dominated basketball. As a result, Tulane didn't play in a bowl game or in either the N. C. A. A. or National Invitation basketball tournaments. But it had very good teams in both sports.

Michigan, which got a 1,000 rating in its football team, but only .714 in basketball, was second to Tulane in the overall picture with an aggregate percentage of .857.

Then came North Carolina, Notre Dame, Minnesota, Villanova, Utah, Kentucky, Oklahoma and Oklahoma A. and M.

Of the top 10, Tulane not only had the best percentage but came the nearest to having teams of equal ability in each sport. The other nine hit the top bracket primarily on the strength of one good team and one a little better than the average. Five of the schools excelled in football, the other four in basketball.

Kentucky was the most out of balance. The Wildcats' sensational basketball team won 32 of 34 games for a percentage of .941. But on the gridiron the Wildcats were beaten three times and tied twice in ten starts, an average of .500. This gave them an aggregate record of .717.

Only three schools—Notre Dame, Kentucky and North Carolina—have placed in the top 10 all three years, Texas, Utah, Michigan and North Carolina State made the grade two of the three.

Here is a complete breakdown of the top 10 this year:

Taylor Dreams Of First Division, But Browns Need Plenty Mending

By Chester L. Smith
DALLAS, April 9.—(NEA)—One of the minor shocks felt in the American League last year was the refusal of the Browns to finish last, as had been loudly and freely predicted.

In fact, the St. Louis Americans, with Zack Taylor taking over after an ill-starred season under Muddy Ruel, actually zoomed to sixth. For the Browns, that was practically a stratosphere.

This spring you hear Mr. Taylor is harboring thoughts of crowding into the first division, but it is doubtful that he believes there can be a spot in the top bracket for the Little Brownies.

The Browns' biggest change was made in the front office, where it doesn't show in the club standings. Bill and Charley DeWitt bought the franchise from Dick Muckerman.

They have a team that needs a lot of mending, a process which requires time and money.

Their infield will be the same that opened last year, featuring two genuine "pros" in Bob Dillinger at third base and Dick Koks at first, but others were pulled down.

Frank Smith is back on first, but he was pulled down. Eddie Delahanty is the ace pitcher, but he was pulled down.

Let's hope, as the season will have

SEASON OPENERS SCHEDULED TODAY FOR LITTLE EIGHT

First Games In Amateur Circuit At Point, Calhoun, Downsville, Swartz

The Little Eight Baseball League, an amateur organization, launches its third season with two new members today in games scheduled at Point, Calhoun, Downsville, and Swartz.

The league has also revised its rules, doing away with its commission form of operation and altering its provisions pertaining to the closing of the season and playoffs to avoid the headaches that arose last year when the season was extended into late fall and bad weather ruined the late playoff series between the West Monroe Rebels and the West Monroe Volunteers.

The Volunteers and Rebels, among the original organizers, have left the Little Eight this year to campaign in the Louisiana Delta League. Selman Field of Monroe and Terrill's Store, the latter a Little Six member last year, have joined the circuit that includes old members, Eros, Point, Nip and Tuck, Calhoun, Downsville, and Swartz.

In the opening games today Eros will visit Point, Nip and Tuck goes to Calhoun, Terrill's Store will play at Downsville, and Selman invades Swartz.

Terrill's Store and Eros get their home openers next Sunday, playing Point and Selman respectively. Nip and Tuck will be at home for the first time against Downsville on April 21, and Selman gets its first home game May 1 against Terrill's Store.

Jim Hinton, Downsville, has been president of the league. F. M. McFarland, Downsville, is secretary; and Elton Albritton, Farmerville, is vice-president.

The official closing date for the schedule is August 20, actually six days of leeway for getting postponed games out of the way after the final scheduled date of August 14.

BONITA-JONES WINNSBORO TODAY

WINNSBORO, La., April 9.—(Special)—The first of seven exhibition games scheduled by the Winnsboro Red Sox before opening their campaign in the Northeast Louisiana League will be played here tomorrow afternoon against the La-Ark White Sox of Bonita-Jones.

The exhibition opener, slated for Memorial Park, will begin at 3 o'clock. Bonita-Jones will be a Winnsboro rival in the new semi-pro league which opens its season May 1.

Lantz Womack, player-manager of the Red Sox, said today that he had not decided on a lineup for the exhibition, but that "a well-rounded squad will be ready to take the field at game time."

Other exhibition contests include Natchez of the Evangeline League at Natchez, April 14 (night game); Natchez here, April 15 (night); Esso Oil of Baton Rouge here, April 17; Columbia here, April 20 (night); Columbia at Columbia, April 24; House of David here, April 29 (night).

Graders and packers have completed work on the Memorial Park diamond, working the infield and mowing the outfield, and Manager Womack said the diamond should be in good condition for the game tomorrow if the weather remains fair.

High Official Sees 'Chaos At First' If Banned Players Win Suit

By Ted Smith
NEW YORK, April 9.—(AP)—What is going to happen if the courts knock baseball's reserve clause into a cocked hat?

"There would be chaos at first," said a high baseball executive. "Salaries would be cut. The minor leagues would be hardest hit, perhaps mostly wiped out."

"There would be an adjustment to new conditions," said Frederic A. Johnson, attorney for Danny Gardella. One way out would be for congress to pass the bill introduced Tuesday legalizing the reserve clause. But before baseball could bank on this the supreme court would need to uphold it, and Johnson thinks such a law is unconstitutional.

If the courts get tough, and laws fail, there would be nothing to prevent the Pacific Coast League from declaring its independence, luring big league stars to the west, and setting up a third major league.

Some think this is the real threat if the reserve clause goes.

Others foresee a scramble by the rich major league clubs to sign up all the big name players.

The reserve clause is a promise to which every professional ball player has agreed each spring for the past 39 years. It binds him to sign with the same club next year and so on indefinitely. It permits players to be sold, traded, or released at will.

It is backed up by the reserve list set up by the major league and minor-league agreements.

Gardella, a former New York Giant outfielder banned for playing in the Mexican League in 1946, started the furor with a $500,000 suit under the anti-trust law.

Said Commissioner A. B. Chandler: "Baseball does not want to engage in an illegal enterprise. Back in 1922 the supreme court ruled in the Baltimore case that baseball was an exhibition. It ruled the game was not involved in interstate commerce. Since that time we have assumed we were operating legally."

(Attorney Johnson contends for Gardella that radio and television advertising rights sold by baseball have changed the picture since 1922. In addition the "farm system" has grown up, with major league clubs controlling minor league clubs used as training grounds.)

One high baseball executive said: "If it weren't for concessions like hot dogs, radio and television baseball couldn't operate. It is not a money maker."

"To abolish the reserve clause would change the entire picture."

"Salaries would be cut. I think a limit on salaries would have to be imposed, assuming the courts would permit it, so the rich club would have no advantage over the poor one. Well balanced competition is the life of baseball."

The Hollywood-type contract has been suggested as a means of keeping baseball stable. Under this an actor signs up with a series of renewal options, each at a higher salary. It might be $1,000 weekly the first year, $1,200 weekly the second if the contract is renewed, $1,400 the third and so on up for perhaps seven years. There often comes a point where the studio figures the star is not worth the increase necessary to sign him up again. He then becomes a free agent.

Another possibility would be contracts running for five years or more, with the clubs taking out heavy insurance to protect them in case a player was injured. For if that happened under a contract his salary would go right on. When an injury occurs now payment of salary depends on the club owner.

Right now there is a flurry of legal activity within baseball. The U. S. Court of Appeals has cleared the way for trial of Gardella's suit. Max Lantz and Fred Martin asked for injunctions to let them resume playing at once if they could get jobs. They were turned down, and have appealed the ruling. Congress will hold hearings April 14 on the bill to legalize the reserve clause. These are preliminary skirmishes. The real test will come when the Gardella case is called for trial, which in the normal course of events would not be before next year.

"But whatever happens baseball will live," said Johnson.

So it undoubtedly will, for it is part of America.

MERCER STRIKES OUT 22 BATTERS, GIVES ONE HIT AS MANGHAM WINS

MANGHAM, La., April 9.—(Special)—The Mangham High School baseball team opened its season here yesterday by trouncing Ogden High School, 13 to 3, in a Franklin Parish League game. The Dragons, who replaced Central in the Class B circuit, had to come from behind for their first victory after allowing Ogden a three-run margin in the first inning.

Jesse Mercer, Jr., ace pitcher of Coach J. J. "Buck" Hollis' Mangham team, went eight frames, allowing one hit and fanning 22 batters. He also aided his own cause with a double and a single.

Second Baseman Floyd "Butch" Boughton, with a double and two singles, and First Baseman Eugene Johnston, who rapped out three singles, were the leading hitters of the game.

Score by innings:

Ogden 300 000 000-3 1 7
Mangham 000 303 43X-13 12 6

VILLAINS 'MATCH' FOR MAIN EVENT BILLING TUESDAY

Eddie Williams, Newcomer To Southern Circuit, Dated For Semi-Final

"Wild Bill" Steddum and Al Getz, the villainous tag team that finally snapped the string of victories being compiled by Charlie Laye and Chris Belkas, are both bidding for a main event shot at Laye here Tuesday night, but Promoter Gus Kallio last night said Laye's opponent wouldn't be decided until just before ring time.

Laye, the former world's light-heavyweight champ from Knoxville, Tenn., would like nothing better than a return tag match but that's out since his partner, Belkas, is shelved with a back injury. The classy little Greek lost the deciding fall in last Tuesday's relay scramble when Getz trapped him in a Boston crab hold, the force of the hold spraining Belkas' back.

"I want no tag match right now without the help of Belkas," Laye told Kallio, "but I'll take on either Steddum or Getz in a regulation bout. You can match me with either one."

Steddum, the lanky Texan, quickly accepted the challenge, but Getz then began shouting, "No! He's my man!" They bickered back and forth, with Kallio settling the argument by declaring that one of them would appear in the semi-final and the other in the main event.

"Just before the semi-final starts, both of you come into the ring and flip a coin for the right to meet Steddum," Kallio said. "The loser will then wrestle in the semi-final and the other will get his satisfaction with Laye."

Neither Steddum nor Getz liked the idea very much but they finally agreed.

"I don't care who wins the flipping contest," Laye informed Kallio later, "but when the main event starts I'll show plenty of concern about who wins the match. When the 'flipping champion' comes into the ring with me I expect to make him think he's in the hornet's nest. He'll be hoping he was in the semi-final."

Steddum spoke for himself and Getz: "They're always advertising Laye as the ex-champion of the

NORTHEAST LOOP BOASTING PLANTS WORTH $300,000

WINNSBORO, La., April 9.—(Special)—Baseball plants with a total value of around $300,000 will be at the disposal of the Northeast Louisiana Baseball League, which opens its season May 1, according to estimates of Don Mayer, league president.

This will include work already in progress on nearly every park in the league with Monroe doing a complete building job figured to cost around $50,000.

A $35,000 plant is going up at Lake Providence.

Tallulah, already boasting a $35,000 park, is in the process of making a $10,000 light installation for night ball.

Winnsboro, with a baseball park valued at $25,000, is spending $1,500 more right now for construction of 35 box seats that will increase the seating capacity by 150 seats.

Bonita-Jones is building a $20,000 plant.

Columbia already boasts a $20,000 establishment and is undertaking the additional erection this season of box seats and bleachers.

Urania is sinking $10,000 more into erection of a lighting system for an already splendid park.

Oak Grove is looking ahead, planning to build a park, but until the West Carroll parish group gets around to getting the kind of facilities they want they'll meet their home schedules at the Fair Grounds park there.

HAZEL FAIR, EDNA HARRIS ON ALL-STAR CAGE TEAM

Hazel Fair and Edna Harris, members of the Louisiana Business College basketball team that won the championship of the Girls' League here a few weeks ago, were named as members of the Tri-State All-Star team at the recent Tri-State Tournament held at Shreveport. Both girls received miniature silver basketballs.

Backing them up will be Bill Alanzo, who had a 20-0 record with Deland, Florida, Natlio Iritary, a graduate of Rogers Hornsby's Baseball School; Harry Upshaw, a veteran hurler who was troubled with wildness with the A's last season, and

ABBEVILLE CLUB PROMISING FIRST DIVISION THREAT

A's Looking To A Couple Of Rookie Prospects To Make The Difference

By Gene Yoes, Jr.
ABBEVILLE, La., April 9.—(AP)—Abbeville's Athletics, one of the power-houses in the early days of the Evangeline League, will be a top contender in the "Pepper Circuit" this season if one or two of the rookies obtained by President I. M. Goldberg come through as expected.

The A's will have one of the best infields in the league in both hitting and fielding. Bill Cox, who was with Abbeville last season until he broke a leg, has just been returned by Memphis of the Southern Association for further seasoning.

The other infielders, Gaspar Del Toro, Bill Vegas and Vincent Libert, averaged better than .310 at the plate last season.

The team will be under the leadership of one of the most popular players in the history of the league, Nat Love. He broke into baseball with Abbeville 10 years ago. He has since played with several teams, including New Orleans and Memphis in the Southern Association, and Shreveport in the Texas League.

If a sore arm, which he developed while pitching at Shreveport last season, recovers its old form, Love will spearhead the pitching staff. Behind him is Lefty Jimmy Perez who won 15 while losing only 2 with the Big Springs, Texas, Nine last season.

Backing them up will be Bill Alanzo, who had a 20-0 record with Deland, Florida, Natlio Iritary, a graduate of Rogers Hornsby's Baseball School; Harry Upshaw, a veteran hurler who was troubled with wildness with the A's last season, and

HOOPER'S DERBY HOPEFUL BOASTS 7-LENGTH MARGIN

Meets Test In Wood Memorial
Against Capot, Wine
List On April 23

By John Chandler
NEW YORK, April 9.—(P)—Fred W. Hooper's Olympia and Jockey Eddie Arcaro sailed around Jamaica race track today to capture the $26,250 Experimental Handicap No. 2, and demonstrate what they hope to repeat May 7 in the Kentucky Derby.

Olympia showed again that he was all horse, as the winter book odds makers would have everyone understand, by galloping home in easy seven lengths victory over Mrs. Ada L. Rice's Model Cadet. Alfred Vandenberg's Stone Age was third in the small field of five starters.

The timer caught the bay son of Heliopolis-Miss Dolphin in a smart 1:44 2/5 for the mile and one-sixteenth route—an event record.

A crowd of 42,947 persons, recalling how easily Olympia whipped five rivals last Saturday in the six-furlong Experimental No. 1, went for him again in a big way at the money windows.

They hopped on him at the rate of 1 to 2 last week when he returned $3, and 1 1/2 to 1 this afternoon enough to trim the price to 3 to 20. His mutual payoff this time was $2.30, $2.30 and $2.10. Furthermore, Olympia pulled an old Citation trick by causing a $2,369.90 minus show pool.

Isidor Bieber's Palestinian ran most of the way in fourth and finished in that spot. George D. Widener's Revell was last after spurring past Model Cadet in the backstretch once to take over second, then rapidly faded out of it.

Olympia added $17,250 to the bank account of his Coral Gables, Fla., owner, who watched his Derby hopeful triumph.

This was Olympia's sixth start and fourth victory of the year. Coming on top of his California and Florida winter successes it certainly makes him the horse to beat.

Hooper is expected to rest the colt two weeks for his final Eastern Derby prep, the $40,000 Wood Memorial here April 23. Now quoted at 5 to 2 in the Derby winner bracket, Olympia is expected to meet the No. 2 Derby favorites, Capot and Wine List, in the Wood Memorial.

N. J. C. Club

The Indians of Northeast Junior College won their second straight baseball game yesterday, journeying to Natchitoches where they defeated the Northwestern Louisiana State College "B" team, 3 to 2. Friday the Tribesmen had walloped Commercial Solvents of Sterlington, 15 to 5.

Both teams produced stellar pitching yesterday. James B. Nolan doing a four-inning job for N. J. C., and Ranew and Cox, sharing the hurling for the "B" Demons, likewise giving up only four safe blows.

The score was tied, 2-2, going into the last inning when Coach James L. Malone's Redskins pushed over the winning run.

N. J. C. next meets the Louisiana Tech "B" team Tuesday.

MONROE PLACES 7, BASTROP 2 ON NINE-MAN SQUAD

Jones, McDade, Holt, Shaver, McClendon, Girault On
'First Team'

Selection of the Monroe district golf team, a six-man first team and three alternates, was determined yesterday in qualifying tests at McGuire Park Club's course with 14 of the district's classiest linksmen challenging for position.

Members of the team are Bill Jones, Ross McDade, Kenneth Holt, Ed Shaver, Harold McLendon, and E. S. "Shep" Girault. The alternates are Herbert Land, Louis Whitfield, and Brice Pirtle.

Jones was low qualifier with a 71 McDade, formerly playing out of Shreveport but now making his home here, came in second with a 75. Holt and Shaver qualified with 77s, and McLendon and Girault carded 78s. Land, Whitfield and Pirtle tied in the seventh spot with 79s.

With the exception of McLendon and Pirtle, both of Bastrop, all members of the team are of the Twin Cities.

The team, with one exception, stacks up as the same aggregation that represented the Monroe district in the Louisiana State Golf Association's league play last season. The new addition is McDade, who replaces Art Kuhn, Bastrop, who did not contend for a place on the team this trip.

PAT ROONEY HURLS WAVE TO 12-4 WIN

NEW ORLEANS, April 9.—(P)—Pat Rooney pitched and batted the Tulane Greenies to a 12-4 victory over the Spring Hill Badgers here today.

Except for the fourth and fifth innings, when Spring Hill got four of its seven hits and scored all its runs. Rooney held the Badgers well in hand. An error helped in some of their scoring.

The Greenie pitcher led both teams in hits and runs batted in, with four each.

Glen Murphy pitched the whole game for Spring Hill, and dia full afternoon's work. When he tried to beat down he couldn't find the plate, and he walked twelve men.

Mugnier and Duffy led the Spring Hill attack with two hits apiece. A double by Mugnier was the Badgers' only extra base knock.

Score by innings:
Spring Hill 000 220 000—4 7 4
Tulane 201 420 03x—12 9 1
Murphy and Noshirt; Rooney and Rowden.

'O' CLUB MEETING SLATED TUESDAY

The "O" Club, lettermen's organization of Ouachita Parish High School, will hold a regular meeting here Tuesday night at 8 o'clock in the court room of the Ouachita parish courthouse.

Jase Johnson, public relations director for the organization, said "furthering of the athletic program for Ouachita" would be a chief topic of discussion.

Right now the club has a roster of about 50 members but there are numerous other former Lion athletes, men and women, eligible to join, and they are being urged to attend the meeting.

The workouts, slated to begin each

CITY LEAGUE WILL MEET WEDNESDAY

Room For One More Club In Softball Circuit; Umpires Wanted

The City Softball League, major circuit of the Twin Cities, is rapidly getting its house in order for the summer campaign, and Jack Hesketh, recreation director, last night said there is room for one more club in the league and that further organization plans would be made at a meeting here Wednesday night.

Seven teams are set to go, including Spatafora's Pharmacy, Monroe Recreation Parlor, Red Sox, Progressive Men's Club, Sears Roebuck, Hunt and Whitaker, Nichols Motors, and Calcutta Rice. The Calcutta Rice club in the latest addition, and Director Hesketh said the deadline for accepting any additional member club would be April 21.

Lining up umpires for the season is the big task facing the league right now.

Anyone interested in umpiring games is invited to be at the Wednesday night meeting, beginning at 7 o'clock, at the Monroe Recreation Center, 113 Catalpa street. Other meetings are scheduled for the umpires, and game officials will be paid $2 per game this season, double the pay last year.

All team managers are also due at the Wednesday meeting for discussion of softball rules in general and league rules in particular.

Ralph Marionneaux, manager of the Spatafora's Pharmacy club, runner-up for the championship last year, yesterday announced three workouts will be held by his team this week.

L. S. U. WINS N. C. A. A. BOXING CHAMPIONSHIP

TIGERS CAPTURE THRONE ON WINS BY MOSS, THRASH

Bengals Score 20 Points To Shade Michigan State; Davey Triumphs

By Bob Vokes
EAST LANSING, Mich., April 9.—(P)—Winning finalists in the two light-weight classes tonight gave Louisiana State University the team title in the 12th annual N. C. A. A. Boxing Tournament.

Sharing the glory with Louisiana was Michigan's Chuck Davey of Detroit who took the 145-pound crown to become the first fighter ever to win four N. C. A. A. championships. L. S. U. with 20 points, barely nosed out second-place Michigan State with 18 and San Jo. State with 17.

It was the first time Louisiana ever had won a team title in the tourney, dominated for the last four years by Wisconsin.

The two Bengal champions were W. O. (Pee Wee) Moss, game little 125-pounder, and Tad Thrash, who carried out the 130-pound title. Moss won from Mac Martinez of San Jose State, and Thrash beat out Norm Walker of Idaho, both by decisions.

Michigan State's Davey won the most lopsided bout of the evening as he outboxed Wisconsin's Don Dickinson by a country mile.

The Badger fighter, who was trying for a knockout, was hit coming in and going out by the faster Davey and never managed to land one of his roundhouse swings square enough to do any damage. Davey was awarded the John S. Lewis Memorial trophy as the best fighter in the tournament.

It was the third year he had taken the award.

Other point winners in the tourney were: Idaho, 13; Minnesota, 11; Wisconsin, 9; Miami, Fla., 9; Syracuse, 8; Maryland, 5; Army, 4; Catholic, 2; Washington State, 2; DePaul, Virginia and Superior, Wis., State Teachers, 1 each.

Wayne Fontes won the 155-pound title for San Jose by a split decision over Ed Rieder of Maryland. The California boy was the more consistent puncher and kept boring in steadily to harass Rieder and win the nod.

Minnesota's Colin Connell carried off the 165-pound championship by outpointing Jim Gemmell of Michigan State. Connell kept landing a solid right on the Spartan fighter from Detroit and also worked over Gemmell's body to tire him out.

Bronzed, husky Carl Bernardo of Miami slugged mercilessly at Peter Monroe of Army for three rounds to take the 175-pound title back to Florida. He won a unanimous decision.

Marty Crandell of Syracuse had an easy time in his heavyweight with Don Schaeffer of San Jose State, Crandell pounded at Schaeffer's face and body and wore down his guard to take the title by another unanimous vote.

There were no knockouts or T. K. O.'s during the eight final bouts. A crowd of 7,000 watched tonight's battles.

In winning, Michigan State's Davey proved that a boxer could beat a slugger he had Dickinson missing roundhouse swings and tagged him every time the stocky Badger wound up his Sunday punch.

Davey bloodied Dickinson's nose early in the bout and kept his stocky opponent off balance most of the fight by poking a long left into his face. It was the last college fight for Davey who is undefeated in four years of collegiate fighting.

W. O. (Pee Wee) Moss of Louisiana State won the 125-pound title by unanimous decision in the first bout of the evening. Moss punched gamely and landed some good blows on Mac Martinez of San Jose State.

The 130-pound fight was stopped at the end of the second round with Norm Walker of Idaho suffering a cut brown from a punch landed by Tad Thrash of Louisiana State.

Thrash, who had a slight margin in blows landed, was given the title and decision in the weight.

Walker's brother, Leonard, 19, did better in the 135-pound class as he took a split decision from Michigan State's Pat Daugherty, 23, of Flint, Mich.

Even the partisan M. S. C. crowd recognized that the fight was the strap as he outpunched Daugherty by about 3 to 1. Walker landed his most telling blows in the second round when Daugherty seemed unable to either cover up or counter-punch.

Davey, the Wisconsin fighter was the only entry left in the finals for the Badgers, who dominated the team.

VOLS BATTLE DELHI AT CLOYD'S TODAY

The West Monroe Volunteers, a power in the Little Eight League for two seasons but casting their lot with the Louisiana Delta League this year, appears in their first exhibition game of the season today.

The Vols will be at home at Cloyd Park, Natchitoches road, West Monroe, to the visiting Delhi club, a Delta League rival.

The game is scheduled to begin at 2:30 o'clock.

SEMINOLES WIN COMEDY OF ERRORS AT JACKSON

JACKSON, Miss., April 9.—(P)—Florida State handed the Millsaps College Majors their third loss in five starts here this afternoon, beating them 10-8 in a game that found both teams with more holes in their defenses than a sieve. A total of 18 miscues were chalked up, 10 of them by the Floridians.

Winning pitcher was the Seminole's Witt, who was constantly in trouble with both his wildness and his mates' errors. He issued seven free tickets to first to the Majors and allowed seven hits.

Ed Wiles, starting and finishing his first mound tour for the locals, gave only four walks, but was tagged for 10 safeties.

The Badger fighter, who was trying for a knockout, was hit coming in and going out by the faster Davey and never managed to land one of his roundhouse swings square enough to do any damage. Davey was awarded the John S. Lewis Memorial trophy as the best fighter in the tournament.

PLAIN DEALING, BOSSIER CLAIM TRACK LAURELS

Stratford, Neville High, Wins Turner Trophy At Northwestern Event

NATCHITOCHES, La., April 9.—(P)—Bossier and Plain Dealing high schools were title winners in the two divisions of the eleventh annual high school relays at Northwestern Louisiana Institute Saturday afternoon.

Southern Louisiana Institute dominated the three-relay competition between four Louisiana Gulf States Conference teams.

Plain Dealing repeated their first title win of last year but Istrouma, 1948 winner, ran third, back of Bossier and Byrd High, Shreveport rivals.

Bossier garnered 34 1/2 points to outdistance Byrd with 27 1/2 and Istrouma with 21. In the Class B and C division, Plain Dealing topped 22 points to top Dry Spring with 21 and West Lake with 20. West Lake won two relay events to give them third place.

Charles Stratford, of Neville High, Monroe, was awarded the Woodrow W. Turner trophy, a new award established this year by the Columbia High School coach. Stratford ran the low hurdles in 23.4 and finished second in the high hurdles.

Ralph Lane of Bolton High, Alexandria, was awarded the annual "N" Club trophy which goes annually to the outstanding athlete of the relay carnival. Lane vaulted 11 feet to win the pole vault and tied for first in the broad jump with a leap of 18 feet and 8 1/2 inches.

Northwestern State directed the relay carnival which was established by him 10 years ago. More than 30 teams entered the two high school divisions.

The summary:
Class A and AA
Pole vault: Lane, Bolton; Lawler, Fair Park; McHale, Bossier City. Height: 11 feet.

High jump: Brewer, Bolton; Lewis, Bossier; Green, Byrd; White, Fair Park; Bryant, Many (four-way tie for second place). Height: 5 feet 8 1/2 inches.

Shot put: Miller, Istrouma; Falkenberg, Bossier; Pyburn, Byrd. Distance: 49 feet 11 1/2 inches.

880-yard relay: Byrd (McFadden, Green, Haygood, Wideman); Istrouma, Bossier. Time: 1:35.1.

120-yard high hurdles: Zachary, Bolton; Stratford, Neville; Herring, Haynesville. Time: 16.

Discus: Pyburn, Byrd; Falkenberg, Bossier; Schroll, Bolton. Distance: 141 feet.

440-yard relay: Bossier (Cox, Miller, Sutton, Montabano); Byrd, Bolton. Time: 4:55.

AT LINCOLN PARK
LINCOLN, R. I., April 9.—(P)—Lawless Miss came from behind in the home stretch to win the mile and a sixteenth $2,500 Fal River Handicap by a length and three quarters today before a chilled 15,000 crowd at Lincoln Park.

The six-year-old Gallahad mare covered the distance in 1:45 1/5. She paid $3.80, $2.60 and $2.20.

Dancig Gob paid $3.40 and $2.80 to place. O. G. Kelley returned $3.20 for show.

The daily double paid $90 to holders of 567 tickets combining Colaborate and Freedom Ring.

AT GULFSTREAM
MIAMI, Fla., April 9.—(P)—L. Mc-Knight's topweight Agarian-U won Gulfstream Park's $5,000 Eva Holand Hamilton purse today—one of two features—in a photo finish with Col Jose Murillo's Anecdote.

Manna H, from the Sandy Strand stable, won the six furlong $5,000 Hollywood purse by two lengths. McKnight's Mr. Buster was second. Mrs. H. M. Goldstein's Mon's Day was a nose behind for third.

Despite the 123-pound impost, McKnight's seven-year-old gelding took the lead after the first turn in the mile and a sixteenth feature and held on to beat out Anecdote by a nose.

Agarian-U, winner of Gulfstream's Inaugural Handicap, returned the favorite's price of $5.30, $3.20 and $2.70 across the board for a $2 wager.

McKnight picked up $3,250 first money for Agarian-U's victory and added $1,000 for Mr. Buster's second in the Hollywood purse.

Manna H, trailed at fourth place at the start and didn't make the bid until the stretch. The winner of the second feature returned $9.00, $4.80 and $4.50 to $2 bettors.

Kingavie was third in the Hamilton followed by Tubby B., Friar Luck, Spring Sparrow and Code Light in that order.

High Shine, Speedy Lee, Striker Pilot and Scipio trailed the three leaders in the Hollywood.

Agarian-U was timed at 1:45 4/5 for the middle distance and Manna H. ran the sprint in 1:11.

ABBEVILLE

Nick Pappas, a limited service fitter.

Larry Buzinsky, a five-year veteran behind the plate, will offset the youthfulness of the mound staff. Buzinsky hit .303 with Muskogee, Okla., during 1948.

Another .300 hitter obtained from Muskogee, Thomas Barton, will patrol the center garden for the A's.

Left Fielder Curtis Fuentes, though with little experience, is touted by Love as a big league prospect. He hit .363 in the thirty games he played with Sherman, Texas, last year, before going on the injured list.

In right field, Love will have to choose from three promising rookies, Bill Ginter, Eddie Rossin and Jim Lopez. Of the three, Rossin seems to have the inside slot.

Bob Gayle, an all-around utility man who can do everything except pitch, has arrived in camp.

Toro, the third baseman, played with Abbeville last season and, although a bit erratic, slugged out a healthy .212 average.

Second Baseman Vincent Libert, a limited service man who hit .320 with Greenville in the Cotton States League, packs plenty of punch. He will team with distance-hitter Vegas to form what Love predicts will be the leading double-play combination in the Evangeline.

"Goldie" Goldberg, a familiar figure in the Evangeline since its beginning, went into the Caribbean to work six members of the team. Toro, Perez and Fuentes hail from Havana while Alonzo, Irizarry and Vegas are from Puerto Rico.

OLE MISS EVENS SERIES WITH ALABAMA, 8 TO 6

UNIVERSITY, Miss., April 9.—(P)—The University of Mississippi splurged with four runs in the eighth inning today to whip Alabama 8-6 and even the two-game baseball series.

The Tide won yesterday, 6-5. Ken Terry's no-hit relief pitching choked off the Tide in the final three innings, and his single in the eighth scored Sleepy Caldwell with the tying run.

Terry tallied the winning marker on Sonny White's single. Barney Poole's fourth single of the game scored White for the final out.

Alabama runs in the fourth and fifth erased an early Rebel advantage and the Tide held a 6-4 lead into the eighth. Caldwell tripled for the big hit in that frame his third of the tilt. Jennings Byrd collected three hits to pace Bama at bat.

By innings: 000 230 010-6 9 8 Mississippi; 012 001 04X-8 13 4 Ayres, Blemler and Dill; Tharp, Bullock, Terry and Cook.

SOUTHEASTERN GOLFERS AVENGE LOSS TO DEMONS

NATCHITOCHES, La., April 9.—(P)—Southern Louisiana College's golf team turned the tables on the Northwestern State College linksman here Saturday afternoon, winning 12 1/2 to 8 1/2 to avenge a previous loss to the Demons at Hammond.

Sam Anthony, No. 1 Demon and Francis Duroso, top Lion linksman, tied in their match. Mike Russell, of Northwestern State, defeated Aubrey Cole of the Lions. Anthony and Russell combined to win the foursome.

With the possible exception of Movie Actor Kirkwood, every one of the top eight is a seasoned tournament player who can be expected to do his best when the chips are down.

Kirkwood has not hit the tournament and came here virtually without preparation. All he did was shoot rounds of 73-72-70 over the 6,900 yard, par 72 Augusta National course in his first Masters and his first rounds of golf since early January.

Mangrum, leader for the first two days, dropped out of first place as a result of one bad hole. He hit into the pond on the short hole and had a five on the par three hole.

Keiser, who was tied with Mangrum for the lead yesterday, had an unplayable lie on the second hole and the penalty cost him an eight. He finished with a 78 and a three-day total of 221.

The defending champion, Claude Harmon, also was in the 221 bracket along with Jimmy Demaret, Lew Worsham, Chick Harbert and the leading Amateur, Charles Coe. Dr. Cary Middlecoff, the pre-tournament favorite, was even worse off with 225.

BORYLA OUTSTANDING

league with 39 homers and with 155 runs batted in last season while playing 153 games. In his present condition he doesn't figure to equal this fine performance.

Without Big Joe the brunt of Yankee power falls on the shoulders of Tommy Henrich and Charlie Keller and the latter's health has been questionable these last two years.

Casey Stengel is one of the three heavy managers in the league. If he gets the Yankees higher than third he could be the manager of the year. But Casey never has performed miracles. As a matter of fact in his nine years as National League pilot he never once got in the first division.

Connie Mack, whose tenth pennant has eluded him since 1932, has a powerful pitching staff but little else. However, at 88 he's not giving up on his Philadelphia Athletics. He thinks his A's will do better than last year when they were in the fight until the last month. They faded in the stretch yet finished only 2 1/2 games out.

Groth Is Prize Tiger
The Detroit Tigers, under new manager Red Rolfe, have a prize rookie in Centerfielder Johnny Groth, who hit .340 for Buffalo. First Baseman Ulysses (Tony) Lupien, has been obtained from the White Sox. The Tigers have good pitching. If Groth makes the grade he might supply the power the Bengals need to battle the A's for a first division berth.

The rest of the American League appears to be a fight for sixth place. The St. Louis Browns hold the edge with players like Bob Dillinger and Gerry Priddy. The return of Buddy Lewis may help Washington but it is doubtful if the deals the Nats made will strengthen them. The Chicago White Sox have a new pilot in Jack Onslow, a few new faces but only one .300 hitter in Luke Appling. They are picked for the cellar after having lost 101 games in 1948.

Dodgers Lack Big Stick
The Boston Braves, winners by 6 1/2 games over the St. Louis Cardinals and by 7 1/2 over Brooklyn, have the best 1-2 pitching punch in the National League in Johnny Sain and Southpaw Warren Spahn. Sain won 24 games to top both leagues last season. Spahn figures to improve on his 15 decisions.

The Braves have a well balanced team and their only weakness is the lack of everyday right-handed hitting outfielders. However, in Pete Reiser, obtained from Brooklyn, and Jim Russell they have two good switch hitters.

The solid man of the outfield is Tommy Holmes who has hit better than .300 five straight years. Big bats in the infield belong to Bob Elliott and Alvin Dark, who may develop into a really outstanding shortstop.

The Braves have in Billy Southworth a manager who in ten years in the majors always has finished in the first division. He has won three pennants and is favored to win another.

Burt Shotton handled the Dodgers in spring training this year for the first time. This is his team, they say. However, the Brooklyn picture still appears to have too many youths with good arms and legs. Rookie Cal Abrams is to be their new leadoff hitter. He's a rightfielder. They need hitting, especially since there still is no way to steal first base.

Pirates Most Improved
The Pittsburgh Pirates are the most improved team in either league. The strange purchase of Murry Dickson from the Cardinals and Rookie Bill Werle bolster an aging pitching staff that should see Bob Chernes blossom into a real star. Chernes came along late last summer. Werle, southpaw sinker ball specialist, was the rave for San Francisco last year where he won 17 and lost 7, five of them being one-run defeats.

Other Pirate pitching help should come from Hugh Casey, Brooklyn's 1947 World Series star who has regained his form. Bob Muncie, obtained from Cleveland, and Cliff Chambers, ex-Cub southpaw. Veteran Catcher Clyde McCullough, a Cub since 1940, is another valuable addition to a Buc team that has the league's best right-handed home run hitter in Ralph Kiner. In Bill Meyer the Pirates have the "manager of the year" of 1948, his freshman season.

The Cardinals are being relegated to fourth position. They have been weakened by the loss of Dickson, sold from right under Manager Eddie Dyer's nose by outgoing president, Bob Hannegan. They also have failed to come up with adequate replacements for Terry Moore, now a coach, and Whitey Kurowski, who has an ailing arm. However, the Cards still have a strong nucleus. The best hitter in the league, and Enos Slaughter and southpaw Harry Brecheen. With rookie pitching help the Red Birds would be tough.

Phillies Stronger
The Phillies, with an understanding manager in Eddie Sawyer, are picked to head the second division. Next to the Pirates, they have the most improved team in the league. Four valuable additions are former Cubs, Bill Nicholson, Eddie Waitkus, Hank Sawyer and Russ Meyer.

To this array are added such stars as Richie Ashburn, Del Ennis and a standout pitcher in Robin Roberts. If Puddin' Head Jones produces at third and Granny Hamner can take care of the shortstop job, the Phillies could pull a big surprise by getting into the first division.

The New York Giants, fifth last year, are dropped to sixth. As Leo Durocher prepares for his first full year as Giant pilot, his only improvements have been the addition of Pitchers Hank Behrman from Brooklyn and Sam Webb, 18-game Jersey City winner, and Outfielder Don Mueller who hit .358 in 36 games as a Giant last season.

Durocher's big problems are pitching depth and the slowness of foot of his home run hitters, Johnny Mize and Walker Cooper.

The Cubs and Cincinnati Reds will battle for seventh place, a repetition of 1948 when the Reds won the spot by half a game. The Cubs, it appears, got the worst of their deals with the Phillies for they lost two solid hitters in Nicholson and Waitkus. To fill the places of Borowy and Meyers they have Dutch Leonard and Monk Duibel.

The Reds might drop to the cellar unless Ewell Blackwell can come back after a kidney operation following a poor season. Their one bright pitching addition appears to be Harry Perkowski who won 22 for Tulsa last season. They also have a speedball in the outfield in Lloyd Merriam, a backup player who must stick but will may see little action with an outfield of Frank Baumholtz, Hank Sauer and Johnny Wyrostek on hand.

MANGRUM SLIPS INTO THREE-WAY TIE FOR SECOND

Snead, Kirkwood In Deadlock Just One Stroke Behind Leader

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.
AUGUSTA, Ga., April 9.—(P)—Johnny Palmer was in front at the three quarter pole but still was anybody's race in the 13th Masters Golf Tournament today.

Palmer, who was picked by his fellow professionals to compete in this tourney, shot a steady 70 today for a 54-hole total of 214. That gave him a one-stroke margin over Sam Snead, who caused Johnny to be almost ignored by the gallery as they played together, Joe Kirkwood, Jr., and Lloyd Mangrum.

Three others, Jim Ferrier, Johnny Bulla and Jim Turnesa, had even par 216 totals and one, Clayton Heafner, a 217. These figures left them all in excellent positions for the spring to the finish tomorrow. Snead and Ferrier made up more ground than that in one round today with a pair of five-under-par 67's, the best scores of the tournament. At the same time Herman Keiser, one of the 36-hole leaders, fell far back and Byron Nelson faded away from his threatening position.

With the possible exception of Movie Actor Kirkwood, every one of the top eight is a seasoned tournament player who can be expected to do his best when the chips are down.

Kirkwood has not hit the tournament and came here virtually without preparation. All he did was shoot rounds of 73-72-70 over the 6,900 yard, par 72 Augusta National course in his first Masters and his first rounds of golf since early January.

Mangrum, leader for the first two days, dropped out of first place as a result of one bad hole. He hit into the pond on the short hole and had a five on the par three hole.

Keiser, who was tied with Mangrum for the lead yesterday, had an unplayable lie on the second hole and the penalty cost him an eight. He finished with a 78 and a three-day total of 221.

The defending champion, Claude Harmon, also was in the 221 bracket along with Jimmy Demaret, Lew Worsham, Chick Harbert and the leading Amateur, Charles Coe. Dr. Cary Middlecoff, the pre-tournament favorite, was even worse off with 225.

KEEPING HIS HAND IN BATON ROUGE

fore had their qualifying play rained out, are moving right into the state title semi-finals, meeting Lake Charles next Sunday at Alexandria.

They were scheduled to meet Shreveport in their first round matches last Sunday, but Shreveport notified Monroe the day before that the Caddo team would default. Had Shreveport not notified in time of the intent to forfeit, the Monroe district team would probably have been decided last Saturday week despite bad weather, but when the Shreveport notice came the local linksman agreed to put off their qualifying trial until more favorable weather prevailed.

Shreveport, Alexandria, New Iberia and Baton Rouge have already been ousted from league play.

Remaining matches pit Lafayette's defending champions against New Orleans, and Monroe against Lake Charles last Sunday, while Lafayette stopped Baton Rouge and New Orleans beat New Iberia.

LOUISIANA TECH NINE TO BATTLE EL DORADO CLUB

Oilers Visit Bulldogs At Ruston
Tomorrow Afternoon
At 3 O'Clock

RUSTON, La., April 9.—(Special)—Louisiana Tech's diamondmen are scheduled to play the first of a two-game series with the El Dorado Oilers at Ruston Monday at 3 p. m. The second contest is billed for 8 p. m. Wednesday at El Dorado.

In their opener of the season at Ruston, the local Bulldogs were shaded by Shreveport's Sports, 5-3. Later the Techmen trimmed the Vicksburg Billies here 9-18 and lost to the Billies at Vicksburg 5-3.

The Bulldogs are booked to begin Gulf States conference competition with Spring Hill college of Mobile, Ala., at Ruston on Monday, April 18. Coach Berry Hinton has announced the following batting order for Tech: Bob Brasher, center field; James Pace, shortstop; Toby Smith, right field; Lester Burks, first base; Ben Carroll, catcher; John Long, second base; Racer Holstead, third base; E. J. Albritton, left field; and Pete Adkins, starting pitcher, with Doug Colvin slated for relief duty.

The same lineup will be used at El Dorado Wednesday night, with T. L. (Lefty) Smith on the mound for the Bulldogs.

S'WESTERN RELAYS ADD 5 NEW EVENTS

LAFAYETTE, La., April 9.—(P)—Five new events will feature the 21st annual running of the Southwestern Relays in McNary Stadium here on April 14th.

Relay Director Johnny Morris today announced return of the hop, step and jump into the college and high school divisions.

Also, there'll be contests in the sprint medley and the mile relay in the junior college division, and the high hurdles for high schoolers.

The sprint medley mark of three minutes, 34.2 seconds was set by Southern Louisiana Institute in 1941. This time the mark will be assaulted by a crack East Texas State's Teachers' relay squad.

The Texans last year captured victories in the medley in the Texas Relays, Drake Relays and the Kansas Relays.

The college two-mile record, set in 1935, will be tottering before the efforts of Louisiana State University, current record holder, and the University of Arkansas.

Elwood Robertson, star East Texas hurdler, Lone Star Conference champ, will aim for the 1941 record of 14.8 seconds. He has been clocked in the event as low as 14.4 seconds.

ENGINEERS AGAIN LOSE TO KENTUCKY CATS, 9-8

ATLANTA, April 9.—(P)—Kentucky's Wildcats made it two in a row over the Georgia Tech baseball team today, winning 9-8 in ten innings. The Wildcats won 14-7 yesterday.

The visitors jumped to a 6 to 4 lead by tallying three times in the seventh. The Engineers also scored three times in their side of the inning, however, and registered again in the ninth.

The Wildcats caught up with scores in the eighth and ninth and scored another run in the extra inning while keeping the Jackets under control.

championship for the past four years. He was out to revenge an earlier double defeat at fists of the faster-stepping Spartan who made him look futile in their one meeting.

After beating Davey, Dickinson could salvage some glory for fight-crazy Wisconsin.

Davey had a proud record to uphold. He wanted to help Michigan State to the team championship and not to lose his last college fight before a home crowd.

Also, he hoped to either turn pro or get a college coaching job and a defeat wouldn't help his chances.

Davey also was fighting for his younger brother, Bert, tonight. Bert, a regular starter with the M. S. C. boxing team is hospitalized with two broken legs suffered in a hit-and-run auto accident. And the one thing that has cheered him in his hospital bed has been his brother's repeated string of victories.

Collegiate history also is likely to be made in the team championship. The three front runners, Michigan State, San Jose State and Louisiana State, never have taken an N. C. A. A. title in the 12 years of the tourney.

The Spartans and the Californians each had three survivors in the finals. Louisiana State and Idaho with two each also rated a mathematical chance for the team triumph.

Final summaries:

125-pound—W. O. Moss, Louisiana State, defeated MacMaetner, San Jose State, decision.

130-pound—Ted Thrash, Louisiana State, defeated Norm Walker, Idaho, decision. (Bout stopped after second round because of cut above Walker's eye.)

135-pound—Len Walker, Idaho, defeated Pat Dougherty, Michigan State, decision.

145-pound—Chuck Davison, Michigan State, defeated Don Dickinson, Wisconsin, decision.

155-pound—Wayne Fontes, San Jose State, defeated Eddie Rieder, Maryland, decision.

165-pound—Colin Connel, Minnesota, defeated Jim Gemmell, Michigan State, decision.

175-pound—Carl Bernardo, Miami, defeated Peter Monroe, army, decision.

MONARCHS PLAY EXHIBITION HERE

Kansas City Negro Nine Meets
Monroe Team This Afternoon
At Casino Park

The Kansas City Monarchs, second half winners of the Negro American League last year, in spring training here, will get into their first exhibition game of the season against the recently organized Monroe Monarchs at Casino Park here this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock.

The Kansas City squad, arriving here in the past week, has been hard at work under the direction of player-manager John O'Neil and Secretary William "Dizzy" Dismukes.

Hardy Goins, formerly manager of the Cinderella Sports of Monroe, has taken over direction of the Monroe Monarchs. While Kansas City has not named its battery, Goins said last night that J. B. Williams, a lefthander, would start on the mound for the host club with himself and Woodrow Cane to appear in relief roles.

Infielder Bonnie Serrell, of Dallas, Texas, joined the Kansas City club here and from his diamond work in spring training there is little doubt that he will again be a sensation in the Monarch lineup. Serrell joined the Satchel Paige All-Stars in 1939 when he was 17 years old. He was playing the infield when he joined the Monarchs in 1941 and was the regular second baseman until Jackie Robinson joined the Monarchs at which time Serrell was shifted to first. In 1946 Serrell jumped to Mexico, where he was acknowledged as the best second baseman in the Latin countries, according to Pitcher Booker McDaniels. Serrell, 27 years old, weighs 180 pounds and stands six feet, one inch in height, and is a long distance hitter. He throws right and bats from the left, and is a consistent hitter with an average of better than .300. According to O'Neil, Serrell is just about everything a ball player should be and his speed on the bases is unmatched.

The Monarchs are counting heavily on Outfielder Bob Thurman this year as one of their power hitters. Thurman was with the Homestead Grays of the defunct Negro National League in 1947 and 1948 and has played winter ball in Puerto Rico the past season where he tied in home runs (18) with the Monarch home run king, Willard Brown, formerly with the St. Louis Browns. Thurman weighs 186 pounds, stands six feet, one inch, bats and throws left. Thurman hit the ball for a sizzling .411 average in the Puerto Rican Winter League this past year. He is 25 years old and is one of the most powerful long distance hitters in the league.

MAROONS HAND BENGALS SECOND STRAIGHT LOSS

BATON ROUGE, La., April 9.—(P)—Mississippi State's baseball team scooted from behind in the sixth inning to give Louisiana State its second straight setback, 9-7, today.

The Bengals' Maroon Maundman Billy Johnson in the fifth with four tallies to lead, 7-4.

But the Maroons broke loose in the next stanza with three runs to tie it up. They went ahead with one each in the eighth and ninth for the victory.

Reliever Joe Spehard, who replaced Johnson for Mississippi State, allowed the Tigers only one hit and no runs. He was credited with the victory.

Maroon second baseman Jimmy Bragan hit in four out of five trips. Lee Hedges, L. S. U. centerfielder, clouted three for four.

PARISH SOFTBALL MEET STATUS STILL UNCERTAIN

FERRIDAY, La., April 9.—(Special)—Whether the annual school softball tournament will be held in Concordia parish this spring is still questionable, according to Parish Superintendent of Education Jesse S. Burris of Vidalia.

Reason for the uncertainty, he said, is the high water, which has forced closure of some of the schools.

However, equipment is being purchased, and games are being scheduled in the elementary grades, according to Burris.

BOYD HURLS VICTORY

LAFAYETTE, La., April 9.—(P)—Lafayette's Dalton Boyd fashioned a brilliant 9-hitter to lead Southwestern Louisiana Institute to a 5-1 baseball victory over the Lafayette Bulls here last night. Boyd's teammates rapped three Lafayette pitchers for 9 hits and an easy win.

FOUR MAINE CHANCES

RESCUE SHAFT

feel Kathy cannot be anything but all right."

The child's father, David H. Ficus, asked how he felt about the chances of finding Kathy alive, said:

"Let's not discuss it please, please don't."

Tears came to his eyes as he waved the reporter away. The family spent most of the day in a sedan parked about 50 yards from the scene. They leafed through telegrams from friends and well wishers as they prayed and hoped.

Engineers have driven two shafts parallel to the abandoned pipeline that imprisons little Kathy.

The first, started shortly after she fell into the banded water well, was given up a few hours later at 70 feet. It was three feet in diameter.

The second, 30 feet across at the mouth, was abandoned at 57 feet today because of the danger of caveins and inability of the big clam shovels to operate efficiently beyond that point.

This was the shaft from which Kelly sighted the arm and dress. But officials deemed it too dangerous to dig deeper there. So rotary drilling was resumed in the original rescue shaft.

As digging neared the 100-foot mark in the narrower shaft, plans were made to lower a 24-inch corrugated pipe in five sections, each 20 feet long. The bottom section already has a three-foot oval hole cut in it to make it possible for a workman to start tunneling toward the well holding Kathy captive.

After the sections have been bolted together, the workman will be lowered by rope to the bottom of the shaft. From there, using drill and shovel, he will dig through to the well pipe. A power saw will be used to cut through to the girl.

The rotary rig which is doing all the basic digging is powered by a gasoline engine and is steadiest by a 30-foot derrick. Digging is a slow and involved process, as the bit that scoops up the dirt is only two feet high and 30 inches across.

Moreover, the rig consists of several sections that have to be taken apart and reassembled after every load of dirt is brought to the surface. The rate of digging was estimated at about a quarter of a yard of dirt each eight minutes.

The rescue shaft is only three feet from the opening of the well at the surface. Hill said it could only be hoped the well pipe did not drift away sharply at the bottom.

As darkness settled and the all-out rescue effort went into its second night, hundreds of persons still pressed against police ropes around the scene. Traffic in the entire area was congested.

Dr. Robert J. McCulloch, the physician, said shock and unconsciousness might be sufficient to preclude struggling and fear in the mind of the child and sustain her until such time as rescuers get to her.

No sound had been heard from the child since she answered her mother with faint cries shortly after tumbling into the 14-inch pipe at 4:45 p.m. yesterday. Rescue workers have been unable to determine whether she is still alive.

At noon today Construction Engineer Don Metz said a hole had been drilled into the side of the old pipe at a depth of 75 feet and that a worker, shining a flashlight, believed he sighted a portion of a dress.

This afternoon the workers shifted operations to a rescue shaft which had been abandoned at 70 feet last night. Engineers said they were quitting the 75-foot shaft, from which the hole in the well pipe was drilled, because it was unsupported and more digging would be dangerous in the sand structure.

A casing, large enough to accommodate a man, was being inserted in the shaft. By 1:30 p.m. (P. S. T.) today this operation had gone to 90 feet. It was planned to carry the hole to 100 feet and then dig toward the girl's pipe prison and cut another hole in it at the lower depth.

Rescuers said there is a slight drift in the pipe at the 100-foot depth and it is believed she may be at that point.

Metz said the object which appeared to be a dress was sighted at the 95-foot level by looking through the hole which was cut with electric saws.

"We don't know where the little girl is," said Raymond A. Hill, supervising the operations. "All we know is that she is more than 75 feet deep in the pipeline. We'll be here all afternoon and well into the evening."

Engineers said the work was exceedingly dangerous because the rescue shaft was dug without supporting timbers. "This stuff is pretty soft, watch it," came a voice from below the microphone at one point.

"Look out, there's a slide."

O. A. Kelly, an experienced machinist, went through a lateral tunnel to the old pipe and cut the hole in it. "I've got to drill delicately," he shouted up. "That pipe is rusty, in fact it's rotten."

Police estimated that approximately 5,000 persons, standing quietly or talking in subdued voices, were at the scene.

Engineer Metz said he believed "there's a better than an even chance that she's still alive if there's not water where she is, and we know there's very little water above the 200-foot level."

However, a doctor, who declined use of his name, said he believed that "under the circumstances, I think the longest she could have continued to breathe would be four hours."

Fire Chief Jimmy Dold said he believed there is a chance the girl may be alive.

Unable to reach Kathy through the pipe, the rescuers drilled a 75-foot shaft paralleling the well and then dug a lateral shaft and reached the old well casing this morning.

When the lateral shaft reached the old corroded pipe in which Kathy was trapped, electric rotary saws were lowered to a four-man crew of miners.

Driller Al Linnell telephoned up that his crew had hit the old well pipe. He called for a short shovel and reported:

"We're cleaning it out and now we're going to clean out around the pipe and sound it for an obstruction. We want to listen close to the pipe and we can't hear a thing."

At this point Linnell's early crew

EASTER SEALS STILL ON SALE

Public Urged To Make Use Of Stickers And To Remit
Cash

The week preceding Easter marks the final stage of the annual Easter seal sale. Easter seals have been placed in all the schools and mailed directly to homes and places of business. Placards and stickers are in prominent store windows. Booths will be erected on DeSiard street in order to let the appeal for help to crippled and handicapped children and adults be made directly to downtown shoppers.

The need for funds is greater now than ever before. Nationwide the public is becoming conscious of this humane effort to aid and assist afflicted and crippled persons regardless of race, color, or creed.

Our local clinic held in the health center every Thursday gives treatment and medical aid, etc., to an average of eighty patients. Local orthopedic surgeons and pediatricians give of their time to examine and treat the patients. Sandwiches and milk are furnished by the clinic to those who come from out of town. The sandwiches are made by the Red Cross and for April and May will be served by the Dixie chapter of the Eastern Star under the guidance of Mrs. Sallie Zufall, Mrs. Amy Newburn and Mrs. Mae Fitch.

Patients from 14 parishes come to Monroe to obtain the services of the clinic as it is the only one in north-east Louisiana. Doctors' services are available to all with the Ouachita unit meeting emergency obligations for patients from Ouachita parish.

The Easter seal sale is the only method used by the Crippled Children's Society for raising funds to carry on the far-reaching program for crippled and afflicted children and adults. Each person receiving Easter seals in the mails are asked to return their contribution as soon as possible. Some persons did not receive seals due to a possible oversight, but all are urged to contribute. Checks may be made out to "Crippled Children" and mailed to Crippled Children's Society.

Booths for the Easter seal drive for the final week before Easter located on DeSiard street and in West Monroe will be manned as follows:

Booth in front of Woolworth's, Monroe: Monday, April 11, Kiwanis Club; Tuesday, April 12, Lions Club; Wednesday, April 13, Exchange Club; Thursday, April 14, Crippled Children's Society, board members; Friday, April 15, police department; Saturday, April 16, firemen.

Booth in front of Central Savings Bank: Monday, April 11, American Legion; Tuesday, April 12, Junior Chamber of Commerce; Wednesday, April 13, Council of Jewish Women; Thursday, April 14, B'Nai Brith; Friday, April 15, North Louisiana Shrine Club; Saturday, April 16, Neville Tigrettes.

Booth in West Monroe: Monday, April 11, fire department; Tuesday, April 12, police department; Wednesday, April 13, American Legion; Thursday, April 14, W. M. Lions Club; Friday, April 15, W. M. Kiwanis Club; Saturday, April 16, Civic League.

Colored booth located at Five Points will be in charge of Harriet Foster for the entire week working with the various colored organizations.

RALEIGH POULOS OPTIMIST CHIEF

Raleigh Poulos was re-elected president of the Optimist Club of Greater Monroe at the regular meeting Friday afternoon.

Other officers elected were: First vice-president, Roger Dishongh; second vice-president, C. R. Tillman; secretary, M. C. Plummer, re-elected; treasurer, Sylvian Masur; parliamentarian, Harry Hayes, re-elected; sergeant-at-arms, Major Laverne Rivers; board of governors, 2 terms: J. C. Lolley; board of governors, 1 term, Byron Breard, John Yarbrough, William Bennett, Jr., Wiley Thompson, Ivy McDonald.

The installation of the above named officers will take place at the next meeting, Friday, April 15, 1944.

The Optimist Club will engage in their first softball practice of the season Tuesday night at 7:30 at Neville High School, stated Manager R. T. Lolley.

The winning team in the recently completed membership drive will be treated to a barbecue by the losing side on April 20. J. C. Lolley captained the winners, while his brother, R. T. Lolley, was the leader of the losing team.

WEST MONROE POST TO MEET MONDAY

The Burnett-Downs Post 201, the American Legion, will meet on Monday, April 11 at 7:30 p.m. in the V. F. W. home on Natchitoches street in West Monroe. This will be a very important meeting and all members are urged to attend. Several important topics will be discussed. There will be reports made on junior baseball, Boys' State, child welfare and a report from the building committee.

After the meeting there will be entertainment and refreshments. Commander Wilks wants as many that can be present at the meeting and extends a cordial invitation to all veterans that do not belong to the legion to meet with the post.

332 AWARDS TO SCOUTS GIVEN

Unusually Large Number Recognized In Court Of Honor Exercise

Over three hundred and fifty Scouts, their parents and friends attended the April Central District Boy Scout Court of Honor, held in the Crosley School in West Monroe, Friday night. Highlight of the court program was the presenting of the Eagle Scout badge to Scout Lytle Matkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Matkins, of Sterling. The presentation was made in a very impressive manner by Tom Hayes, Jr., chairman of the central district, who had Mrs. Matkins pin on Scout Matkins' Eagle badge, and then had the Scout present his mother with a miniature Eagle badge.

Scoutmaster Tom Wafer, and other Eagle Scouts, also participated in the ceremony. Three hundred thirty-two awards, including sixty-seven new Tenderfoot Scouts who have entered Scouting since February, were made to Scouts attending the court. There were also many merit badges on various subjects and rank advancements for every Scout rank. There was a special attendance award, which was won by troop 23, sponsored by the First Presbyterian Church, Monroe. This award is made at each Court of Honor to the troop for the largest percentage of Scouts and parents present. The court, which was presided over by Advancement Chairman Judge Jesse Heard, was opened with a flag ceremony led by members of troop 13, sponsored by the First Baptist Church, West Monroe. Following this was an impressive Tenderfoot investiture ceremony for new Scouts, and a Scout movie entitled, "The Years Between." Awards were made by Scoutmasters to their own troops.

LUNCH PROGRAM LIMITED
FERRIDAY, La., April 9.—(Special)—Because they were lacking in equipment space and size of staff to participate in the state's regular rural program this year the Negro rural schools have signed up for the limited program, J. S. Burris, parish superintendent of education states. They are receiving some of the surplus commodities furnished by the federal government. Irish potatoes, dried eggs and powdered milk were issued to several of them during the past week and more will be issued next week.

FATHER EBY TO PREACH TODAY

Monroe Theologian Is Home
For Short Time From British Guiana

Rev. J. Murray Eby, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Eby, of Monroe, is to preach the Palm Sunday morning sermon at the Grace Episcopal Church today. He is on short leave from his church in British Guiana.

He attended Northeast Junior College and then later entered the University of the South in Sewanee, Tenn., receiving his bachelor's degree there. After graduating he accepted a position as adviser to Episcopal students in Louisiana State Normal (in Northwestern State College). Later he did theological work in Virginia Theological Seminary in Alexandria, Va.

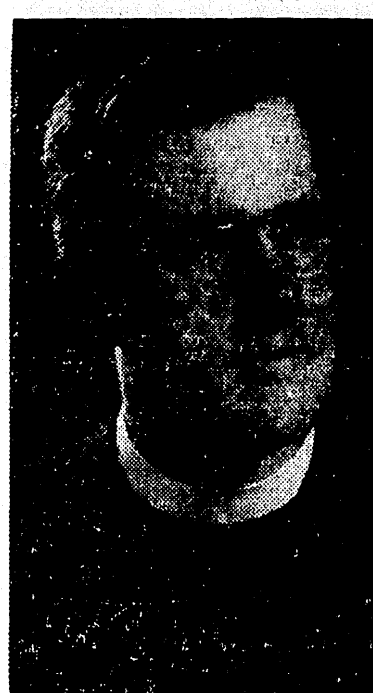

After his studies at the seminary, he became canonically attached to the Diocese of Guiana. The Rt. Rev. Robert Campbell, O. H. C., retired Bishop of Liberia, acting on behalf of the Lord Bishop of Guiana with license from the Bishop of Long Island, ordained Father Eby to the Monastery Church of Our Lady of the Angels of the little town of Port Antonio, L. I.

Father Eby is vicar of St. Mark's parish which includes St. John's and St. Andrew's churches. Together with his regular duties in St. Mark's parish, Father Eby is also vicar of St. Stephen's parish which also includes other churches.

Father Eby is also the official chaplain of the government leper colony between St. Marks and St. Stephen's parishes. All told, he has 1,000 communicants in his area.

The keynote of the church's work in British Guiana is poverty; the financial burden falls to the lot of the clergy. Since its complete disestablishment in 1945, the diocese has been able to make ends meet. The church has charge of educating 80 per cent of the children of the colony between ages of five to 14 years.

While in the United States, Father Eby will endeavor to stir up interest in the church in the province of the West Indies as a whole, as well as in his own diocese of Guiana.

He expects to sail for British Guiana from Boston June 10, on the Canadian National steamship line.

COTTAGE DESTROYED

FERRIDAY, La., April 9.—(Special)—The plantation known as "Cat Point" half-way between St. Joseph and Waterproof was the scene of a fire Thursday when a 4-room cottage occupied by Ben Duncan and family was destroyed. While the fire department of St. Joseph responded promptly and made a record run the house was practically consumed when the engine arrived on the scene. Very little of the household effects were saved. The property belongs to Henry Marks, of Natchez, Miss., and was insured.

MAY ERECT VET WAR MEMORIAL

Catahoula Discusses New Health Center As Desirable

JONESVILLE, La., April 9.—(Special)—Catahoula parish may have a veterans memorial health center if a proposal discussed at a meeting of the police jury this week is approved.

Veterans over the parish are being asked if they will approve of making their planned war memorial at Harrisonburg a building, badly needed to house the parish health unit, instead of a park atop Fort Hill.

Also discussed at the meeting was the possibility of having small health centers in Harrisonburg, Sicily Island and Jonesville, instead of a large center at Harrisonburg.

C. Scott Yeager, Jr., Alexandria architect who spoke at the meeting, was asked to find out whether the federal and state governments would provide two-thirds of the cost of three small buildings and to report his findings at the May meeting of the police jury. He was also asked to prepare estimates on the costs of the building. A two-million veterans memorial tax was levied in Catahoula last year and will end this year. The $16,000 memorial fund was originally intended for development of a park on Fort Hill, but can be used for Catahoula's one-third share of constructing health unit housing if agreed to by the veterans.

TERMITE STOP THEM NOW!!

KINGPIN - that's you!

IT happens every year, sure as spring comes.

There dawns a day, warm and inviting and fragrant with freshness, when the winter cares are shed like a cloak — and you're suddenly younger than your years.

Lucky the man who has this handsome carriage as his answer to that moment.

He'll pull a knob on the dash of his ROADMASTER — and the top will swing back. He'll touch the treadle — and 150 valve-in-head horsepower will leap into life, eager as a setter scenting the start of the chase.

He'll move a lever — and smoothly, with whirling oil transmitting his engine's power, move off through tangles of traffic into the open countryside without even thinking about clutch-pedals and gearshifting or the like.

He's free to have fun — free to drink in spring's glories — free to dawdle or to dash as whim decides — and he knows his level-riding ROADMASTER will instantly, silkily answer his every bidding.

Kingpin — that's what he is!

Kingpin — that you are when you've prepared yourself with the gorgeous ROADMASTER Convertible, so eye-catching in its beauty, so completely unmatched in its ability to thrill!

You say you haven't got a ROADMASTER Convertible! With factory production mounting, that's not so difficult to correct — and it's probably less costly than you think.

Just see us — soon — and you'll waste no time getting a firm order in!

BUICK alone has all these features

WIDE RANGE OF YOUNG FASHIONS TO BE EXHIBITED AT GA. TUCKER

A wide range of juvenile fashions range from nighties to evening clothes will be shown at the "Mother Goose" fashion show which the Monroe Literary Club will sponsor at the Georgia Tucker school for the benefit of the school's drinking fountain fund on Monday, April 18. Children from the student body will model the clothes to be exhibited.

Mrs. H. Roberts is serving as general chairman of the event with Mrs. J. R. Dillon as co-chairman. Other members of the committee which is making plans for the event are as follows: Mrs. Richard Troy, tickets; Mrs. Henry Hinkle, publicity; Mrs. Gilbert Faulk, narration; Mrs. Annette Lewis, narrator; Mrs. Gerald Olcott, Mrs. William Ruple, Mrs. Floyd Stone, and Mrs. Z. T. Stone, decorations; Mrs. Charles Slade, Jr., Mrs. D. Fisk, properties; Mrs. Arthur Wedemeyer, instruction of models, and Mrs. Dave Aron, program.

B. T. U. Class Fetes Bridal Couple At Recent Miscellaneous Shower

The senior B. T. U. class of Central Baptist Church entertained at a miscellaneous shower, for P. F. C. and Mrs. Bill Franks in the social room of the church recently. Mrs. Franks is the former Miss Mary Nell Travis.

Mrs. Elvin Williams acted as "captain of the event."

Mrs. Earnest Hinton and Mrs. Roy Martin presided at the guest book. Mrs. Robert Keller and Mrs. Wayne Christman served punch. The table bore a lace table cloth, and a center piece of white with bride and groom figures, flanked by crystal candle holders.

Mrs. Leroy Travis and Mrs. Lester Travis assisted in serving.

Miss Kathleen Greenlee and Mrs. Paul Murphy presided at the gift table.

The artists who fashion those fabulous floral arrangements at the FLOWER SHOPPE have dreamed up some beautiful bouquets for Easter. They have flowers in Easter egg containers, and others arranged around the traditional egg, that will make the most discerning recipient grateful. It costs no more to patronize the best floral shop in town, for any order.

It would be a hardhearted mother of a small boy or a little girl who could resist the wonderful Easter suits and dainty dresses that are to be found at the YORK CHILDREN'S DEPARTMENT STORE on DeSiard Street. Stop in there tomorrow and do your Easter shopping for the small fry in your household and you'll know that they'll be smartly outfitted.

If the lady of the household has spring fever as most ladies have these days, she won't feel like doing much cooking. In such an event the family will always fare well at the HOLLYWOOD RESTAURANT where there's curb service outside and dining deluxe inside. There's a delightful new cocktail lounge there too where you'll find all your favorite beverages.

There's no place just like TOBY'S COCKTAIL LOUNGE if you're looking for music and dancing with your drinks. Located on Louisville Avenue, it's just the spot to tarry, with soft lights and sweet music in the background. Meet your friends there the next time you're looking for a place to go.

MUSICIAN

Miss Ethel Rose Rogers, sophomore music major at Northeast Junior College, who will present a piano-organ recital at Brown auditorium tomorrow night at 8 o'clock.

Betty Davis Entertained At Tea-Shower At Home Of Mrs. W. H. Giles

Mrs. W. H. Giles and her daughter, Mrs. Carl Nichols, of Bastrop, were hostesses in the Giles home on Hilltop, recently at a tea-shower honoring Miss Betty Davis who will be a bride of the Easter season.

Miss Davis with the hostesses and her mother, Mr. Harry Davis, received guests in the living room which was decorated with spring flowers.

During a brief program Mrs. A. M. Serex sang two solos.

Miss Davis' niece, Barbara Joe Turrentine, presented her with an Easter basket containing clues to where the cleverly hidden gifts were to be found. The candlelit tea table bore a cut-work cloth and an arrangement of bridal-wreath and white iris. Mrs. G. R. Younse presided at the tea table and she was assisted by Mrs. Carol Nichols and Mrs. Charles Turrentine.

Miss Davis wore a navy sheer frock with a corsage of talisman roses, gift of the hostesses.

News From The YWCA

All clubs of the Y-Teens have been engaged in activities during the past week. Club programs have been held on "Personality" and "Good Grooming." One group had lunch at the "Y." One club has been interested in dramatics and has been using its club period for practice on a skit. The clubs have elected their presidents and vice-presidents for the next year. The Blue Circle Club elected: Claudette Schroder as president, and Nancy Golsen as vice-president; the Y-D Awake Club elected: Violet Venable as president, and Yvonne Fisher as vice-president; the Honest Injuns Club elected: Syble McKay as president and Etta Jean Masling as vice-president, and the Ambitious Teens Group elected Dorothy McCormick as president and Barbara Bedenbener as vice-president. Four other clubs have scheduled the election of officers this next week. Plans for the annual Easter service were completed and the service will be held at the "Y" on Thursday, April 14, at 4:15 p. m.

YRG's Club

The YRG's Club met at the "Y" for its regular supper get-together. The program consisted of a "roundtable discussion" on favorite scriptures in the Bible.

The meeting of the Business and Professional Girls' Club honored Miss Ruth Hundley whose birthday fell on the club meeting day by presenting her with a gift, a birthday cake and singing "Happy Birthday." The delegates who attended the week-end conference in Little Rock discussed the activities of the conference. Jean Marshfield, a former member of the club, attended the club session and three new members, Jane Renaud, Kiki Gatzoulas, and Besie Kocotas, and a guest, Frances Neely, were welcomed.

The Y-Wives' Club met at a utility company kitchen and witnessed a demonstration by Mrs. Ernestine Flaherty. Lunch was served to the members following the demonstration.

The Y. W. C. A. board met on Thursday with Mrs. T. H. Scott, president, presiding. Mrs. Ruth Hundley gave the devotional, and reports by committee chairmen were given. Plans for Y-Week from April 24-30 were discussed by Mrs. A. R. Dougherty, chairman for special meetings; Mrs. E. P. Cudd, membership chairman; and Mrs. P. B. Snodgrass, publicity chairman. Mrs. A. D. Tisdale, chairman of public affairs, discussed topics of current interest.

Local Women To Attend League Session Opening Sunday In Shreveport

Mrs. A. Dent Tisdale, president of the League of Women Voters of Louisiana will motor to Shreveport Sunday for the annual meeting of the Louisiana league.

Social features of the meeting will be two luncheons and one banquet. A large delegation of leaguers from every district in the state will be in attendance.

Mrs. C. U. Johnson will accompany Mrs. Tisdale and will be a guest in the home of Mrs. W. E. Wilson, former resident of this city.

Betty Sue Jones Feted At Interesting Parties During This Week

Two interesting parties were given in honor of Miss Betty Sue Jones, fiancée of Mr. Age Glud this week. On Thursday Mrs. A. V. Broad and Mrs. Louis Milner, Jr., entertained at a small Country Club luncheon in her honor.

A centerpiece of azaleas decorated the luncheon table and the guest of honor was presented with a corsage of white split carnations. The guests were Mrs. C. K. Crandall, Mrs. W. C. Royce, Mrs. Roy Johns, Mrs. Roy Brooks, Mrs. E. F. Jones, and Miss Jones.

On Tuesday the Presbyterian Fellowship group entertained at a surprise party at the Y. W. C. A. in honor of the engaged couple.

The refreshment table was decorated with white candles and a three-tiered cake adorned with bride and groom figurines. The honor guests were presented a gift of silver. Guests included:

Mrs. C. K. Crandall, Mrs. Ruth Hundley, Miss Dot Grant, Miss Addie Boggs, Miss Jane Shea, Miss Marion Simmons, and Miss Nina Maddux.

Miss Lottie Mae Ewing, Miss Kitty McCoy, Mr. Harry Liner, and Mr. Charles Albright.

Mr. Moody O'Neal, Mr. Graham Hughes, and Mr. Robert Jones.

Williams-Curry

Miss Kathryn Marie Curry, of Mangham, became the bride of Haywood B. Williams, S. N. U. S. navy, in a ceremony conducted by the Rev. J. L. Davis in the First Baptist Church of St. Joseph, March 25, at six-thirty p. m. Mrs. Williams is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Curry of St. Joseph and Mangham, and Mr. Williams, of Saline, is the son of Mrs. Lucy Williams and Mr. Haywood Williams.

Mrs. Robert Wilson furnished the pre-nuptial music in song with "Through the Years," and "A Dawn-Coming," accompanied by Miss Emogene Tomlin at the piano. Miss Tomlin played the traditional marches and furnished an appropriate background for the reading of the ceremony. The bride was given in marriage by her father. Miss Christine Clack served as maid of honor and Mr. Oline W. Harris as best man.

An array of spring flowers formed the background. The bride wore a pink suit and a pink hat with blue velvet on the brim and a draped blue veil.

The maid of honor chose a blue suit with contrasting pink hat and blouse.

The bride's mother wore a softly draped dress of deep green. Corsages of white completed the costumes of Mrs. Curry and Miss Clack. A single purple orchid was worn by the bride.

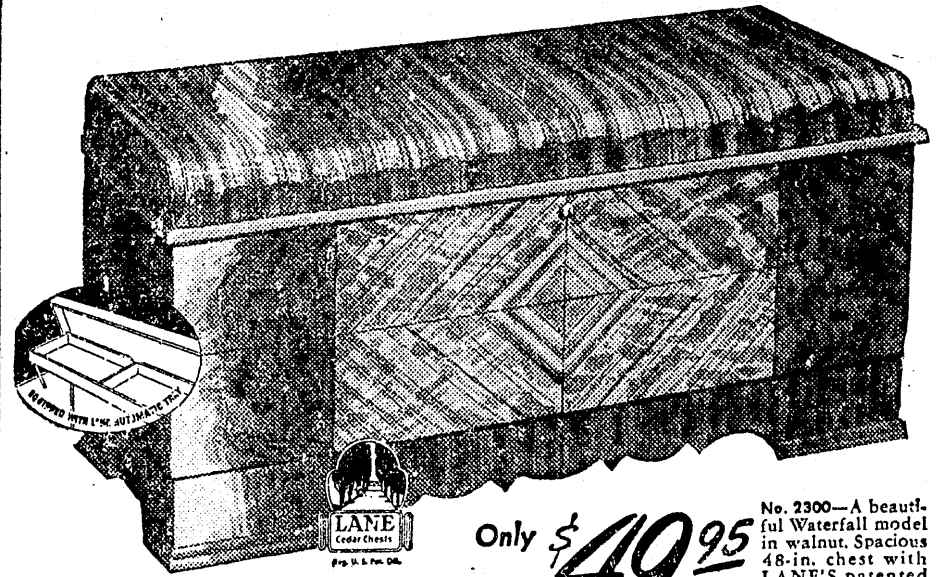

After the ceremony a reception was held in the parlors of the church, after which the couple left for a short wedding trip.

Alto Cultural Club Wins Award On Book Describing Activities

The Alto Cultural Club was high in the list of outstanding clubs at the spring meeting of the Fifth District L. F. W. C. held in Ferriday recently.

The year book, compiled by Mrs. John C. Kenton and Mrs. F. B. Sartor, was awarded first place in overall appearance and also the first prize of five dollars for the most outstanding programs on Louisiana.

Mrs. Julius E. Nelson, press and publicity chairman, suggested that the winning book be placed on display in the local library.

The yearbook, striking in appearance has a gold cover symbolizing a treasure chest. The theme for the year, "The Southland, The Treasure Chest of America." The Alto Cultural Club presented the south as a rich treasure chest overflowing with gifts for the nation—gifts of white gold (cotton), black gold (oil), vast forests, untold minerals, farm products and most of all her people. The book was dedicated to Dr. Carl G. Pardue. Delegates from the club were: Mrs. John C. Kenton, president; Mrs. Lela Lyle, and Mrs. Noble Hatch.

During the business session the following officers were elected to serve fifth district for the ensuing two years: President, Miss Bessie Noble, Winnboro; first vice-president, Mrs. Joseph H. Pankey, Ferriday; second vice-president, Mrs. G. D. Babin, Jonesville; recording secretary, Miss Lillie May Seals, Jonesville; treasurer, Mrs. John C. Kenton, Mangham; and auditor, Mrs. R. E. A chef's salad is a good choice for Sunday night supper. Make it of salad greens—as many varieties as your refrigerator holds—plus celery, hard-cooked egg, thin strips of tongue, ham, or chicken, and thin strips of mild yellow cheese. Toss the salad with a well-seasoned French dressing and serve it with hard rolls and butter and Melba toast.

The Inter-Faith Council

Is composed of representatives from each of the four religious organizations on the N. J. C. campus, with the faculty advisers and the ministers of each group. Its purpose is to create a better understanding among the students of different faiths, who are united through their faith in one God. The Inter-Faith Council has enabled us to work as a unit to promote Christian fellowship among the students. Religious Emphasis Week is the first project this organization has sponsored. Though the Inter-Faith Council was formed this year, it has made much progress in reaching its goal—that of better understanding among the students of the religious organizations.

Books For Children Are Available At The Ouachita Parish Library

Children are never neglected in the purchase of new books. A number of new titles have been added at the parish library during the month of March. For the picture book age there are: "Mrs. Mallard's Ducklings," by Clelia C. Delafield; "Nappy is a Cowboy," by Inez Hogan; "Holiday," by Wesley Dennis; "Farm Babies," by Elsie Church; "Up in the Attic," by Hilda K. Williams; "Kiki and Muffy," by Charlotte Steiner; "Pat-A-Cake," a Bob's Mother Goose; "Timothy Has a Hat," by Miriam Mason; "The Seaweed Hat," by Louis Slobodkin; "Five Little Firemen," by Margaret Wise Brown; "Rosie the Rhino," by Marion Conger; "The Race Between the Monkey and the Duck," by Clement Hurd; "Let's Go Shopping," by Lenora Combe; "Clear the Track," by Louis Slobodkin; "Name for Kitty," by Phyllis McGinley; "Roundabout Turn," by Robert H. Charles; "Hi Ho Country," by Romye Gay; "Chatterbox," by Helene and Alf Evers; and "Now It's Fall," by Lois Lenski.

Books for children who are a little older are: "Shag," by Thomas Hinkle; "Star," by Forrestine C. Hooker; "Candy Kane," by Janet Lambert; "Wonderful Locomotive," by Cornelia Meigs; "Bob and the Railroad," and "Lumberjack Bill," by Sanford Tousey; "Legion Tournery," by Wilfred McCormick; "Book of Finches," by Howard Pyle; "True and Untrue," by Sigrid Undset; "Giant at the Crossroads," by Ilia Marshak.

The most popular series of books for children in the fourth and fifth grades are the ones in "The Childhood of Famous Americans" series. We have several new ones in that group: "Louisa Alcott," "U. S. Grant," "Julia Ward Howe," "Martha Washington," "Jane Addams," "Buffalo Bill," "William Penn," "Daniel Boone," and "Dolly Madison."

James Roy Stewart Weds Dallas Girl Recently

Miss Marcie Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen F. Smith, of Dallas, Texas, became the bride of Mr. James Roy Stewart, son of Dr. J. C. Stewart of West Monroe, in a ceremony performed at the First Baptist Church of Dallas.

White gladioli interspersed with palms and glowing cathedral tapers formed a background for the ceremony which was performed by the Rev. J. Calvin Dennis, pastor of the church.

Mrs. J. E. McMillan, pianist, accompanied Mr. George Moffett, soloist, in a nuptial musical program.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, with low neckline, edged by French illusion and outlined with seed pearls. The blue pink veil of illusion fell from a tiara of tiny seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of pink camellias with long satin streamers tied in lovers' knots.

Mrs. William C. McDonald, of Fort Worth, Texas, a sister of the bride, wore a pink bouffant gown of crepe and carried a colonial bouquet of blue carnations. Her short veil similar to that of the bride's fell from a Juliet cap.

Mrs. Doyle M. Rambo, of Dallas, who served as bridesmaid, wore a gown of blue and a veil similar to that of the matron of honor.

Mr. Aylmer Lee Hill, of Dallas, was best man, and groomsmen were Mr. Marvin S. Boyce, of Dallas; Mr. George Mays, of Arlington, Tex., and Mr. Doyle M. Rambo, of Dallas.

Miss Cleo Carter and Miss Barbara Galbraith, cousins of the bride, served as candlelighters.

For traveling the bride wore a pink and blue printed silk frock with navy accessories. After a wedding trip to New Orleans the couple will reside at 1234 Kings Highway, Dallas.

The bride is a graduate of W. H. Atkinson High School and a member of Beta Sigma Phi sorority.

Mr. Stewart, a graduate of Ouachita Parish High School, attended L. S. U. and Tulane University where he was a member of the Kappa Sigma fraternity.

Out of town guests included Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Stewart, West Monroe, Louisiana; Mrs. Abbie T. Hill, Shreveport, La.; Robert F. Jones, West Monroe, La.; Norman Albritton, Monroe, La.; Mrs. Jimmy Cavanaugh, St. Louis, Mo.; and Mrs. L. O. Robertson and son of Lubbock, Tex.

Peru at the time of its conquest by Pizarro included all of Bolivia and Ecuador and part of Argentina and Colombia.

THE CLAIBORNE METHODIST CHURCH

Calhoun Road

F. L. Hearne, Pastor

O. Fleming, Church School Supt.

The first Palm Sunday was a rehearsal of the coronation of Christ as King of Kings and Lord of Lords, the everlasting Father and Prince of peace. He rode into Jerusalem in garments of peace. All the symbolism of the event pointed to the time when peace shall cover the earth as the waters do the deeps of the sea. The Church of the New Covenant is his instrument for that purpose.

Services at our church are:

Sunday, Church School 9:45 a. m. Morning Worship 10:50 a. m. Youth Fellowship 6:30 p. m. Worship Service 7:30 p. m.

Monday, W. S. C. S. meets 3:00 p. m. Tuesday, Methodist Men 7:30 p. m.

Holy Week services: Children's service, in cooperation with the Claiborne School, will be held each morning, 10:00 o'clock. Worship services beginning Wednesday evening, 7:30, and running through Sunday night (Easter). The public is invited to attend all meetings.

"You are always welcome at Claiborne."

Friday, April 15, 7:30 p. m. Mutual Improvement Association.

What is Sin? 1 John 3:4. Whosoever committeth sin transgresseth also the law: For sin is the transgression of the law.

1 John 5:17. All unrighteousness is sin. Christ said the greatest commandment is "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind." Christ also said "If ye love me, keep my commandments." Therefore when we break one of the commandments of God we are showing him that we do not love him and we are committing sin. So the way to keep from sin is to obey the commandments of God.

THE FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Grammont at Catalpa

Ernest D. Holloway, Minister

This is Palm Sunday. It is the day on which the Lord Jesus entered the city of Jerusalem. What he saw, he yet sees. What he did he continues to do. How He acted, He yet acts. It was a great day, and one which meant and means much to the Christian.

The theme of the Morning Meditation is "The Significance of Palm Sunday."

The evening message is based on Ephesians, and the theme of the message is "Redemption through His Blood." The Cross is central to our thinking, and an apprehension of the Cross is conducive to spirituality, to loyalty, to the will to work, and to an effective testimony.

The Communicant's Class will meet Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, four in the afternoon. The meeting will last for thirty minutes. At these meetings such issues as these will be discussed: What is the Church? Who join the Church? What are the conditions of admittance to the Church?

A royal welcome awaits you at all hours of worship.

Christian Science Service

First Church of Christ Scientist

224 Auburn Avenue

"Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real?" is the subject of the Lesson-sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, April 10, 1949.

The Golden Text is: "Bless the Lord, O my soul, and forget not all his benefits."

fits: who forgive all thine iniquities; who heal all thy diseases; who redeem thy life from destruction" (Ps. 103:2-4).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "It is of the Lord's mercies that we are not consumed, because his compassions fail not" (Lam. 3:22).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Disease is an experience of so-called mortal mind. It is fear made manifest on the Body" (p. 493).

Listen in on a 15 minute radio broadcast Sunday at 9:30 a. m. over Radio Station KNOE.

HANDICRAFT TO BE FEATURED

Will Be Highlight Of April Cub Leaders' Roundtable

An unusual handicraft period will be the highlight of the April Cub Leaders' roundtable, to be held at the Ouachita Parish Courthouse, Monday, April 11, 7:30 p.m., it was announced yesterday by A. C. Lea, Cub Scout commissioner for the central district.

Mr. Lea stated that Mrs. E. L. Smith, den mother of den 5, pack 13, West Monroe, would be in charge of this portion of the meeting, and she would present a new and interesting idea in handicraft which could be used effectively in all Cub Scout dens in the Twin Cities.

All den mothers, pack committee men, den dad, cubmasters and assistant cubmasters, as well as parents who are interested, are invited to attend this roundtable meeting.

Cub items to be included on the program are reports on the activities of all dens and packs, a film on the summertime Cub program, and a discussion of the suggested monthly Cub theme for the month of May, S. E. Burgoyne, and other leaders of pack 1, sponsored by St. Matthew's Catholic Church, will present a graduation ceremony to the group.

Leaders of the following packs are expected to attend the roundtable meeting Monday night: Pack 1, Monroe; pack 10, West Monroe; pack 13, West Monroe; pack 31, Monroe; pack 32, Monroe; pack 34, Monroe; pack 12, Clarks.

Little Theatre Curtain Call

"The Philadelphia Story" under the direction of Elizabeth Whitfield is now in full swing of rehearsal and Elizabeth is delighted with the way the first act has shaped up after only three practice nights.

Lon Heuer, who played the part of Donny Pennington in the last production "The Two Mrs. Carrolls," is not only going to help design the intricate stage required for "The Philadelphia Story" but he will appear on stage in the bit part of the night watchman. This just about completes Elizabeth's cast of fifteen.

The line up for the cast leaves us expecting big things for this last play of the season. Jeanette Brown as Tracy Lord; Sara Helen Griffin, Lizzi, the women newspaper photographer; Helen Allen, Dianah; Durwood Griffin as George Kittredge; John Allen, Mike, the reporter; Dwight Wadlow, C. K. Dexter Haven; Ann Caldwell, Margaret Lord; O. R. Renfro as Sandy Lord; Herbert Nobes as the butler; Lon Heuer, the night watchman; and Margaret Dell Horuff as a maid.

OFF HAND—Were too long our general treasure of Little Theatre Maurice Glazer and Mrs. Glazer will be off to a California vacation—Reita Feith just back this week from Baton Rouge, tells us she will help Helen Bird with the properties for "The Philadelphia Story" . . . The board directors for Little Theatre met Thursday evening in the home of our first lady, Mrs. Blanche Oliver, and boasted a hundred percent turn out to welcome their three new members, Mrs. James A. Noe, Mrs. Frances Germany Hale and Miss Emma Louise Beidenham. . . . Mrs. Richard Faust, the former Mary Stuart Kellogg, and her two children, Dickie and Rhoda, returned to their home in New Orleans on Friday after a visit with her mother, Mrs. Thomas Leigh. "The Philadelphia Story" has played havoc with some regular bridge foursomes. Just ask Frank and Beth Breese because they are missing Sara Helen and Durwood Griffin and John and Helen Allen who are all four playing major roles in the play. . . . Somewhere we got the report that Mrs. Blanche Oliver knows no competition when it comes to baking lemon pies.

STORY OF THE WEEK—During rehearsal for the West Monroe Lions Club Minstrel to be presented Monday evening at Neville auditorium, Director Tom Howell instructed the chorus to hum and Odie Lee came back when he couldn't hum because when he did it caused his upper plate to "warble." The show which is entirely different from any of the Lions previous minstrels. They will have six end men (the chorus), two ballad singers and a black face skit with five men in it. Warren Barker is the groom while Lion Artise is the bride in the skit. A radio skit that they say is very funny; Gay Nineties Boys quartet; two dancing acts furnished by the Mary Lou Young School of Dance; a reading by Mrs. A. D. (Apple Dumpling) Hunt, assisted by Mrs. John Lewis of West Monroe.

Featuring a back drop depicting a river scene, the mood of the skits and comedy, is opened with an overture "Hear that Whistle" and "On the Mississippi" followed by "Floting Down." "Old Man River." "There's a Good Time Coming" and some old time minstrel songs, such as "I Ain't Got Nobody," "You Walked Right in and Turned Around," "I've Got the Blues for My Old Kentucky Home," "Pat My Foot," "Are You From Dixie," "Life Gets Tee-Jus" and many others.

REV. MITCHELL PREACHES
Rev. A. T. Mitchell, pastor of the Ridge Avenue Baptist Church, West Monroe, is conducting a revival at the First Baptist Church in Neville. He will preach twice today at 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. His morning topic will be "Great Things for a Great God," and at the evening service he will discuss "God's Call."

HOBBS POST IN JOINT SESSION

Has Installation Of Officers With Auxiliary Group

The Rodney J. Hobbs Post and Auxiliary No. 1809, Veterans of Foreign Wars, met in joint session Thursday night at the V. F. W. club room for the purpose of installing officers for the ensuing year. The following post officers were installed by Past Commander Raleigh A. Poulos: Commander, Harold Martin; senior vice-commander, Pete Poulos; junior vice-commander, Harry Stron; chaplain, Lloyd Leonard; quartermaster, Dewey Heard; surgeon, Dr. Scott Hamilton; judge advocate, Fred Fudickar, Jr.; trustees, William Guice and Steve Powell; adjutant, Albert M. Hobbs.

At the conclusion of the installation Past Commander John E. Zuffall was presented with a past commander's pin, membership awards were presented to Paul Kirby, the retiring quartermaster, and to Past Department Commander C. A. Hunt. The gavel was then turned over to the auxiliary president, Mrs. Pauline K. Petty, who introduced Mrs. Vera W. Wilkeny as the installing officer for the auxiliary.

Auxiliary officers installed were: Mrs. Mary H. Brooks, president; Mrs. Estelle Martin, senior vice-president; Mrs. Aline B. Hunt, secretary; Mrs. Willie Mae Austin, treasurer; Mrs. Carrie Chandler, chaplain; Mrs. Christine Hendry, conductress; Mrs. Annie Chance, guard; Mrs. Isabelle Mercer, three year trustee; Mrs. Irene Semmes, color bearer No. 2; Mrs. Juanita Tyner, color bearer No. 3; Mrs. Jackie Melton, color bearer No. 4; Mrs. Evie H. Freeman, historian; Mrs. Evelyn Webber, patriotic instructor; Mrs. Bessie Semmes, junior vice-president, a patient at St. Francis Sanitarium, and Mrs. Davline F. Tanner, color bearer No. 1, also unable to be present, will be installed at a later meeting.

With the retiring of the auxiliary colors the conductress was instructed to escort Past Commander Zuffall and Commander Martin to the altar where they were met by President Brooks and Past President Petty, bearing a huge birthday cake, beautifully decorated with the V. F. W. insignia, the cross of Malta, and 19 candles. The cake was presented to Commander Martin, commemorating the 19th birthday of the Rodney J. Hobbs post, which falls on April 13. Mrs. Brooks then presented the retiring president, Mrs. Petty, with a past president's pin, a gift of the Hobbs Auxiliary.

At the conclusion of the meeting Commander Martin and President Brooks cut and served the birthday cake. Trays of cake squares, bearing the letters V. F. W. and hot coffee were also served.

Visitors were Walter Cachere, Jr., vice-commander of the 14th district; Mrs. Thelma Leehy, president-elect of the Hudson-Leehy Auxiliary of West Monroe, and Mrs. Harold Martin.

One writer says consumption of wine in ancient Rome at one time reached 25 million gallons a year.

ALTRUSA CLUB WILL CELEBRATE

Oldest Club For Women Executives Now 32 Years Of Age

America's oldest service club for executive and professional women, Altrusa International, will celebrate two big events in April. One is the 32nd anniversary of the founding of Altrusa, in Nashville, Tenn., April 11, 1917. The other is the 25th anniversary of Altrusa's vocational guidance program.

Altrusa is the pioneer of women's service clubs. Its name is derived from the word altruism, devotion to others. Its motto is patriotism, efficiency, service. Its 1918-1949 theme is Altruism in Action.

Unlike most organizations whose members are drawn from one particular field, Altrusa invites its members from every business and profession. Altrusa brings together the physician and the department store owner, the lawyer and the transportation executive, the librarian and the modiste, the bank executive and the school principal. Membership in an Altrusa Club is limited to one outstanding representative of a business or a profession, similar to the Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs for men.

Through its vocational guidance program, Altrusa has, in the past quarter century, helped thousands of young people to find the right careers. Vocational bookshelves have been established in libraries, scholarships have been granted. Altrusans have given career talks in schools and given interested young people on-the-job training.

Now, in addition to this, Altrusa is concentrating upon the problems of the older woman worker. As the employment market tightens, older workers are less welcome. But a national survey made by Altrusa Clubs reveals that it is not older age in itself which is an employment handicap—but old age habits—and these can be found in the woman of 35 as well as in one of 70.

Things employers don't like about older women, the survey revealed, are: "Older women workers are stuck in a rut." "They resist changes, new ideas, new methods." "They are intolerant, and lack initiative." "They either give up trying to look well or overdo the job." "They become cantankerous, bossy, and are ready to burst into tears at the slightest hint of criticism." "They are too personal and become over-emotional."

But, in the final analysis, the survey showed, "If the older woman has kept her mind flexible, makes a presentable appearance, is in good health, is agreeable, and has definite skills, age does not keep her from a good position."

The results of the Altrusa survey are published in the booklet, "Women Go to Work at Any Age," written by the eminent psychologist, Dr. George Lawton, and sold by Altrusa. The organization of a service club for executive and professional women was a daring move April 11,

A. A. U. W. TO HAVE GUEST SPEAKER

Mrs. C. B. McEachern To Discuss Responsibility Of Educated Women

Mrs. Sara Hollingsworth, of the Ouchita Parish High School faculty, and active member of the American Association of University Women, will present as the guest speaker for the April meeting of the American Association of University Women, Mrs. C. B. McEachern who will use as her topic for discussing "The Responsibility of the Educated Woman in Adult Education."

Mrs. McEachern has been in the city but a short time having moved here from Shreveport. She is active in church, civic, and social affairs and has proved herself an able speaker. She is a graduate of S. M. U.

The meeting will be held at the La Casa tea room on Thursday evening, April 14, at six o'clock. Hostesses for the April meeting are: Mrs. C. E. Buckley, Mrs. John Coon, and Mrs. George Riser. Members are asked to make their reservations by calling one of the hostesses before Wednesday evening, April 13.

The first coffee house is said to have been opened in 1554 at Constantinople.

SEWERAGE LINES SOUGHT BY LEAGUE

The Monroe League of Women Voters in general session at the La Casa tea room issued the following statement:

"The Monroe League of Women Voters wishes to express its favorable attitude toward repairing and expanding the city's electric plant to the end that more citizens might be served and that all citizens might have a more perfect electrical service."

"The league further takes the position that the city's electrical system should be operated strictly on a business basis."

And furthermore: "In view of the fact that the Monroe League of Women Voters worked so hard for the city to have an adequate sewerage system and since then such slow progress has been made toward expanding the sewerage system, it becomes necessary for the league to ask for a clarification of the status of the sewerage system."

The league desires to state further that it maintains its original position on the cost of lateral sewer lines viz: "The various sewer districts should be permitted to pay for them on a proportionate basis."

VOLUNTARY UNIT MEETS TUESDAY

Training Reservists To Secure Uniforms Through Proper Channels

The Monroe Voluntary Training Unit 8-5 of the United States Marine Corps Reserve announces that they will hold a uniform meeting on Tuesday, April 12, on the third floor of the Ouchita parish courthouse, in Monroe. The sale of uniform clothing to volunteer reservists was recently approved by the commandant of the marine corps. The purchase of the marine corps must submit a request to the director of the reserve district in which he lives. All requests for clothing must be accompanied by a postal money order, covering the cost of clothing, plus two dollars to cover postage. Money in excess of the actual cost of clothing will be returned to the man making the purchase.

Most items of clothing are not stocked in standard civilian sizes and must be ordered by marine corps specifications. A complete list of the items authorized for sale to volunteer reservists may be gotten at the meeting from Captain Miles A. Newburn, commanding officer of the local marine unit 8-5.

Captain Newburn will be aided by the local marine corps recruiting sergeant in enlisting applicants for the marine corps reserve, at this meeting. The following persons are eligible for enlistment in the marine corps reserve: (1) Male veterans of any of the armed forces and reserves components thereof; (2) male applicants with no prior military or naval service who are non-veterans; (3) male applicants with no prior military or naval service (non-veterans); (4) veterans of the marine corps women's reserve.

Two 16mm. films concerning the benefits of being a marine corps reservist will also be shown to those present during this meeting.

COLORED WORKERS URGED TO REPORT

All colored Red Cross workers are asked to make final reports on Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock at their headquarters.

Chairman January states that the goal assigned, 2,500, can be raised if each will do his bit.

Ministers and leaders are urged to impress upon the people that they must give attention to his important project.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL AGENT PROMOTED

Esdorn Goes To Houston, Porteous Succeeds Him In Local Office

R. Leo Esdorn, Jr., general agent for the Illinois Central Railroad here will be appointed general agent at Houston, Tex., effective May 1, succeeding Frank H. Webster, retired, it was announced Saturday.

Mr. Esdorn is a native of New Orleans, where he joined the traffic department of the Illinois Central in October, 1929, as secretary to the assistant general freight agent. In July, 1934, he was named quotation expert at New Orleans and in December, 1936, was appointed division traffic agent at Brookhaven, Miss. Returning to New Orleans in September, 1937, as traveling freight agent, he moved to Baton Rouge, La., in September, 1940, in the same capacity. In June, 1945, he was named district service agent at Monroe, and he was promoted to general agent there in July, 1946.

Mr. Esdorn's wife is the former Claire Marie St. Germain, also a native of New Orleans. They have two daughters, Lynne Anne and Janice Claire, and one son, Richard Leo, III. Mr. Esdorn will be succeeded by Raymond C. Porteous. Mr. Porteous, also is a native of New Orleans, where he joined the Illinois Central in March, 1929, as a messenger in the traffic department. He was advanced through various clerical positions before being named assistant export and import agent in February, 1935. In June, 1939, he was promoted to city freight agent and in September, 1940, to traveling freight agent. From January, 1942, until December, 1945, he was in the army. He resumed his work as traveling freight agent at New Orleans in January, 1946. Mr. Porteous' wife is the former Margaret Nicolini, also a native of New Orleans.

Magic greets you right from the start. No starter button to push, no choke to pull. You simply turn the ignition key—and the engine starts! You really have to see the sensational new features of this great new car to believe them... for Plymouth engineers have worked wonders... to bring you the biggest automobile value your money can buy!

It's real looking glass. The New Plymouth is deliberately designed to make the best possible use of its greatly increased glass area. The new V-shaped windshield is 37% larger. The car has a lower center of gravity, hugs the road better. Completely new body construction makes it a sturdier, safer car. Body and frame are 23% more rigid.

There's a more powerful engine. The New Plymouth outperforms all of the other great performing Plymouths! There's a new cylinder head in the engine, a higher 7 to 1 compression ratio, and a new intake manifold. New oil control piston rings and the brand-new chrome compression ring save on oil, add thousands of miles to the life of the engine.

Engineering magic!

The Beautiful New Plymouth Special De Luxe 4-Door Sedan with Longer 118" Wheelbase

THE great new Plymouth

It's designed for greater comfort. The outside dimensions of the New Plymouth have been reduced. But, inside, the chair-height seats are wider and deeper from front to back. You relax on soft cushions. Long legs can stretch out and high hats stay put. Diagonally mounted rear shock absorbers give added stability to the famous Air Pillow Ride!

It handles with amazing ease. Because of less overhang, the New Plymouth is easy to drive, easy to park, easy to put in the garage. You can drive for many hours and still feel fresh. With all its brilliant new beauty, it's a practical car. For example, fenders blend beautifully into the body but they're separate and detachable. They're economical to repair.

It gives you great new value. There's only one place to get the whole story of Plymouth's new engineering magic. That's at your nearby Plymouth dealer's. He'll point out the many sensational new features and improvements which—combined with Plymouth's long-time basic advantages—give you a new car that sets a new high in value!

Now there's more difference than ever in low-priced cars—and the great New Plymouth makes the difference!

EASTER SERVICE SET AT SUNRISE

Third Annual Event Will Be Held In Memorial Park Cemetery

An Easter Sunrise Service will be held in Memorial Park Cemetery, four miles east of the city on highway 80, next Sunday at 5:30 a.m. It will be sponsored by the Christian Youth Association which has for one of its principal projects service for all people for all faiths.

This service will be held regardless of weather conditions. Urgent invitations to attend have been sent to churches in the Twin Cities and adjacent areas asking their cooperation.

The choir will be composed of young people from various churches, directed by E. W. Edwards, choir director of the First Baptist Church.

The first service of this nature to be held here was three years ago and each successive Easter there have been Sunrise Services held in this new cemetery.

Rev. George Pearce, Jr., pastor of Memorial Methodist Church, is supervising the arrangements for the service.

There will be erected as usual a big white cross in one of the trees in the cemetery.

A special bus will leave Liggett's corner Sunday at 4:45 a.m. and from the bus station, West Monroe, at the same hour to convey passengers to the Memorial Park Cemetery.

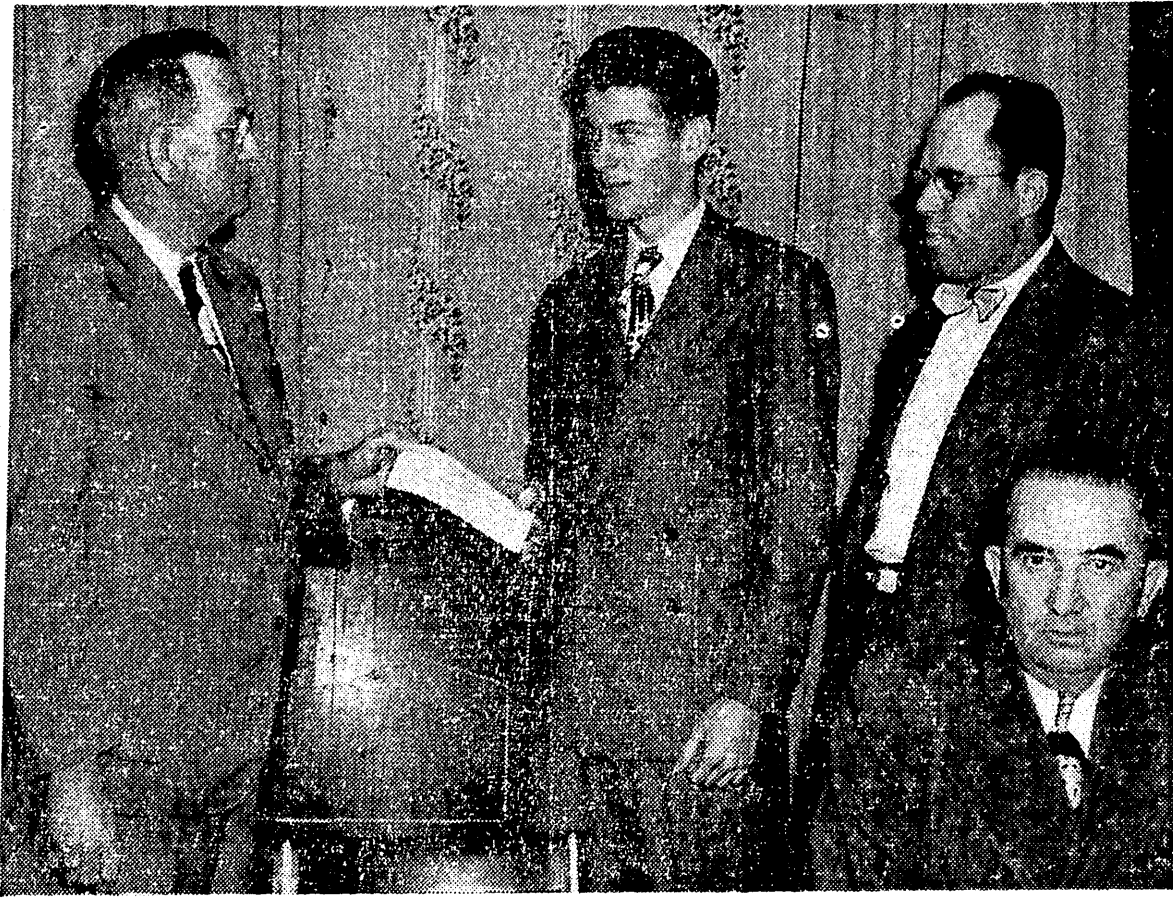

EROS HIGH WILL PRESENT COMEDY

EROS, La., April 9.—(Special)—On April 14, the Eros High School faculty will present a three-act comedy, "He Couldn't Marry Five," in the high school auditorium.

BLACK RIVER IS FALLING RAPIDLY

JONESVILLE, La., April 9.—(Special)—Black river was falling this week, but army engineers still predict a high of 53 feet, three feet above flood stage, for Jonesville by April 20.

Engineers from Vicksburg, New Orleans, Vidalia and Monroe were in Jonesville conferring with W. D. Brown, Tenness basin levee board member, and attending to details in connection with the Jonesville ring levee.

Brown expects to have tentative plans within a week, so that preliminary work on staking of right-of-ways might begin. In some cases, planting of crops is being held up because farmers do not know where the levee will cross their lands.

The project should be ready for advertisement by June 1, engineers said. Financing of the ring levee is apparently settled now. And additional $114,000 has been appropriated, bringing the total fund for the levee to $482,000.

Coffee consumption in the United States now averages more than 17 pounds per person, including children.

ILONA MASSEY TO VISIT HERE

Bright Hollywood Luminary Will Accompany Dorsey In Concert

Ilona Massey, one of the brightest luminaries in the Hollywood firmament and a headline star of the Tenmy Dorsey concert to be presented at Neville auditorium, under the sponsorship of the North Monroe Lions Club on Friday, April 29, is one of the most beautiful and talented women in the world. Rated by connoisseurs of feminine loveliness as the modern "Venus de Milo," the svelte, sultry Hungarian beauty is the blonde "dream girl" of romantic males all over the globe.

Ilona has achieved sensational success in practically every medium of show business. She has been renowned as a great operatic star on the European continent and the "toast" of aristocracy and royalty in Vienna, Budapest and London; an actress in the gay, sophisticated comedies of Austria and France; a motion picture star in Hollywood and Europe; and a frequent guest star on network radio shows.

Ilona is the blonde charmer who heads an international smuggling ring in "Love Happy," Lester Cowan's latest production, and matches wits with comedy sleuth, Greuchio Marx. Her songs in the Cowan production are sumptuous. Ben Hecht has written one of the best parts of her career in "Love Happy."

Ilona Massey has a phobia and it used to get her into pecks of trouble in Vienna where she played starring roles in the Viennese Opera Company. It seems that the blonde, comely singing star loved western movies. She loved them so much that she spent most of her spare time away from the opera house in the movie house watching "hoss operas" at a Roy Rogers and Gene Autrey. The situation became so well known in the company that the director used to berate Ilona for her mistakes with the threat, "In Texas, they would kill you for a mistake like that." But that didn't phase Miss Massey one little bit. Before long she was using the Viennese equivalent of "you all" and "run along there, pard." She still does.

The advanced ticket sale is now being conducted by the members of the North Monroe Lions Club, and can be bought by contacting any of the members of the club. Tickets will be put on sale at Walgreen's around April 15.

SIX INITIATED IN PYTHIAN RANK

Stonewall Lodge No. 8, Knights of Pythias, held its regular meeting in the castle hall, 127 1/2 St. John street, April 7, at 8 p.m. There was a class of six young men initiated into the rank of page. The program committee reported on the box supper of March 21 and several other important committees reported. Following the meeting light refreshments were served.

On the night of April 14 the rank of esquire will be conferred and all members who have candidates for this degree should have them on hand next Thursday night.

EARLIER CANCER SIGNS REVEALED

May Be Discovered Several Years Before Actual Development

By Frank Carey

(Associated Press Science Reporter) WASHINGTON, April 9.—(AP)—Discovery of a possible method of forecasting cancer of the womb from one to two years before it develops was discovered today by a Canadian doctor.

Cancer of the womb is one of the most frequent of all malignancies. It kills approximately 26,000 women annually in the United States alone. Dr. J. Ernest Ayre, of Montreal's Royal Victoria Hospital and McGill University said his new technique has been successful in forecasting womb cancers in nine women.

Ayre said that opens up the possibility of tracking the development of such cancers in all victims and attacking them at the earliest, and most curable, stage.

The technique is based on Ayre's discovery of a new type of human cell—one which he says he and his colleagues believe to be a forerunner of an actual cancer cell. It has a peculiar nucleus, or central part, that makes it different from both a normal cell and a cancer cell.

"It is our belief," he said, "that this cell entity, while not a cancer cell, represents the earliest nuclear evidence in human cells of a trend to cancer.

"It is a signal that cancer will develop there in one to two years. Another one to two years would usually pass before the cancer was visually or clinically apparent."

Ayre related his findings at a private meeting of doctors of the National Cancer Institute and later told them to a reporter.

He said that at the meeting of Greek parentage named Symeonides had suggested the name "Neuro-Cancer" for such cells—"Neuro" being Greek for "the earliest stage"—and Ayre has adopted the term.

The Canadian declared that the cells—scrapped from the opening of the womb—had nuclei that were "shaped like dumb-bells or bunches of grapes instead of being relatively round and regular as in normal cells." He also said the cells were different from actual cancer cells.

Saying that such "Neuro-Cancer" cells had been detected in nine women who ultimately became cancerous in from one to two years, Ayre cited the following as a typical case:

A 32-year-old woman came to his clinic last June. She had no apparent signs of cancer, but "Neuro-Cancer" cells were scraped from her womb. Repeated scrapings in successive months showed the same evidence, but the tissue still showed no evidence of cancer. Finally, in March of this year, definite evidence of cancer of the womb was noted.

Thus, said Ayre, the scraping technique, with microscopic examination of the cells, "diagnosed 'pre-cancer' in this patient ten months before the pathological (definite) diagnosis. Even then, there was no bleeding or symptoms of cancer and no clinical evidence of suspicion on the cervix (the lip of the womb)."

He emphasized that at present this "pre-cancer cell diagnosis" is only possible in cancer of the cervix, but he pointed out that the cervix is the site of most womb cancers.

He also said that Dr. H. L. Stewart, chief pathologist of the National Cancer Institute, had told him that in experiments for the production of stomach cancers in rats, Stewart had noted cells that appear to be similar to the "Neuro-Cancer" cells noted in the human womb.

ENCAMPMENT TO MEET

Fort Miro Encampment No. 15, Independent Order of Odd Fellows will hold their regular meeting in the W. O. W. hall Monday night, April 11, at 8 p. m. This should prove a very interesting meeting as there are several important matters to come up for discussion. The members of the encampment will begin the study of the new constitution and by-laws at this meeting.

GOLLY, TERRY LEE! MY OLD FRIEND, SPRAY AND HER MAN, HOTSHOT, MAKE AN ADORABLE COUPLE. BUT PERFECT! I'M SO GLAD WE'RE HAVING A NICE LITTLE OL' FAREWELL PARTY FOR HER.

TONI, JUST HOPE NOBODY HAS TO TAP THEM ON THE SHOULDERS TO LET 'EM KNOW WHEN THE MUSIC'S STOPPED.

IT'S SWELL THAT SPRAY AND I ARE BOTH-HOSTESSES FOR INTER-GLOBAL. I DON'T KNOW WHAT I'D HAVE DONE IF SHE HADN'T TURNED UP HERE IN MACAO IN TIME TO TAKE OVER MY RETURN FLIGHT TO THE STATES. THE BOY WHO'S COMING DOWN FROM JAPAN JUST TO ROMANCE ME WOULD BE FURIOUS, I DECLARE!

HI! THAT WAS FUN, BUT IF O'HARA MUST GO TO WORK IN THE MORNING, I GUESS I'D BETTER GET BACK TO THE HOTEL FOR SOME PILLOW PATROL.

O.K., SPRAY...WAITER, CHECK, PLEASE.

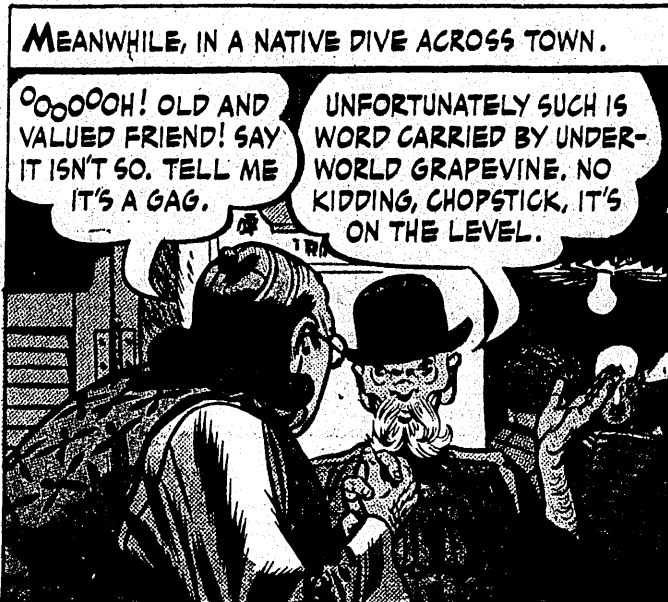

LATER
I'LL SEE TONI OVER TO HER QUARTERS IN HONG KONG. BE BACK LATER.

ROGER. G'NIGHT.

GOLLY, HONEY, I WISH YOU WEREN'T GOING...

I KNOW, DARLING, BUT SHE'S AN OLD FRIEND AND I'LL ONLY BE GONE A COUPLE OF WEEKS. BESIDES, THIS WAY I CAN MAKE SURE THAT CHUM FUN GETS TO HIS SCHOOL.

MEANWHILE, IN A NATIVE DIVE ACROSS TOWN.

OOOOOH! OLD AND VALUED FRIEND! SAY IT ISN'T SO. TELL ME IT'S A GAG.

UNFORTUNATELY SUCH IS WORD CARRIED BY UNDERWORLD GRAPEVINE. NO KIDDING, CHOPSTICK, IT'S ON THE LEVEL.

OOOH! MAYBE IT'S A NIGHTMARE... BIG BATTLE FOUGHT WHERE AIR CATHAY BASE WAS SET UP. EVERYTHING BLASTED! I'M RUINED! BROKE!

SOMETIME LATER...

NOTHING LEFT BUT A BEAT-UP AIRPLANE. CAN'T EVEN PAY HOTEL BILL...

HEY, CHOPS! YOU MISSED A SWELL PARTY.

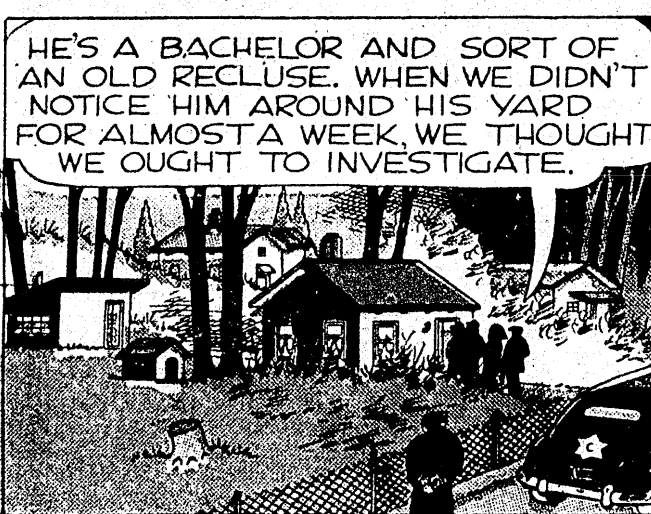

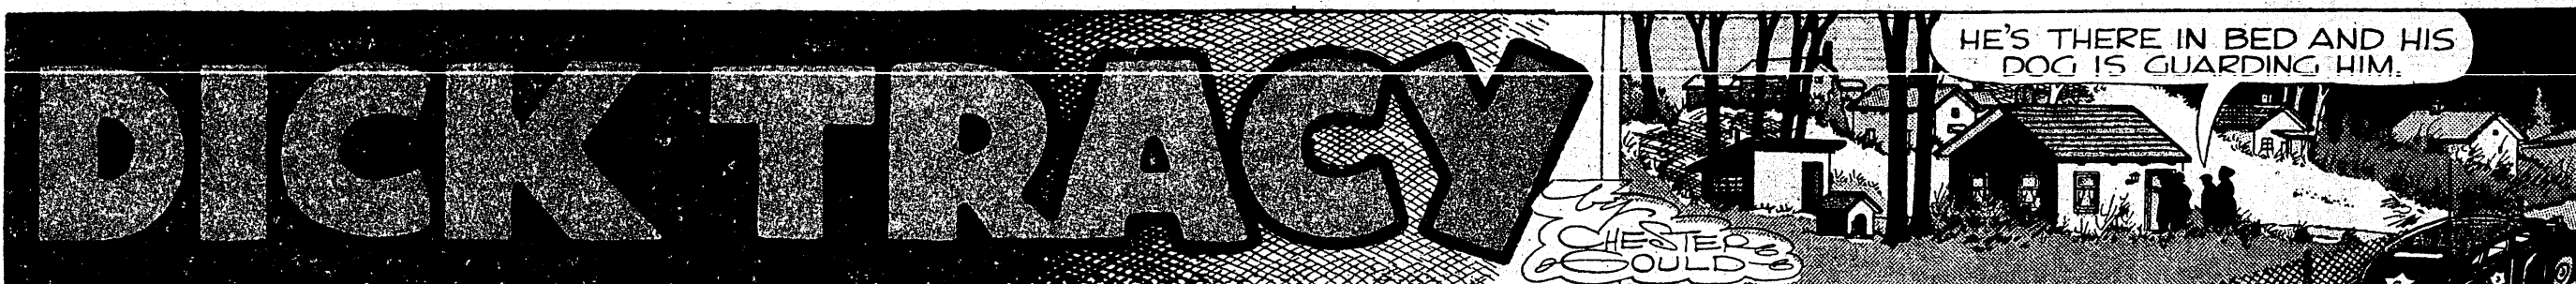

IT WAS A SWELL FAREWELL BINGE FOR SPRAY... OF COURSE, BETWEEN THAT AND THE CLOTHES WE BOUGHT, WE SORTA BLEW THAT ROLL OF BILLS WE PRIED OUT OF YOU...

HEY, CHOPS! WHAT'S THE MATTER?

GOB GOB

HE'S A BACHELOR AND SORT OF AN OLD RECLUSE. WHEN WE DIDN'T NOTICE HIM AROUND HIS YARD FOR ALMOST A WEEK, WE THOUGHT WE OUGHT TO INVESTIGATE.

THE OLD FELLOW'S DEAD, ALL RIGHT, TRACY, BUT YOU CAN'T GET NEAR HIM. THAT DOG'S VICIOUS. HE PROBABLY KILLED THE OLD MAN.

SAM! HAVE YOU GOT ONE OF YOUR FAMOUS SANDWICHES IN YOUR POCKET?

YEAH-SALAMI ON MY WIFE'S HOMEMADE RYE BREAD.

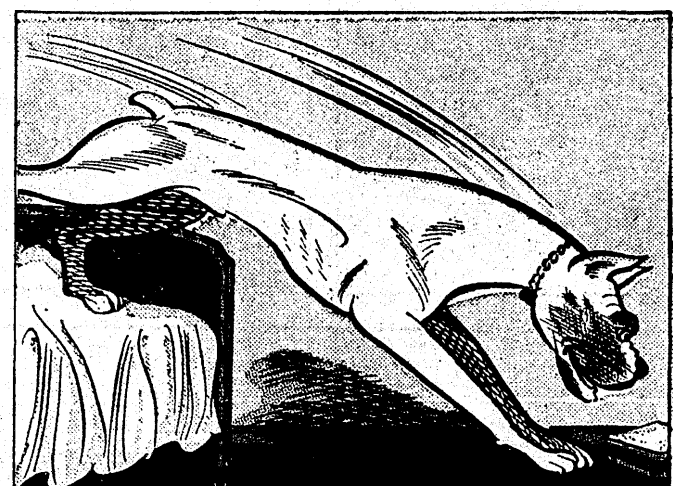

THE POOCH MUST HAVE BEEN WITHOUT FOOD FOR SEVERAL DAYS.

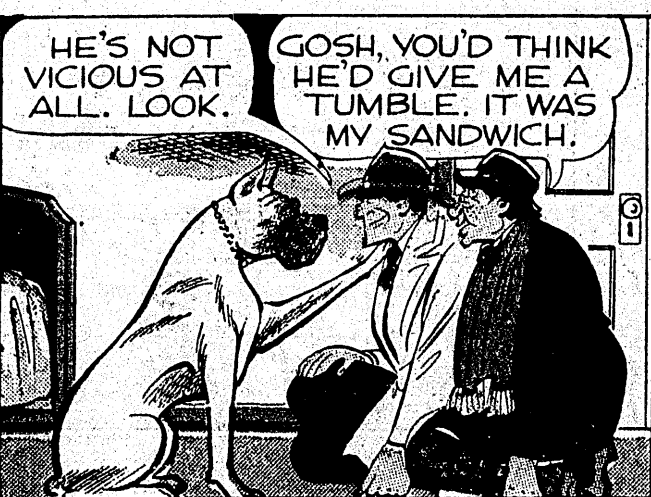

JUST THE SAME HE WON'T TAKE THIS SANDWICH FROM MY HAND.

I'LL TRY LEAVING IT ON THE FLOOR.

ONE GULP! THAT DOG'S STARVED!

HE'S NOT VICIOUS AT ALL. LOOK.

GOSH, YOU'D THINK HE'D GIVE ME A TUMBLE. IT WAS MY SANDWICH.

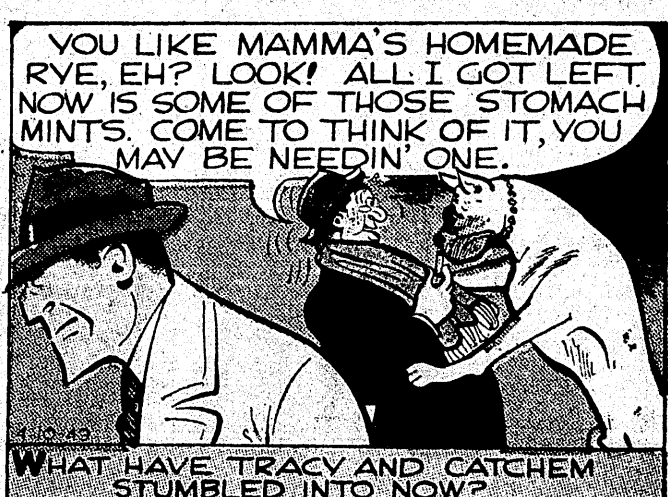

GUGUM—FGLUF—

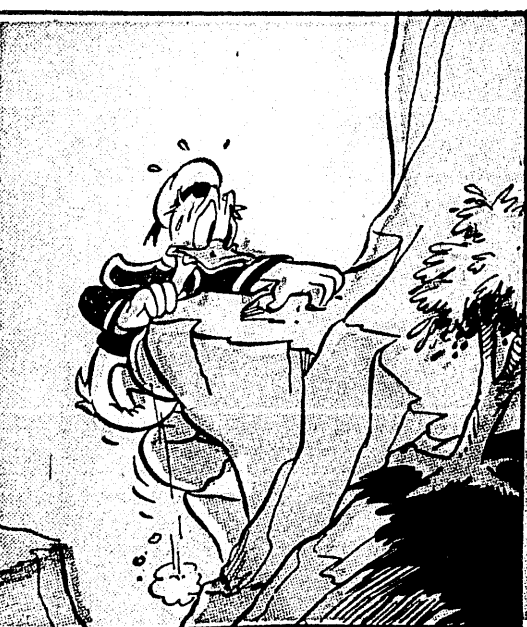

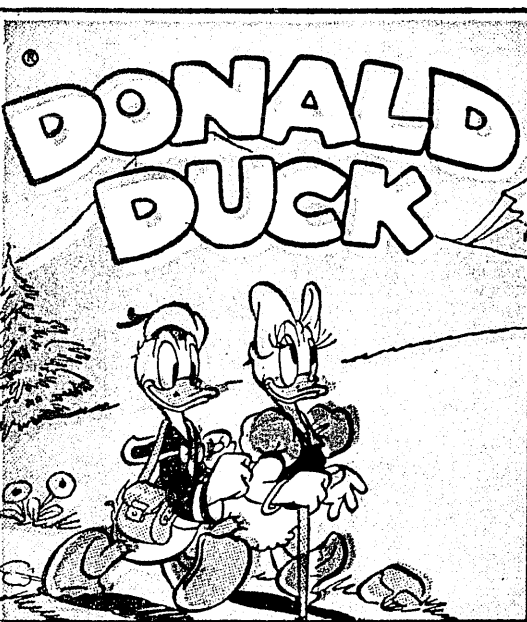

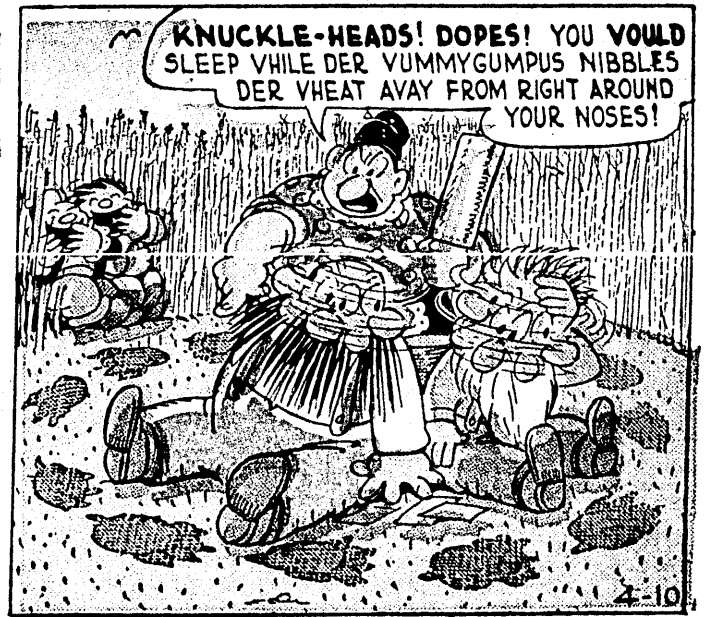

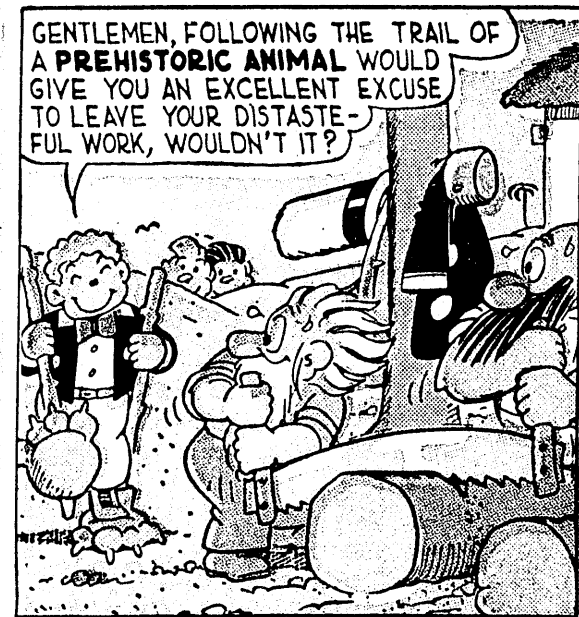

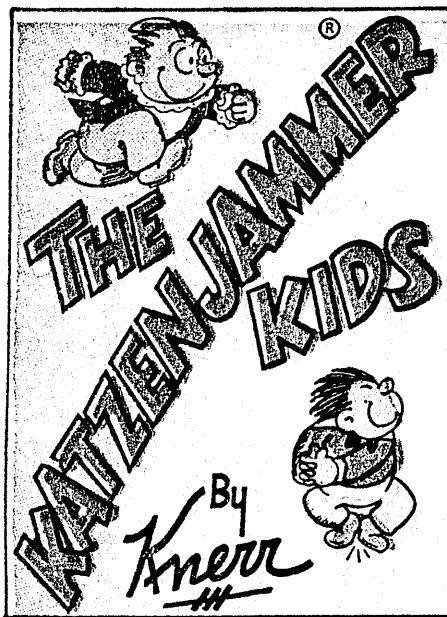

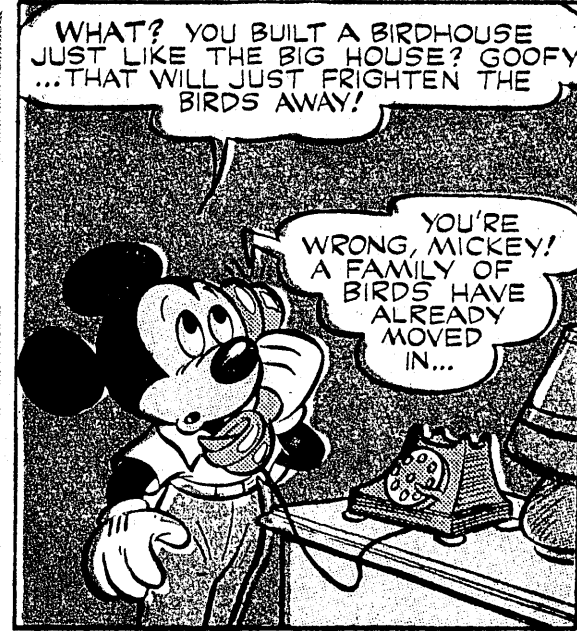

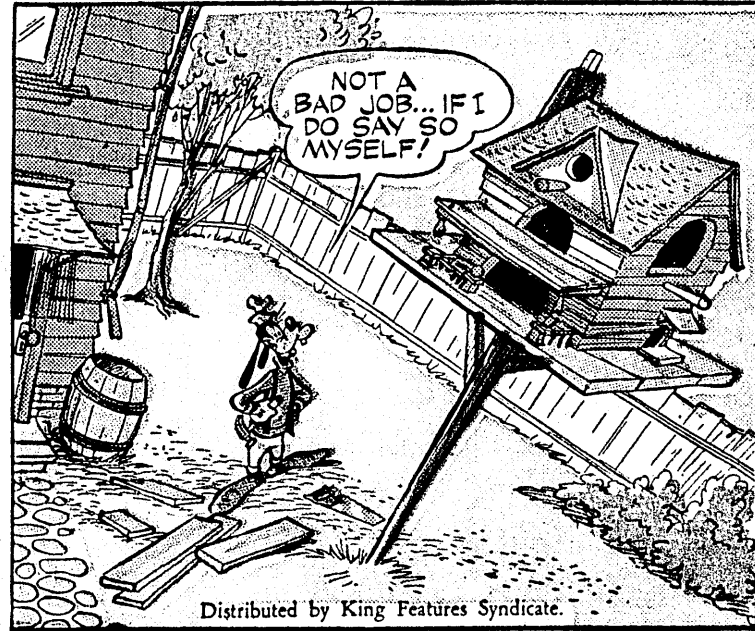

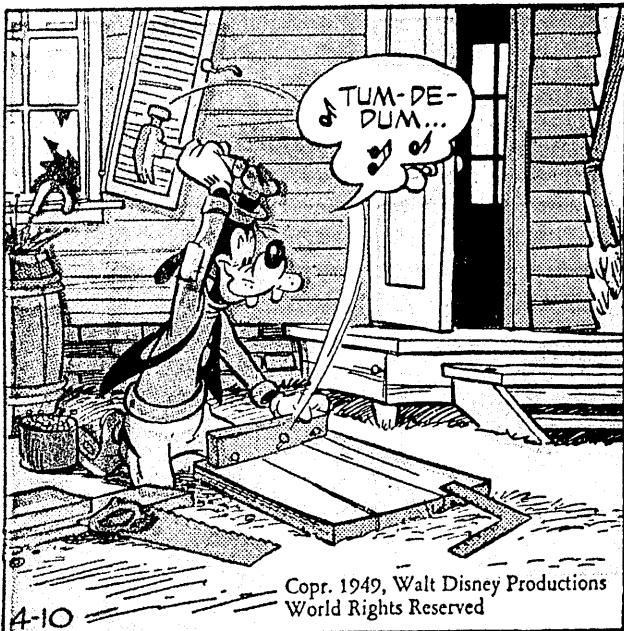

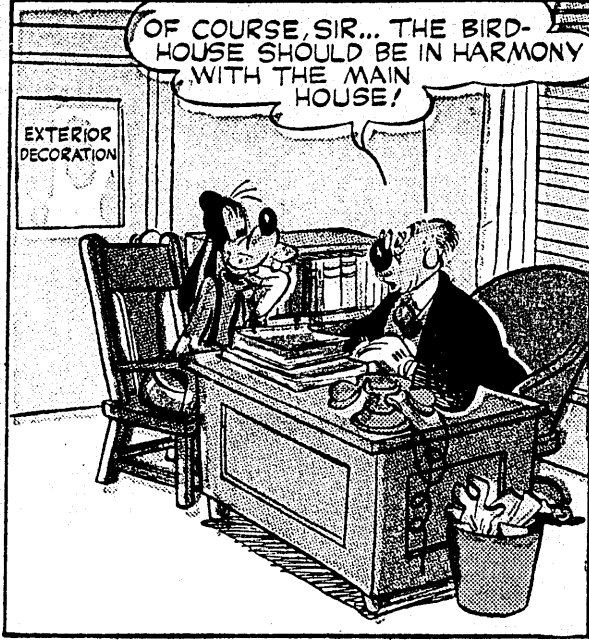

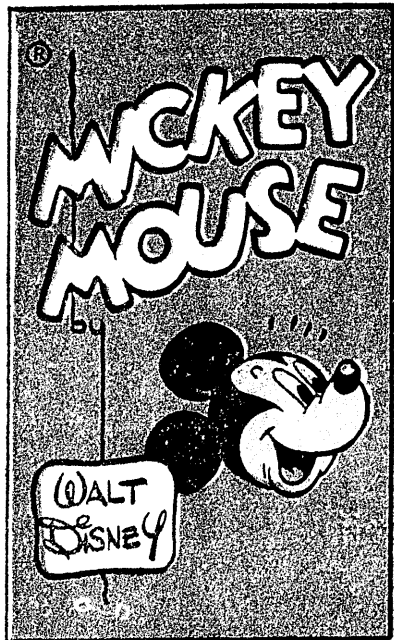

OKAY, BOY! NOW WE WANT TO LOOK AT YOUR MASTER.

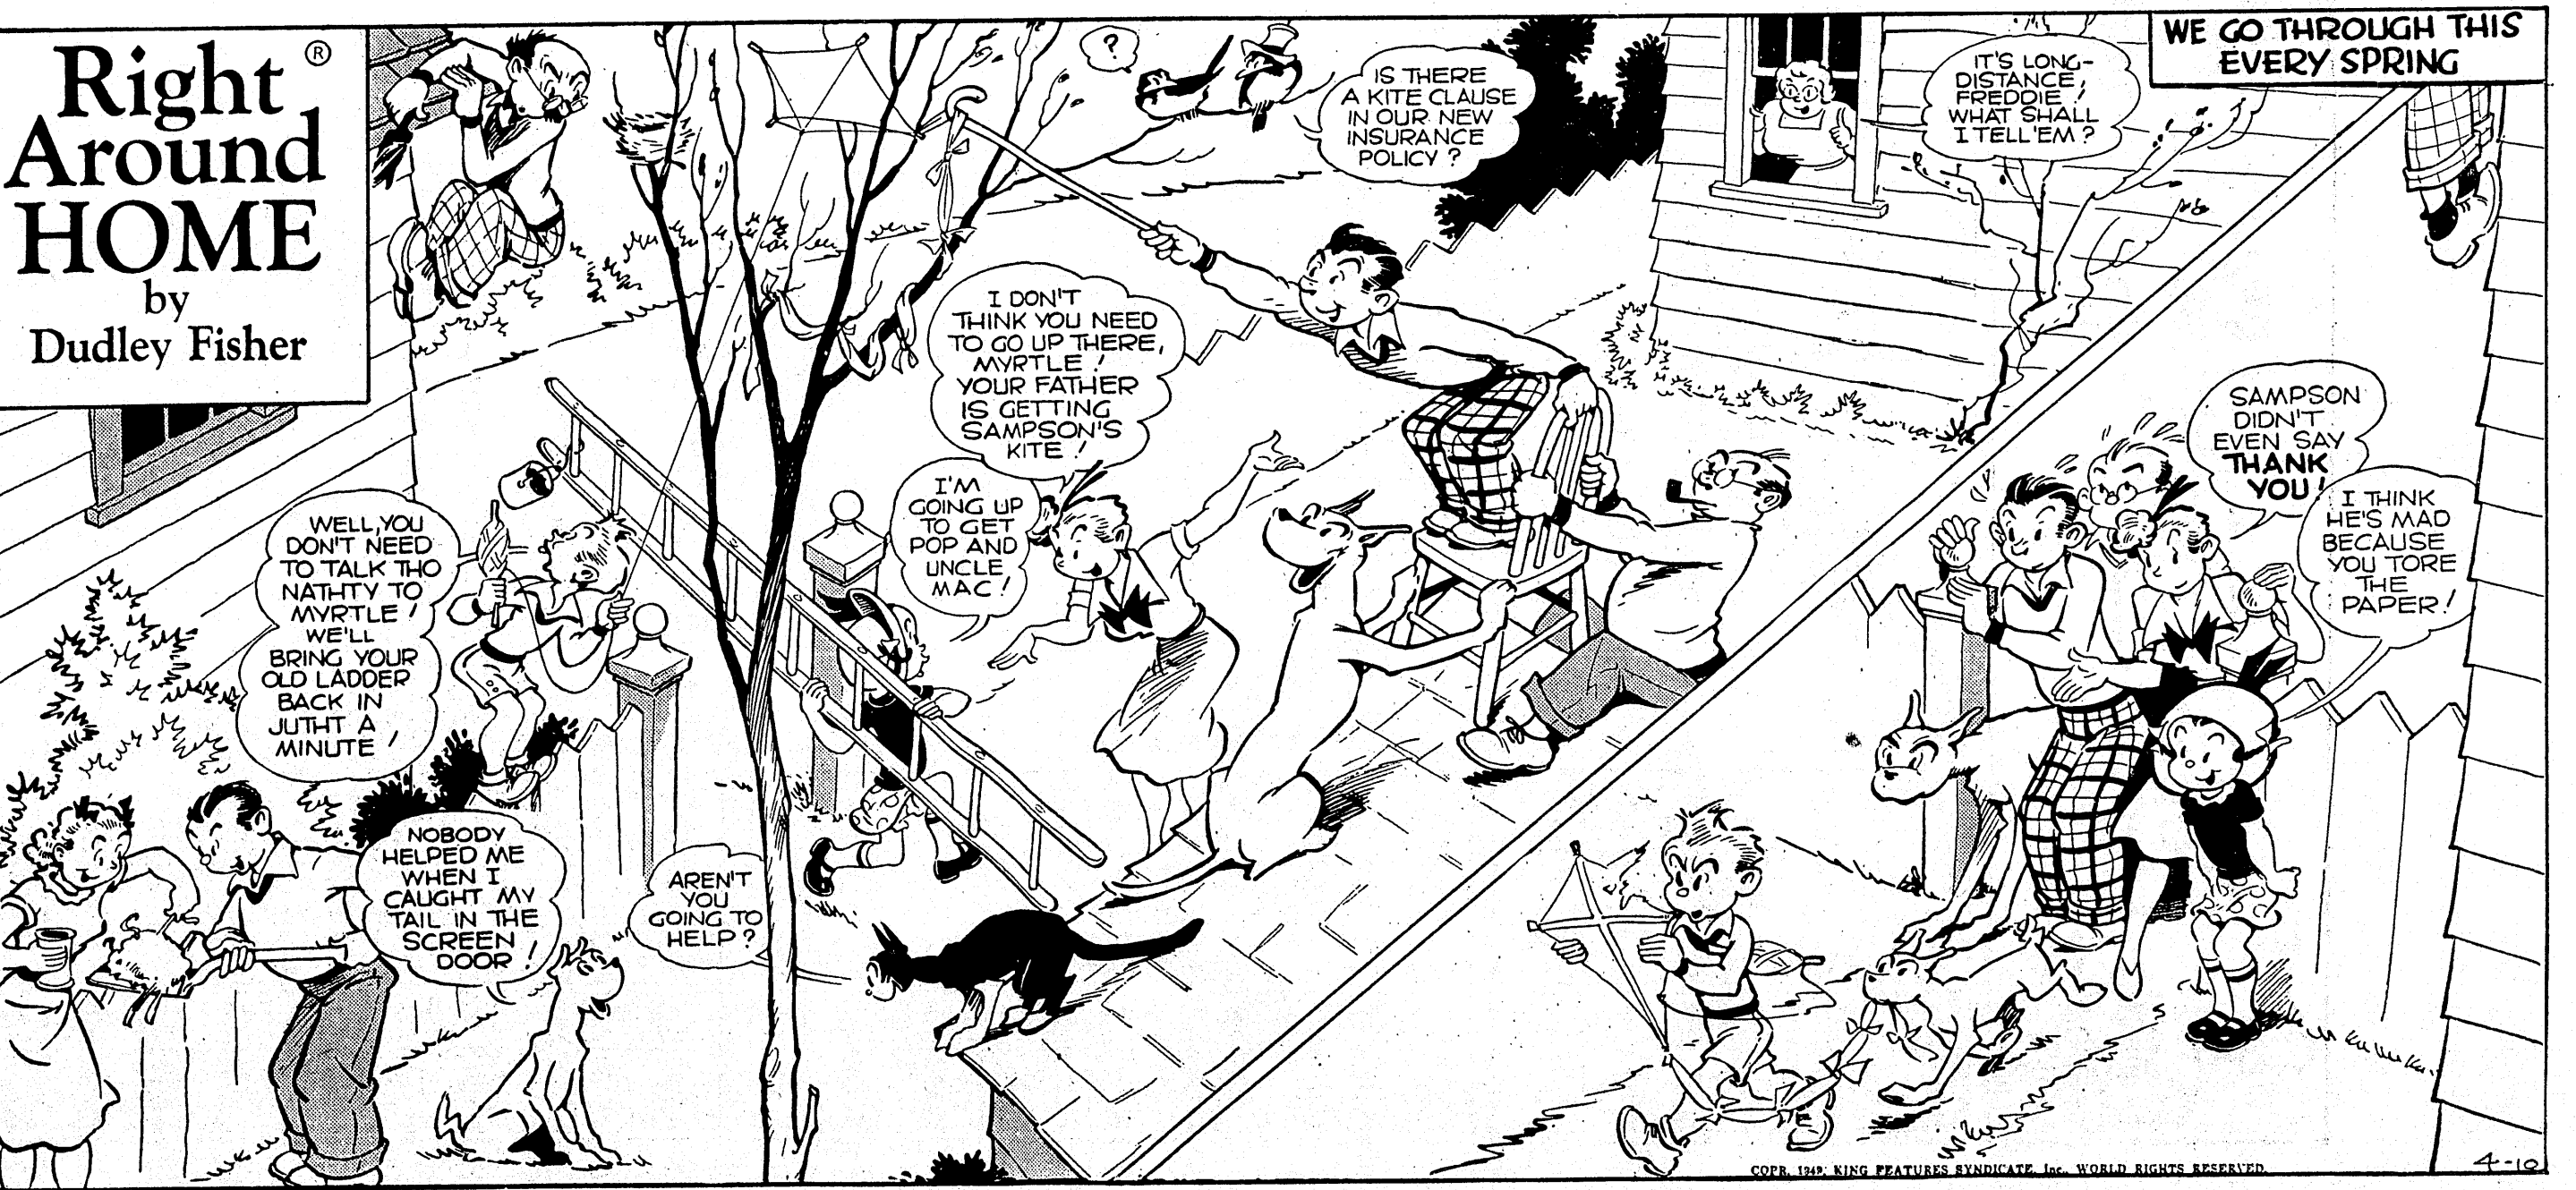

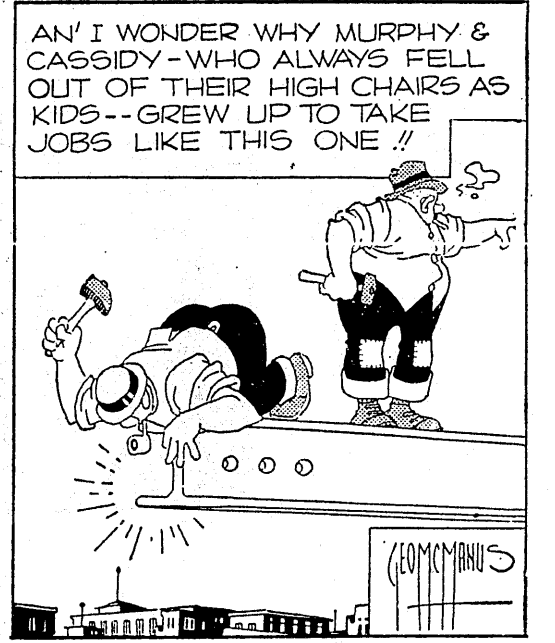

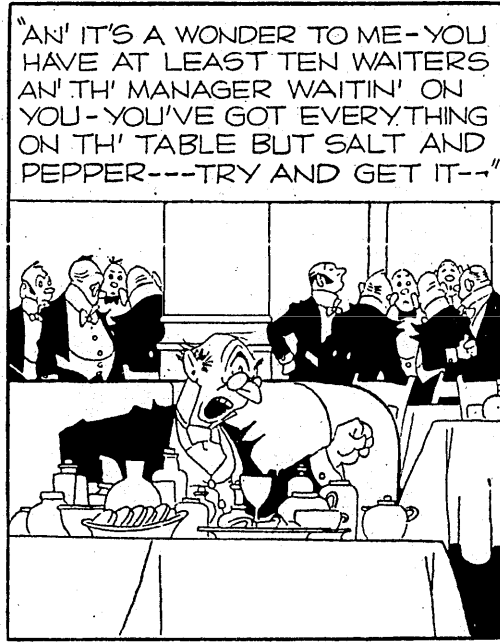

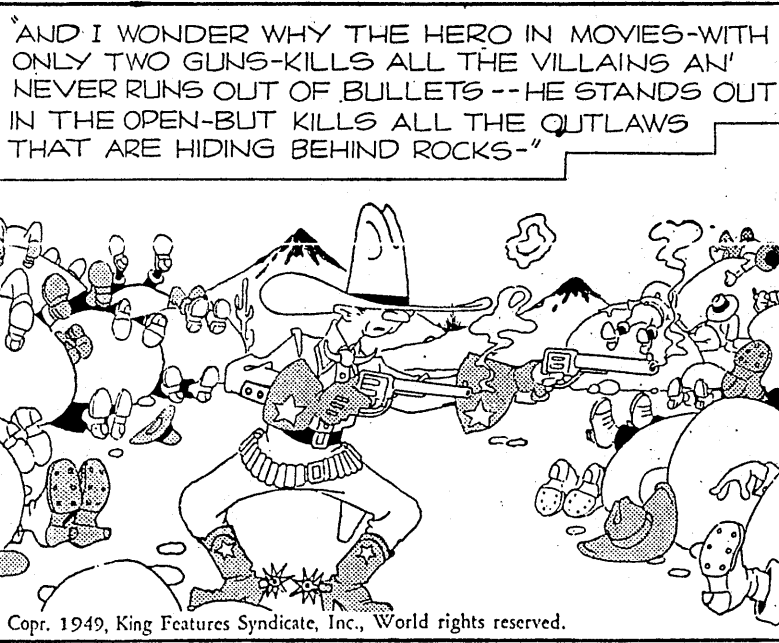

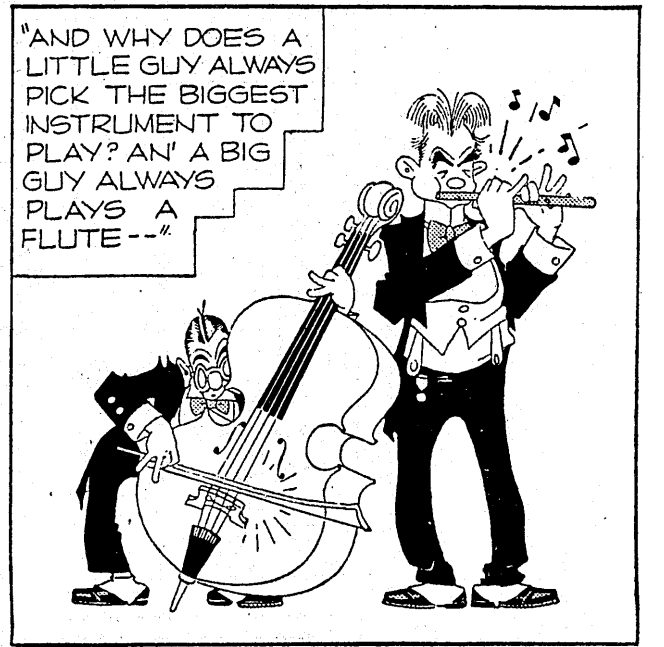

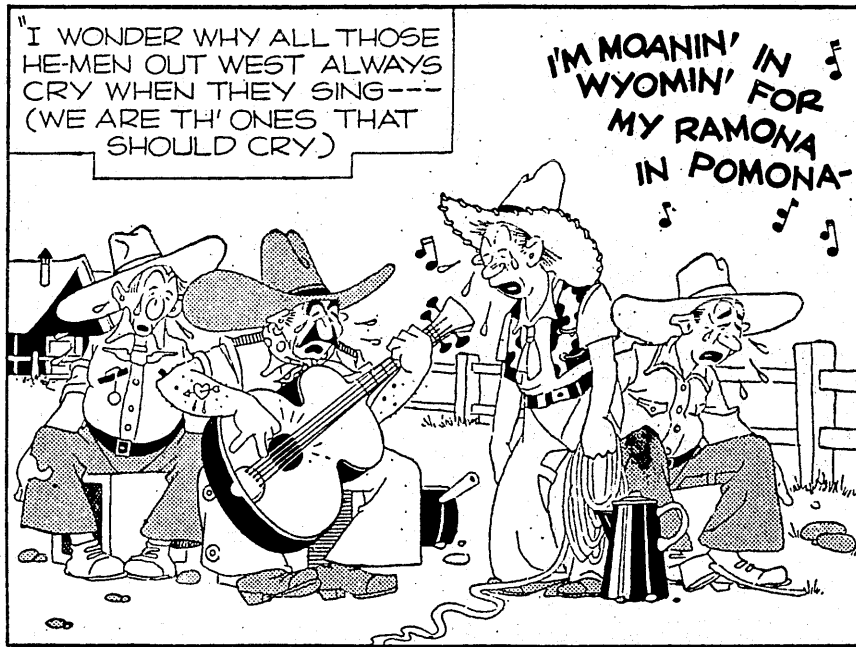

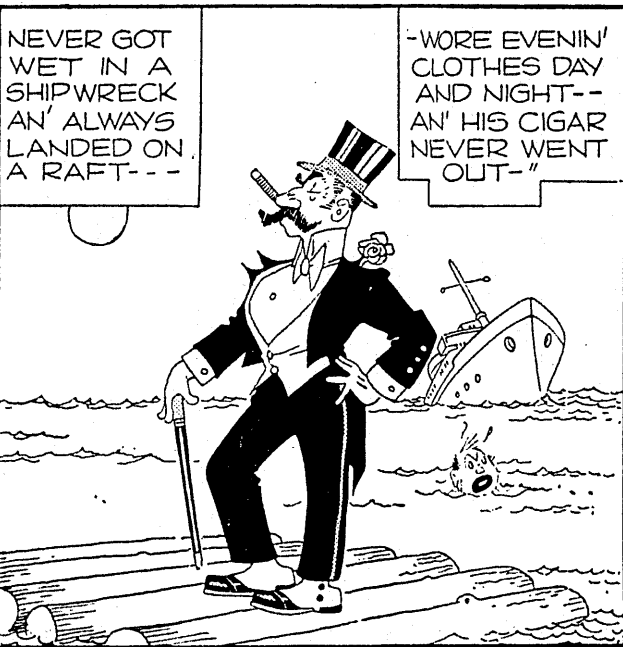

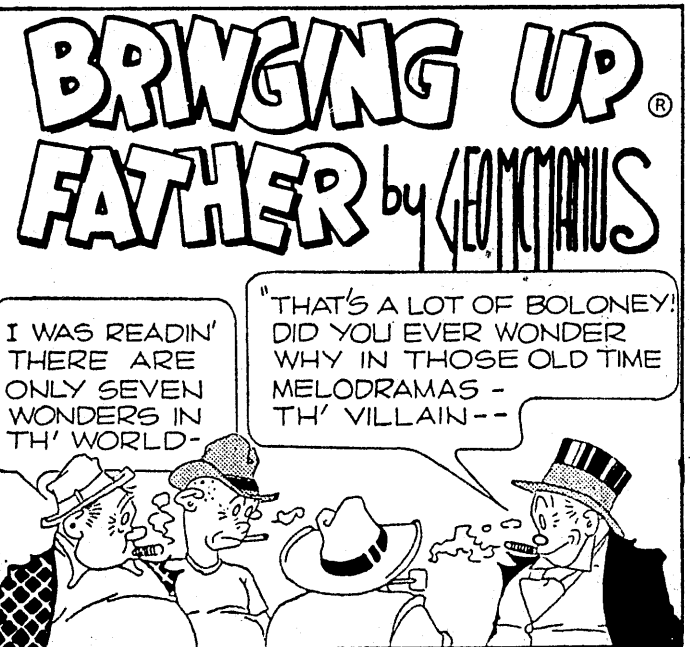

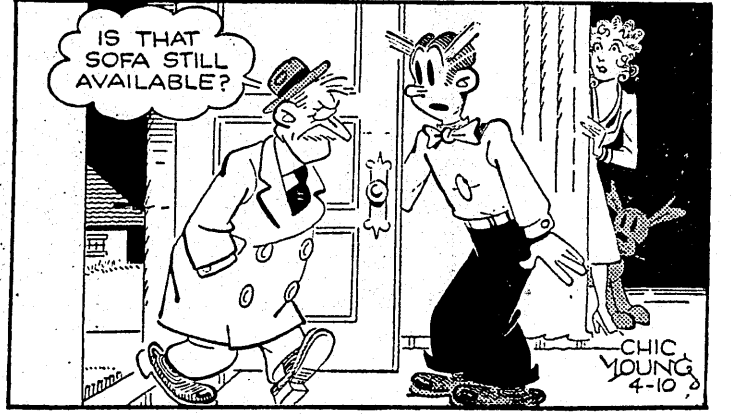

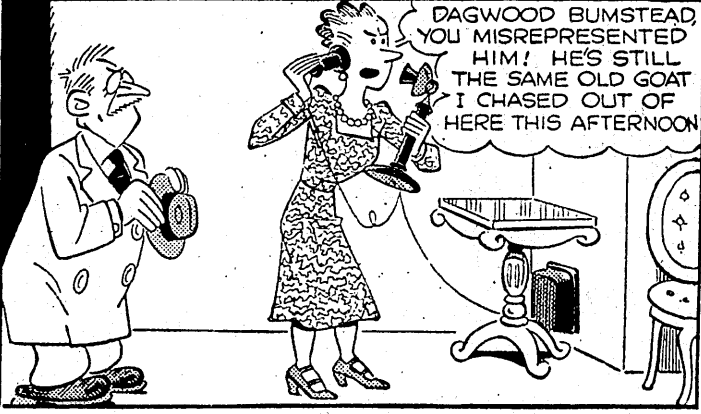

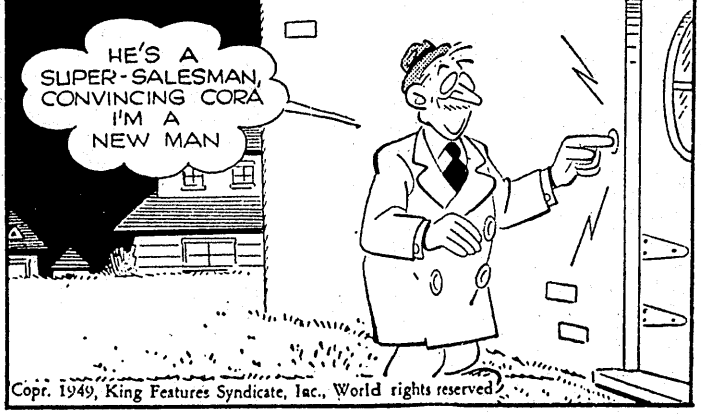

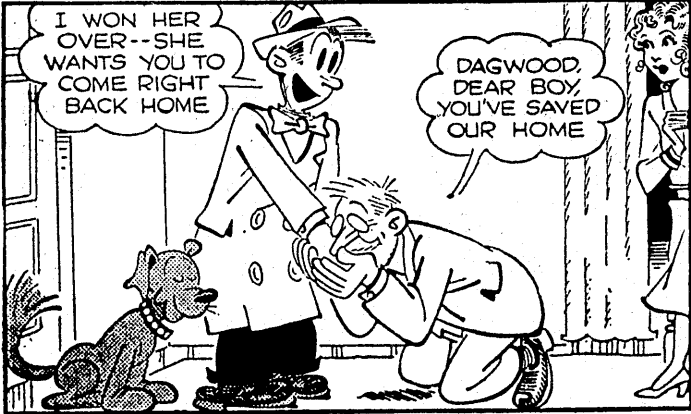

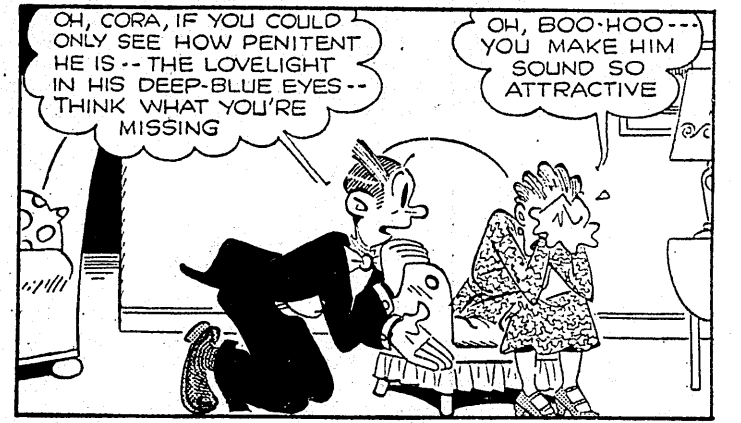

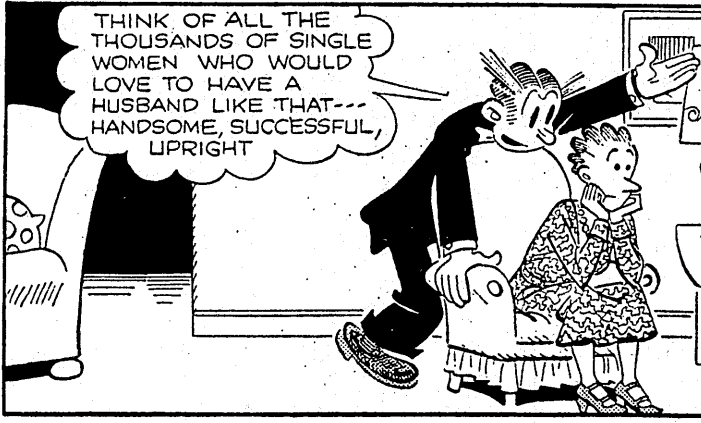

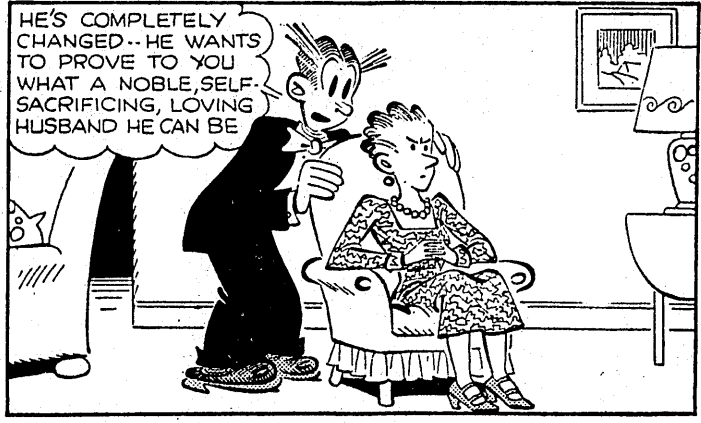

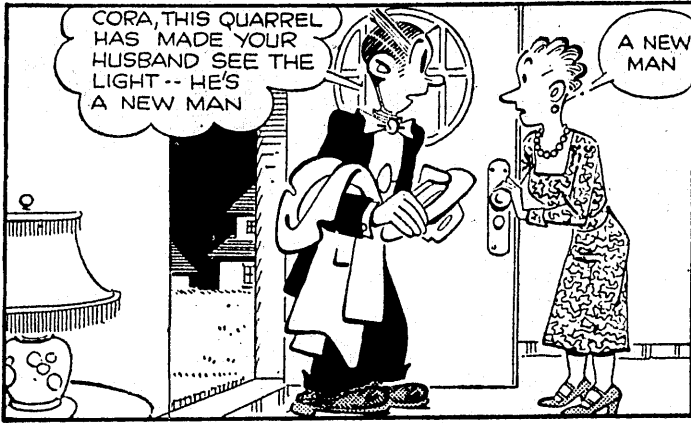

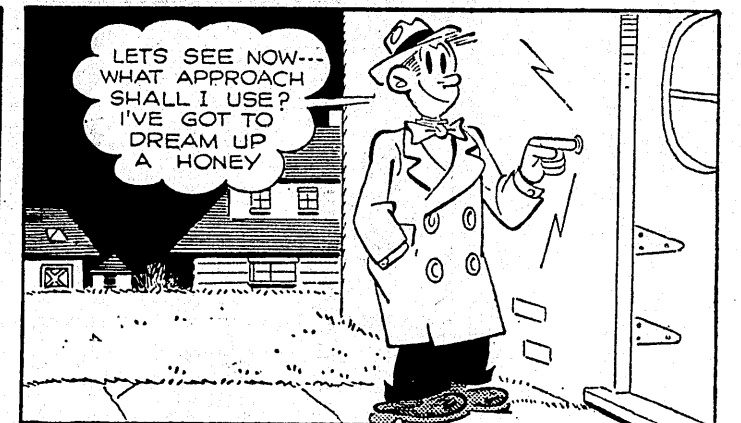

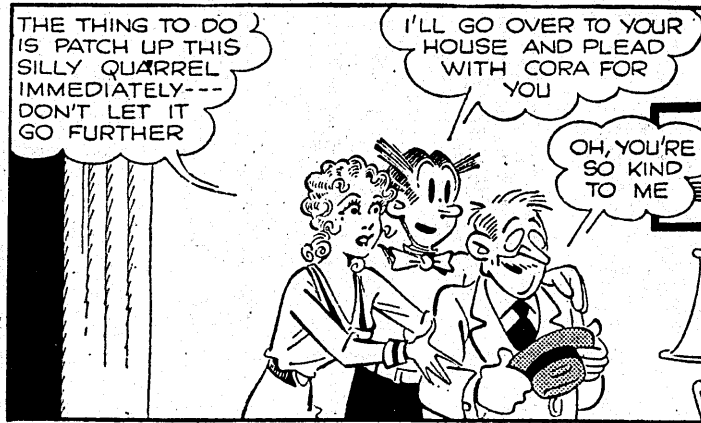

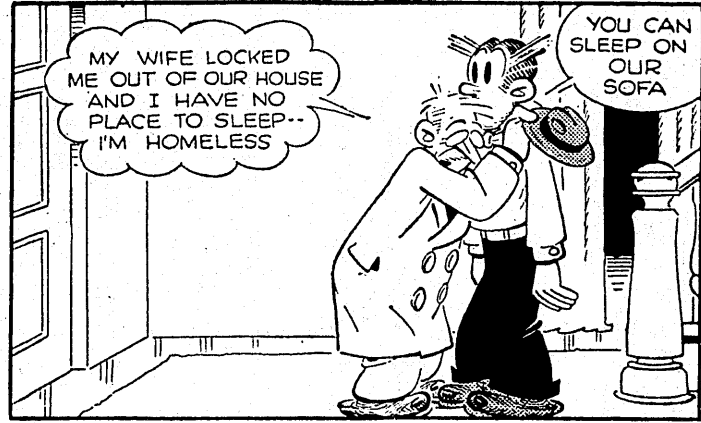

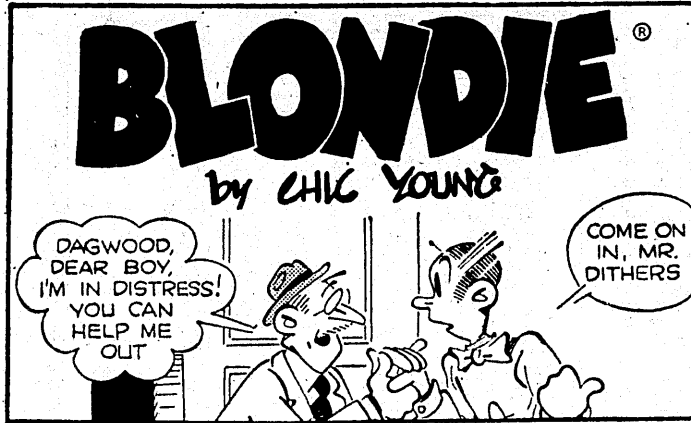

HEY! EASY, NOW!

YOU LIKE MAMMA'S HOMEMADE RYE, EH? LOOK! ALL I GOT LEFT NOW IS SOME OF THOSE STOMACH MINTS. COME TO THINK OF IT, YOU MAY BE NEEDIN' ONE.

WHAT HAVE TRACY AND CATCHEM STUMBLED INTO NOW?
